Our actual results could differ materially from those anticipated by our forward-looking statements as a result of the risk factors below. See "Forward-Looking Statements."

Risks Related to Our Business

The Company's limited operating history makes evaluating its business and prospects difficult.

The Company has been involved in the LED based business since July 2001, but has only recently begun to direct all of its efforts to commercialization of the OnScreen™ technology. The Company's limited operating history in this industry and the unproven nature of the OnScreen™ technology makes evaluation of its future prospects very difficult. To date the Company has not achieved profitability and the Company cannot be certain that it will sustain profitability on a quarterly or annual basis in the future. One should carefully consider the Company's prospects in light of the risks and difficulties frequently encountered by early stage companies in new and rapidly evolving technology.

The Company has all the risks of a new product developer in the LED technology business.

The Company, as the owner of the OnScreen™ LED sign technology patents, assumed the responsibility for completing the development of the OnScreen™ technology and determining which products to commercialize utilizing the OnScreen™ technology. Because this is a new and unproven technology, there is a risk that the technology, operation and development of products could be unsuccessful or that the Company will not be successful in marketing any products developed with the OnScreen™ technology. Such failures would negatively affect the Company's business, financial condition and results of operations.

There is no assurance the Company will achieve profitability.

To date the Company has not received significant revenue from the OnScreen™ technology. The Company has focused its scope of operation to the singular product line of the OnScreen™ LED sign technology. For the year ended December 31, 2006 the Company had a net loss of $14,481,333. The Company will need to begin generating significant revenues from the OnScreen™ LED architecture product line to offset current operational and development losses if the Company is to cover its current overhead expenses, including further development costs and marketing expenses. There is no assurance that the Company will achieve profitability.

During 2005 and 2006, the Company funded its operations with net proceeds of approximately $15.7 million it received from financing activities. The Company believes that equity financing or debt will be available to fund its operations until revenue streams are sufficient to fund operations; however, the terms and timing of such equity or debt cannot be predicted. The Living Window™ product line was commercialized during 2005 and the RediAlert™ product line was commercialized the late first half of 2006. The Company cannot assure that it will generate revenues by that date or that its revenues will be sufficient to cover all operating and other expenses of the Company. If revenues are not sufficient to cover all operating and other expenses, the Company will require additional funding.

The Company will be dependent on third parties and certain relationships to fulfill its obligations.

Because the Company has contracted the manufacturing of the OnScreen™ LED technology to unrelated companies that are better equipped financially and technologically to design and manufacture OnScreen™ LED technology end products, the Company is heavily dependent on these third parties to adequately and promptly provide the end product. The Company is dependent upon its ability to maintain the agreements with these designers and manufacturers and other providers of raw materials and components who provide the necessary elements to fulfill the Company's product delivery obligations at the negotiated prices.

The Company's primary marketing focus for RediAlert™ is on government agencies.

The Company's primary marketing focus for its RediAlert™ product line is to sell to government agencies, such as departments of transportation, police departments and other emergency personnel. Generally, the inspection, approval process and funding involved with government agencies can take many months and are subject to cancellation by the governmental agency at any time and without penalty. The Company's business could suffer if the Company is not successful in marketing its RediAlert™ product line to a significant number of governmental agencies or if contracts the Company may enter into with any such agencies were to be cancelled.

The market for LED signage is extremely competitive.

Because the LED signage industry is highly competitive, the Company cannot assure that it will be able to compete effectively. The Company is aware of several other companies that offer LED products, utilizing different technology than its OnScreen™ LED technology. All of these competitors have been in business longer than the Company has and have significantly greater assets and financial resources than are currently available to the Company. The Company expects competition to intensify as innovation in the LED industry advances and as current competitors expand their market into the portable, lightweight signage that is the initial market for the LED architecture. The Company cannot assure you that it will be able to compete successfully against current or future competitors. Competitive pressures could force the Company to reduce its prices and may make it more difficult for the Company to attract and retain customers.

The Company depends on key personnel and will need to recruit new personnel as its business grows.

As a small company OnScreen™ is currently dependent on the efforts of a limited number of management personnel. The Company believes that given the large amount of responsibility being placed on each member of its management team, the loss of the services of any member of this team at the present time would harm its business.

