Reliant Energy Announces Comprehensive Refinancing Program

HOUSTON Reliant Energy, Inc. today announced a comprehensive refinancing program that, upon completion, will result in reduced interest expense and lower debt levels in addition to a significant improvement in the company's ability to reinvest in the business and return cash to shareholders through dividends and share repurchases.

A key element of our new strategy is having the flexibility to direct free cash flow and additional capital to the alternatives that create the highest value for shareholders, said Mark Jacobs, Reliant Energy, chief executive officer. This plan was developed to achieve a capital structure that supports that strategy.

As part of the initial phase of this program, today the company launched a tender offer and consent solicitation for its 9.25 percent and 9.50 percent senior secured notes totaling $1.1 billion. In the near future, the company expects to issue $1.25 billion of senior unsecured notes with 7- and 10-year maturities to fund the tender offer and consent solicitation and retire a portion of its $400 million term loan. Cash on hand will be used to retire the remainder of the term loan. In addition, the company plans to replace its existing revolving credit facility and pre-funded letter of credit facilities with a new $500 million revolving credit facility and $250 million pre-funded letter of credit facility. The company expects to close these transactions in June 2007, subject to market conditions.

In the second phase of the program, the company will address restrictions remaining in $750 million of its 6.75 percent senior secured notes and $500 million of tax-exempt bonds. The company is evaluating various alternatives, including the retirement or defeasance of some or all of this debt with proceeds from potential asset sales.

The company has filed a registration statement (including a prospectus) with the SEC for the offering to which this communication relates.
