PART III NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail the reasons why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, 10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

Sealed Air Corporation (the "Company") files this notification of late filing regarding its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2004. The Company is postponing the filing of its Form 10-K to allow the Company and its independent auditor additional time required to complete the documentation and other work required for the assessment of internal control over financial reporting in accordance with the recently effective requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 and the rules thereunder. Therefore, the Company is unable to complete the preparation of its consolidated financial statements without unreasonable effort or expense.

As of the date of this filing, management of the Company has not identified, and does not expect to identify, any material weaknesses (as defined in the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board Auditing Standard No. 2) in its internal control over financial reporting.

The Company expects to file its complete Annual Report on Form 10-K, including the management report, attestation and audit of internal control over financial reporting required by Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and auditor's report, by March 31, 2005.

- (2) Have all other periodic reports required under Section 13 or 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 or Section 30 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 during the preceding 12 months or for such shorter period that the registrant was required to file such report(s) been filed?

If answer is no, identify report(s). Yes No

- (3) Is it anticipated that any significant change in results of operations from the corresponding period for the last fiscal year will be reflected by the earnings statements to be included in the subject report or portion thereof?
 Yes No

If so, attach an explanation of the anticipated change, both narratively and quantitatively, and, if appropriate, state the reasons why a reasonable estimate of the results cannot be made.

The Company's Consolidated Statements of Operations for 2004 and 2003 and a narrative description of the changes in its results from 2003 to 2004 are set forth below. The Company's results of operations for 2004 and 2003 set forth in these Statements have not changed from the results of operations the Company reported in its press release issued January 31, 2005.

As is required by Form 12b-25, these Statements set forth the anticipated changes in results of operations for the year ended December 31, 2004 from the year ended December 31, 2003 that will be reflected in the earnings statements to be included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2004. The Company expects that these Statements will not change when it files its Consolidated Statements of Operations in its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2004, although the Consolidated Statements of Operations to be included in the Annual Report on Form 10-K will be audited.

Net sales in 2004 increased 8% to $3,798.1 million compared with $3,531.9 million in 2003. The increase in net sales was primarily due to a $159.4 million favorable effect of foreign currency translation and an $89.4 million increase in unit volume. Excluding the positive effect of foreign currency translation, net sales would have increased 3% compared with 2003. The favorable foreign currency translation impact on net sales in 2004 was primarily due to the strengthening of foreign currencies in Europe and the Asia Pacific region against the U.S. dollar.

Gross profit as a percentage of net sales was 30.6% in 2004 and 31.5% in 2003. The decrease in 2004 compared with 2003 was due to petrochemical-related raw material cost increases and reduced sales volumes in the Company's North American food packaging business due to import restrictions on U.S. beef products.

Marketing, administrative and development expenses increased 9% in 2004 over 2003. The increase in 2004 was primarily due to the effects of foreign currency translation, expenses associated with the upgrade of the Company's information technology platform, and expenses to support the higher volume of net sales. Marketing, administrative and development expenses as a percentage of net sales were 16.5% in 2004 and 16.2% in 2003.

During the fourth quarter of 2004, the Company announced a series of separate profit improvement plans in various geographic regions in order to complement the Company's long-term growth programs and financial goals and to improve the Company's operating efficiencies and lower its overall cost structure. The Company incurred restructuring and other charges of $33.3 million in 2004 relating to these profit improvement plans. Of the $33.3 million charge, $21.9 million represented employee-related termination costs, and $11.4 million represented long-lived asset impairment consisting of write-downs and write-offs of property and equipment and facility exit costs.

On November 26, 2004, the Company used net cash of $211.8 million to redeem the entire outstanding aggregate principal amount, $177.5 million, of its 8.75% senior notes due July 1, 2008 and terminated interest rate swaps on the 8.75% senior notes having a total notional amount of $150.0 million. The Company completed the redemption, funded with available cash, at a premium to the face amount of the notes, which resulted in a loss of $29.6 million, which the Company is reflecting in the statement of operations as "Loss on debt redemption and repurchases." The annual interest expense on the redeemed notes was approximately $15.5 million, without giving effect to any interest rate swaps and the amortization of amounts related to the senior notes.

In November and December 2004, the Company used available cash of $25.2 million to repurchase in the open market $22.7 million face amount of its 6.95% senior notes due May 2009, which included accrued interest and related fees. Since the Company completed these repurchases at a premium to the face amount of the notes, it incurred a loss of $2.6 million, which the Company is reflecting in the statement of operations as "Loss on debt redemption and repurchases."

Interest expense (which includes the effects of interest rate swaps and the amortization of capitalized senior debt issuance costs, bond discount and terminated treasury locks) was $153.7 million in 2004 and $136.0 million in 2003. The increase in interest expense in 2004 compared with 2003 was primarily due to an increase of $37.2 million of interest expense in 2004 due to the Company's issuance of approximately $300.0 million of senior notes in April 2003 and $1.3 billion of senior notes and convertible senior notes in July 2003, partially offset by a decrease of $16.4 million of interest expense due to the repurchase of $172.5 million face amount of senior notes in the fourth quarter of 2003 and the senior note redemption and repurchases completed in the fourth quarter of 2004.

During 2004, the Emerging Issues Task Force reached a consensus on EITF Issue No. 04-08, which was effective for reporting periods ending after December 15, 2004. EITF Issue No. 04-08 requires that the dilutive effect of contingent convertible debt, such as the Company's 3% convertible senior notes due June 2033, which were issued in July 2003, be included in dilutive earnings per common share regardless of whether the contingency permitting holders to convert the debt into shares of common stock had been satisfied. EITF Issue No. 04-08 is applicable retroactively and requires restatement of prior periods during which the contingent convertible debt instrument was outstanding. As a result, the 2004 and 2003 diluted earnings per common share calculations include 6.2 million additional shares of common stock and exclude the associated interest expense on the contingent convertible debt, net of income tax.