If the Company is successful in expanding its product and customer base, the Company will need to add additional key personnel as its business continues to grow. If the Company cannot attract and retain enough qualified and skilled staff, the growth of its business may be limited. The Company's ability to provide services to customers and expand its business depends, in part, on its ability to attract and retain staff with professional experiences that are relevant to technology development and other functions the Company perform. Competition for personnel with these skills is intense. The Company may not be able to recruit or retain the caliber of staff required to carry out essential functions at the pace necessary to sustain or expand its business.

The Company believes its future success will depend in part on the following:

- the continued employment and performance of its senior management,
- its ability to retain and motivate their officers and key employees, and
- its ability to identify, attract, hire, train, retain, and motivate other highly skilled technical, managerial, marketing, sales and customer service personnel.

If the Company fails to adequately protect its patents, trademarks and proprietary rights, its business could be harmed.

The Company regards its patents, trademarks, trade secrets and similar intellectual property as critical to their success. The Company relies on trademark and patent law, trade secret protection and confidentiality or license agreements with their employees, customers, partners and others to protect its proprietary rights. Despite these precautions, it may be possible for a third party to copy or otherwise obtain and use the Company's intellectual property without its authorization. Although the Company has been granted registration rights for its OnScreen™ trademark, there is no assurance its pending trademark applications for RediAlert, RediAd, Living Window, Rapid Dispatch Emergency Signs or RediDMS will be approved. Effective trademark, patent and trade secret protection may not be available in every country in which the Company may in the future offer its products. Therefore, the Company may be unable to prevent third parties from infringement on or otherwise decreasing the value of its trademarks, patents and other proprietary rights.

If the Company is to remain competitive, the Company must be able to keep pace with rapid technological change.

The Company's future success depends, in part, on its ability to develop or license leading technologies useful in its business, enhance the ease of use of existing products, develop new products and technologies that address the varied needs of their customers, and respond to technological advances and emerging industry standards and practices on a cost-effective and timely basis. If the Company is unable, for technical, legal, financial or other reasons, to incorporate new technology in new features or products, the Company may not be able to adapt in a timely manner to changing market conditions or customer requirements.

The Company may infringe intellectual property rights of third parties.

Litigation regarding intellectual property rights is common in the software and technology industries. The Company may, in the future, be the subject of claims for infringement, invalidity or indemnification claims based on such claims of other parties' proprietary rights. These claims, whether with or without merit, could be time consuming and costly to defend or litigate, divert the Company's attention and resources, or require the Company to enter into royalty or licensing agreements. There is a risk that such licenses would not be available on reasonable terms, or at all. Although the Company believes it has full rights to use its current intellectual property without incurring liability to third parties, there is a risk that its products infringe the intellectual property rights of third parties.

Third parties may infringe on the Company's intellectual property rights

There can be no assurance that other parties will not claim infringement by the Company with respect to its current or future technologies. The Company expects that participants in its markets will be increasingly subject to infringement claims as the number of services and competitors in its industry segment grows. Any such claim, with or without merit, could be time-consuming, result in costly litigation, create service upgrade delays or require the Company to enter into royalty or licensing agreements. Such royalty or licensing agreements might not be available on terms acceptable to the Company, or at all. As a result, any such claim of infringement against the Company could have a material adverse effect upon its business, results of operations and financial condition.

Risks Related to Our Common Stock

The Company's Common Stock price may be volatile, which could result in substantial losses for individual stockholders.

The market price for the Company's Common Stock is volatile and subject to wide fluctuations in response to factors, including the following, some of which are beyond its control, which means its market price could be depressed and could impair its ability to raise capital:

- actual or anticipated variations in its quarterly operating results;
- announcements of technological innovations or new products or services by the Company or its competitors;
- changes in financial estimates by securities analysts;
- conditions or trends relating to the LED and thermal cooling industries;
- changes in the economic performance and/or market valuations of other LED related companies;
- additions or departures of key personnel;
- fluctuations of the stock market as a whole.

The Company's Certificate of Incorporation limits director liability, thereby making it difficult to bring any action against them for breach of fiduciary duty.

As permitted by Colorado law, the Company's Articles of Incorporation limits the liability of directors to the Company or its stockholders for monetary damages for breach of a director's fiduciary duty, with certain exceptions. These provisions may discourage shareholders from bringing suit against a director for breach of fiduciary duty and may reduce the likelihood of derivative litigation brought by shareholders on behalf of the Company against a director.

The Company may be unable to meet its future capital requirements.

The Company is substantially dependent on receipt of additional capital to effectively execute its business plan. If adequate funds are not available to the Company on favorable terms the Company will not be able to develop new products or enhance existing products in response to competitive pressures, which would affect its ability to continue as a going concern. The Company cannot be certain that additional financing will be available to it on favorable terms when required, or at all. If the Company raises additional funds through the issuance of equity, equity-related or debt securities, such securities may have rights, preferences or privileges senior to those of the rights of its common stock and its stockholders may experience additional dilution.

Penny stock regulations may impose certain restrictions on marketability of our stock.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission") has adopted regulations which generally define a "penny stock" to be any equity security that has a market price (as defined) of less than $5.00 per share or an exercise price of less than $5.00 per share, subject to certain exceptions. As a result, the Company's Common Stock is subject to rules that impose additional sales practice requirements on broker-dealers who sell such securities to persons other than established customers and accredited investors (generally those with assets in excess of $1,000,000 or annual income exceeding $200,000, or $300,000 together with their spouse). For transactions covered by these rules, the broker-dealer must make a special suitability determination for the purchase of such securities and have received the purchaser's written consent to the transaction prior to the purchase. Additionally, for any transaction involving a penny stock, unless exempt, the rules require the delivery, prior to the transaction, of a risk disclosure document mandated by the Commission relating to the penny stock market. The broker-dealer must also disclose the commission payable to both the broker-dealer and the registered representative, current quotations for the securities and, if the broker-dealer is the sole market maker, the broker-dealer must disclose this fact and the broker-dealer's presumed control over the market. Finally, monthly statements must be sent disclosing recent price information for the penny stock held in the account and information on the limited market in penny stocks. Consequently, the "penny stock" rules may restrict the ability of broker-dealers to sell our securities.

For the foreseeable future, the Company's securities will likely have a trading price of less than $5.00 per share and will not be traded on any exchanges; therefore, we will be subject to Penny Stock Rules. As a result of the aforesaid rules regulating penny stocks, the market liquidity for our securities could be severely adversely affected by limiting the ability of broker-dealers to sell our securities and the ability of shareholders sell their securities in the secondary market.

The Company has never paid dividends on its Common Stock and does not expect to pay any in the foreseeable future. Preferred Shares impose restrictions on our ability to pay Common Stock dividends.

A potential purchaser should not expect to receive a return on their investment in the form of dividends on our Common Stock. The Company has never paid cash dividends on its Common Stock and the Company does not expect to pay dividends in the foreseeable future. Our ability to pay dividends on our Common Stock is restricted by the terms of our agreements with the holders of our Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock. Holders of our Series A Convertible Preferred Stock are entitled to annual dividends of 10%. As of May 10, 2007, the Company has 75,543 Series A convertible Preferred shares outstanding. In the past, the Company has fulfilled its dividend obligations on the Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock through a combination of the issuance of additional shares of its Series A Convertible Preferred Stock and cash payments.

On December 31, 2005 dividends payable for the Series A Convertible Preferred Stock was $144,956 and on December 31, 2006 dividends payable for the Series A Convertible Preferred Stock was $27,353. Holders of the Company's Series B Convertible Preferred Stock are entitled to annual dividends of $1.00 per share. As of this filing, all Series B Convertible Preferred Stock had been converted to common shares.

Substantial sales of our Common Stock could cause our stock price to rapidly decline.

The market price of our Common Stock may fall rapidly and significantly due to sales of our Common Stock from other sources such as:

- Common Stock underlying the conversion rights of our Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock.
- Common Stock underlying the exercise of outstanding options and warrants.
- Common Stock, which are available for resale under Rule 144 or are otherwise freely tradable and which are not subject to lock-up restrictions.
- Common Stock being offered by the Selling Stockholders pursuant to this Prospectus.

Any sale of substantial amounts of our Common Stock in the public market, or the perception that these sales might occur, whether as a result of the sale of Common Stock received by shareholders upon conversion of our Series A or Series B Convertible Preferred Stock, exercise of outstanding warrants or options or otherwise, could lower the market price of our Common Stock. Furthermore, substantial sales of our Common Stock in a relatively short period of time could have the effect of depressing the market price of our Common Stock and could impair our ability to raise capital through the sale of additional equity securities.

The covenants with our Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock shareholders restrict our ability to incur debt outside the normal course, acquire other businesses, pay dividends on our Common Stock, sell assets or issue our securities without the consent of holders of a majority of the Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock outstanding. Such arrangements may adversely affect our future operations or may require us to make additional concessions to the holders of the Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock in order to enter into transactions or take actions management deems beneficial and in the best interests of the holders of our Common Stock.

Note conversions could result in dilution of common stock

The conversion of outstanding promissory notes may result in substantial dilution to the interests of other holders of common stock, since the investors may ultimately convert and sell the full amount issuable on conversion under the notes. To the extent the selling stockholders convert their notes and then sell their common stock into the market, the common stock price may decrease due to the additional shares in the market. As of March 31, 2007, the $1,700,000 principal of outstanding promissory notes and 12% per annum simple interest accruing thereon are convertible at a floating per share price based on a substantial discount to the then-prevailing market price. This could allow the selling stockholders to convert their convertible notes into common stock, the sales of which would further depress the stock price. There is, however, a $0.20 per share minimum limit on the conversion price, which means that there is a limit on the number of shares that the company may be obligated to issue.

Downward pressure on the stock price could encourage short selling

The significant downward pressure on the price of the common stock as the selling stockholders convert and sell material amounts of common stock could encourage short sales by the selling stockholders or others. This could place significant downward pressure on the price of the common stock.

In finance, short selling or "shorting" is a way to profit from the decline in price of a security, such as stock or bond. A short sale is generally a sale of a stock you do not own. Investors who sell short believe the price of the stock will fall. If the price drops, you can buy the stock at the lower price and make a profit. If the price of the stock rises and you buy it back later at the higher price, you will incur a loss.

When you sell short, your brokerage firm loans you the stock. The stock you borrow comes from either the firm's own inventory, the margin account of another of the firm's clients or another brokerage firm. As with buying stock on margin, you are subject to the margin rules. Other fees and charges may apply. If the stock you borrow pays a dividend, you must pay the dividend to the person or firm making the loan.

SPECIAL NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Prospectus contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such forward-looking statements include statements regarding, among others, (a) our expectations about product development activities, (b) our growth strategies, (c) operating performance, (d) anticipated trends in our industry and competition, (e) our future financing plans, and (f) our anticipated needs for working capital. Forward-looking statements, which involve assumptions and describe our future plans, strategies, and expectations, are not guarantees of future performance, and generally are identifiable by use of the words "may," "will," "should," "expect," "anticipate," "approximate," "estimate," "believe," "intend," "strategy," "plan," or "project," or the negative of these words or other variations on these words or comparable terminology. This information may involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties, and other factors that may cause our actual results, performance, or achievements to be materially different from the future results, performance, or achievements expressed or implied by any forward-looking statements. These statements may be found in this Prospectus. USE OF PROCEEDS

We will not receive any proceeds from the sale of shares by the Selling Stockholders. However, we will receive proceeds of up to $2.7 million from the exercise of warrants to purchase up to 16.4 million of the shares registered hereby if the Selling Stockholders chose to exercise those warrants. These proceeds, if any, will be used for working capital purposes or any other Company purpose approved by the Board of Directors.

POTENTIAL DILUTION DUE TO CONVERSION AT BELOW MARKET PRICE

The net tangible book value of the Company as of March 31, 2007 was $241,183 or $0.002 per share of Common Stock. Net tangible book value per share is determined by dividing the tangible book value of the Company (total tangible assets less total liabilities) by the number of outstanding shares of our common stock.

SELLING SECURITY HOLDERS

The following table provides certain information with respect to the Selling Stockholders' beneficial ownership of our common stock as of May 10, 2007 and as adjusted to give effect to the sale of all of the shares of common stock offered by this prospectus. We do not know when or in what amounts the Selling Stockholders may offer the shares of common stock for sale pursuant to this prospectus. The Selling Stockholders may choose not to sell any of the shares offered by this prospectus. For purposes of this table, we have assumed that the Selling Stockholders will have sold all of the shares covered by this prospectus upon the completion of the offering.

Beneficial ownership is determined in accordance with the rules of the SEC. In computing the number of shares beneficially owned by a Selling Stockholder and the percentage of ownership of that Selling Stockholder, shares of common stock underlying outstanding shares of our convertible notes, preferred shares or warrants held by that Selling Stockholder that are convertible or exercisable, as the case may be, within 60 days of this prospectus are included. Those shares, however, are not deemed outstanding for the purpose of computing the percentage ownership of any other Selling Stockholder. Each Selling Stockholder's percentage of ownership in the following table is based upon 149,716,312 shares of common stock as of May 10, 2007. WayCool Acquisition Warrants

On March 24, 2006, CH Capital assigned to the Company all right, title and interest to the WayCool patent in consideration for eight hundred thousand dollars ($800,000) and a three year warrant for 7,040,485 common shares at a per share price of $0.20. The $800,000 amount represents reimbursement for the time and money CH Capital spent acquiring and developing the WayCool technology. CH Capital is a California general partnership controlled by Bradley J. Hallock, currently a shareholder and a director of the Company, and William Clough, who currently is a shareholder, corporate secretary, corporate counsel and director of the Company.

Release of Royalties in Consideration for Warrants

In May 2006, in consideration for cancellation of a royalty obligation and other amounts owed by the Company to an unrelated third party; the Company issued to the third party a warrant to purchase 1,200,000 common shares at a per share price of $0.35 for the first 300,000 shares; $0.50 for the next 300,000 shares; $0.75 for the next 300,000 shares and $1.00 for the final 300,000 shares) and a three (3) year warrant for five million six hundred thousand (5,600,000) shares of common stock at a per share price of $0.20. See below topic entitled Fusion Three, LLC Settlement in the Section entitled Market for Common Equity.

Employees and Other Insiders

In an effort to attract high caliber qualified employees, management committed the Company to issue 8,966,939 underlying common shares relating to warrants and options to employees, consultants and members of the scientific advisory board and employee stock grants. These warrants and options have exercise prices ranging from $.01 to $.75 with terms of one (1) to five (5) years. Additionally, the Company dedicated 2,000,000 common shares to the Employee Incentive Plan, which have been registered under cover of Form S-8. As of May 10, 2007, the Company had issued 110,000 underlying common shares related to the Employee Incentive Plan.

Warrants

All of the warrants contain "full ratchet" anti-dilution protection to avoid dilution of the equity interests represented by the underlying shares upon the occurrence of certain events, such as share dividends or stock splits or the issuance of equity securities.

Exemption from Registration

No underwriter, broker dealer or finder participated in any of the sales discussed above, nor did the Company pay any commissions or fees with respect to these issuances. With regard to all such issuances, the Company relied on Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933 (the "Act") or Rule 506 of Regulation D for an exemption from the registration requirement of the Act. The purchasers had access to information concerning the Company, its financial condition, assets, management and proposed activities. Each purchaser represented that he had the ability to bear economically a total loss of his investment. The Company has impressed each security issued in these transactions with a restrictive legend and issued stop transfer instructions to its transfer agent.

Other than as described herein, there are currently no plans, arrangements, commitments or understandings for the issuance of additional shares of Common Stock.

Prior Securities Transactions between the Company and Selling Shareholders

Several of the Selling Shareholders have had earlier stock purchase transactions with the Company that are not included in this registration statement. The following summary describes those transactions.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

The Selling Stockholders and any of their pledgees, assignees, transferees, donees and successors-in-interest may, from time to time, sell any or all of their shares of Common Stock on any stock exchange, market or trading facility on which the shares are traded or in private transactions. These sales may be at fixed or negotiated prices. The Selling Stockholders may use any one or more of the following methods when selling shares:

· on the OTC electronic bulletin board (OTC:BB) or such other market on which the Common Stock may from time to time be trading;

· in privately-negotiated transactions;

· through the writing of options on the shares;

· short sales; or

· any combination thereof.

The sale price to the public may be:

- the market price prevailing at the time of sale;
- a price related to such prevailing market price;
- at negotiated prices; or
- such other price as the selling stockholders determine from time to time.

The shares may also be sold pursuant to Rule 144. The Selling Stockholders shall have the sole and absolute discretion not to accept any purchase offer or make any sale of shares if they deem the purchase price to be unsatisfactory at any particular time.

The Selling Stockholders or their respective pledgees, donees, transferees or other successors in interest, may also sell the shares directly to market makers acting as principals or broker-dealers acting as agents for themselves or their customers. These broker-dealers may be compensated with discounts, concessions or commissions from the Selling Stockholders or the purchasers of shares for whom such broker-dealers may act as agents or to whom they sell as principal or both. The compensation as to a particular broker-dealer might be greater than customary commissions. Market makers and block purchasers purchasing the shares will do so for their own account and at their own risk. The Selling Stockholders may sell shares of Common Stock in block transactions to market makers or other purchasers at a price per share, which may be below the then market price. The Selling Stockholders cannot assure that all or any of the shares offered in this prospectus will be issued to, or sold by, the Selling Stockholders. The Selling Stockholders and any brokers, dealers or agents, upon effecting the sale of any of the shares offered in this prospectus, may be deemed "underwriters" as that term is defined under the Securities Act or the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (or Exchange Act) or the rules and regulations under such Acts.

The Selling Stockholders, alternatively, may sell all or any part of the shares offered in this prospectus through an underwriter. No selling stockholder has entered into any agreement with a prospective underwriter and there is no assurance that any such agreement will be entered into. If a Selling Stockholder enters into such an agreement or agreements, the relevant details will be set forth in a supplement or revisions to this prospectus.

The Selling Stockholders and any other persons participating in the sale or distribution of shares will be subject to applicable provisions of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations under the Exchange Act, including, without limitation, Regulation M. These provisions may restrict certain activities of, and limit the timing of purchases and sales of any of the shares by, the Selling Stockholders or any other such person. Furthermore, under Regulation M, persons engaged in a distribution of securities are prohibited from simultaneously engaging in market making and certain other activities with respect to such securities for a specified period of time prior to the commencement of such distributions, subject to specified exceptions or exemptions. All of these limitations may affect the marketability of the shares.

We will pay all the expenses incident to this registration. We estimate that the expenses of the offering to be borne by us will be approximately $21,426. The estimated offering expenses consist of: a SEC registration fee of $3,426, printing expenses of $2,000, accounting fees of $2,000, legal fees and expenses of $10,000, transfer agent fees of $1,000, state Blue Sky registration fees of $2,000 and miscellaneous expenses of $1,000. We will not receive any proceeds from the sale of any of the shares of common stock by the Selling Stockholders.

The Selling Stockholders should be aware that the anti-manipulation provisions of Regulation M under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 will apply to purchases and sales of shares of our Common Stock by the selling stockholders, and that there are restrictions on market-making activities by persons engaged in the distribution of the shares. Under Regulation M, the selling stockholders or their agents may not bid for, purchase, or attempt to induce any person to bid for or purchase, shares of our Common Stock while such selling stockholders are distributing shares covered by this prospectus. Accordingly, except as noted below, the selling stockholders are not permitted to cover short sales by purchasing shares while the offering is taking place. The Selling Stockholders are advised that if a particular offer of Common Stock is to be made on terms constituting a material change from the information set forth above with respect to this Plan of Distribution, then, to the extent required, a post-effective amendment to the accompanying registration statement must be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Losses from Operations; Accumulated Deficit; Negative Net worth and Going Concern.

Historically, the Company has not generated sufficient revenues from operations to self-fund its capital and operating requirements. These factors raise substantial doubt concerning its ability to continue as a going concern. For the foreseeable future, the Company expects that its working capital will come from funding that will primarily include equity and debt placements. The Company does not expect to record any significant growth in revenues until the WayCool technology is commercialized and its RediAlert™ product line is fully deployed nationwide.

Overview

OnScreen Technologies, Inc. (sometimes hereafter referred to as “OnScreen™” or “the Company”) has developed and is commercializing innovative thermal management solutions capable of revolutionizing the LED display, semiconductor and electronic packaging industries. Utilizing its patent-pending thermal technologies and architecture, the Company has developed highly advanced, proprietary LED display solutions and cooling applications that provide increased performance and are less expensive to install and support than competing products and technologies.

The Company is primarily focused on commercialization of its innovative thermal cooling technology, WayCool, and the commercial adoption of its sign display platform product under the name RediAlert™. Additionally, the Company is continuing efforts towards development and commercialization of its Tensile technology. The Company’s sign display product lines utilize the OnScreen™ direct view LED (light emitting diode) sign display technology (sometimes referred to as the “OnScreen™ LED architecture” or “OnScreen™ LED technology”). The Company’s plan is to focus all of its resources on the commercialization of its technology.

The Company’s LED products are specially designed to provide display solutions into vertical markets including commercial and government. The OnScreen™ LED architecture provides a platform for the production of LED display products in the current market that is lighter than competitive products and provides a corresponding reduction in wind loading. These architectural benefits yield products that could be easy to install, are portable and require less support infrastructure, which opens new markets for LED message display products.

The Company’s RediAlert™ Rapid Dispatch Emergency Signs product line provides the world’s first truly portable LED product for Emergency Response and commercial advertising using the OnScreen™ LED sign technology. Powered by battery and transported by any vehicle, these products give highly visible emergency information or advertising messages in less than five minutes of set up time. The Company began shipping the RediAlert™ product line during the third quarter of 2006.

Critical Accounting Policies

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that have a significant impact on the results the Company will report in the Company's financial statements. Some of the Company's accounting policies require the Company to make difficult and subjective judgments, often as a result of the need to make estimates of matters that are inherently uncertain. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions.

Asset Impairment

The Company reviews its long-lived assets for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the asset exceeds its fair value and may not be recoverable. In performing the review for recoverability, the Company estimates the future cash flows expected to result from the use of the asset and its eventual disposition. If the sum of the expected future cash flows (undiscounted and without interest charges) is less than the carrying amount of the asset, an impairment loss is recognized as the excess of the carrying amount over the fair value. Otherwise, an impairment loss is not recognized. Management estimates the fair value and the estimated future cash flows expected. Any changes in these estimates could impact whether there was impairment and the amount of the impairment.

Valuation of Non-Cash Capital Stock Issuances

The Company values its stock transactions based upon the fair value of the equity instruments. Various methods can be used to determine the fair value of the equity instrument. The Company may use the fair value of the consideration received, the quoted market price of the stock or a contemporaneous cash sale of the common or preferred stock. Each of these methods may produce a different result. Management uses the method it determines most appropriately reflects the stock transaction. If a different method was used it could impact the expense and equity stock accounts.

Patent Costs

The Company estimates the patents it has filed have a future beneficial value to the Company; thus, it capitalizes the costs associated with filing for its patents. At the time the patent is approved, the patent costs associated with the patent will be amortized over the useful life of the patent. If the patent is not approved, at that time the costs will be expensed. A change in the estimate of the patent having a future beneficial value to the Company will impact the other assets and expense accounts of the Company.

Revenue Recognition

The recognition of the Company's revenues requires judgment, including whether a sale includes multiple elements, and if so, whether vendor-specific objective evidence (VSOE) of fair value exists for those elements. Customers receive certain elements of our products over a period of time. These elements include installation and training services. The ability to identify VSOE for those elements and the fair value of the respective elements could materially impact the amount of earned and unearned revenue. Also, the Company offers an extended warranty for which the revenues are initially recorded as deferred revenue and recorded to revenue ratably over the applicable warranty period. The Company does not have any history as to the costs expected to be incurred in performing these services. Therefore, revenues may be recorded that are not in proportion to the costs expected to be incurred in performing these services.

Results of Operations (Year ended December 31, 2006 compared to the year ended December 31, 2005)

The accompanying financial statements reflect the operations of the Company for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005.

Revenue

During the year ended 2006, revenue was $256,688 and $133,650 for the same period during 2005. The revenue for year ended December 31, 2006 is comprised of $100,670 from RediAlert™ products, $110,380 from Living Window™ products and related add-ons, and $45,638 from sale of wireless modems. For the year ended December 31 2005, the Company recorded $92,474 from Living Window™ products and related add-ons and $41,176 of rental revenue from the LED Truck.

The Company began shipping its RediAlert™ product during late July 2006. As the RediAlert™ product penetrates the marketplace, the Company's expects its revenues will increase during 2007 compared to 2006.

During 2006, 69% of revenues were derived from four customers at 24%, 22%, 12% and 11%. During 2005, 43% of revenues were derived from three customers at 19%, 12% and 12%.

Cost of revenue

The cost of revenue for the year ended December 31, 2006 and 2005 was $1,586,823 and $170,533, respectively. The significant increase of $1,516,290 during 2006 compared to prior the year is primarily the result of a $1,245,431 inventory write-down of impaired inventory to net realizable market value, increased unit shipments, and higher initial production costs for RediAlert. While the Company is introducing its new products and until it sells larger volumes to get economies of scale, it expects the cost of sales to fluctuate between periods as a percentage of its revenues.

Selling, General and Administrative Expenses

Selling, General and Administrative (SG&A) expenses includes such items as wages, consulting, general office expenses, business promotion expenses and costs of being a public company including legal and accounting fees, insurance and investor relations.

SG&A expenses increased from $4,942,320 for the year ended December 31, 2005 to $6,422,006 for the same period during 2006. This increase of $1,479,686 or 30% is primarily the result of increased non-cash expenses of approximately $1.5 million.

For the year ended December 31, 2006 compared to 2005, the Company recorded non-cash compensation of approximately $2,842,500 and $1,379,000, respectively.

The company anticipates its sales and marketing expenditures and general and administrative expenses to significantly decrease during 2007 compared to 2006 as the Company has significantly reduced its infrastructure during the fourth quarter of 2006 by shifting its selling efforts through distributors and independent representatives versus internal sales personnel. It is the Company's belief that the current infrastructure is sufficient to handle the process of commercialization and marketing of its OnScreen™ product lines.

Research and Development

The research and development costs are related to the OnScreen™ technology to which the Company acquired the licensing rights. The increase of $1,241,896 in research and development from $2,661,965 during the year ended December 31, 2006 compared to $1,420,069 during the same period in 2005 is a result of activities to further research and develop the OnScreen™ technology and products including WayCool prototyping. Since the Company anticipates lower development costs for the RediAlert™ product and a reduction in external consulting fees for research and development during 2007, the Company estimates that research and development expenses will significantly decrease during 2007 compared to 2006.

Restructuring costs

During the fourth quarter of 2005, the Company moved its headquarters to Portland, Oregon from Safety Harbor, Florida. As part of the corporate office relocation, the Company incurred $78,801 of restructuring costs for severance for seven employees and relocation expenses for two employees during 2005 and an additional $13,987 during 2006. No additional expenses are anticipated.

During 2005, there was no impairment loss recorded.

Investment Income

During 2004, in order for the Company to optimize its return on the equity funds it has raised, it invested in certain liquid marketable securities. During 2006 and 2005, the Company recorded $40,576 and $20,680, respectively, of investment income net of any losses related to these investments.

Financing Fees

During 2005 and 2006, the Company engaged outside services to assist in raising capital. Based on funding acquired via this third party, financing fees (cash and warrants) of $1,268,100 were incurred during 2006. During 2005, there were no financing fees recorded.

During the first quarter of 2006, the Company reached a settlement with Mobile Magic where Mobile Magic agreed to pay $175,000 as settlement of the Company's claim against it. Due to the financial condition of Mobile Magic, the Company had not recorded as of June 30, 2006 a receivable of $175,000 for the remaining amount. During August 2006, Mobile Magic paid the first installment of $50,000 due per the agreement. The settlement of $175,000 with Mobile Magic was recorded during the third quarter as a settlement gain. The Company also had recorded approximately $150,000 as a payable to Mobile Magic who was constructing a truck that the Company never received. As part of the agreement the Company does not owe the $150,000 and recorded a settlement gain for this amount during the first quarter of 2006. This was offset by legal fees of $44,158.

During April 2006 the Company negotiated the terms of a full and final settlement with Fusion Three, LLC whereby Fusion Three, LLC relinquished all rights and claims to any revenues and fees in consideration for the Company issuing to Fusion Three, LLC a three year warrant authorizing Fusion Three, LLC to purchase up to 5,600,000 shares of common stock at a per share price of $0.20. Net Loss

The net loss of $14,481,333 for the year ended December 31, 2006 increased $5,999,208 or 71% compared to the same period in 2005. The increase in net loss during 2006 compared to 2005 is mainly the result of recording a higher expense $1,970,970 for intrinsic value of convertible debt and amortization of debt discount related to the convertible notes payable, increased net settlement loss of $2,494,692 primarily due to the Fusion Three, LLC transaction, higher operating expenses of 2,696,012 resulting from increased research and development costs and $1.6 million of non-cash SG&A expenses, and the impact of an inventory write-down of impaired inventory to market value of $1,245,431. The decrease of $237,831 in research and development during the three months ended March 31, 2007, compared to the same period in 2006 is a result of a decrease in non-cash compensation for research and development consulting services and reduction in headcount. These funds will assist the Company to continue to develop its OnScreen™ products and continue the Company's operations until the Company brings the OnScreen™ products to market. However, the Company anticipates expanding and developing its technology and product lines which will require additional funding.

During the three months ended March 31, 2007, the Company continued to incur significant losses from operations. The Company incurred a net loss of $974,751 for the three months ended March 31, 2007. This net loss of $974,751 is significantly lower than for the same period last year when the Company recorded a net loss of $5,112,869 primarily due to reduced headcount, decrease in operating expenses, lower non-cash charges of approximately $1,189,000 for compensation and services expense including amortization of deferred compensation related to equity given or to be given to employees and consultants for services provided, and $1,782,319 of non-cash amortization of the intrinsic value of convertible debt and the debt discount.

Management has continued to raise the capital needed to fund the development and marketing of the Company's OnScreen™ products during 2007. During the three months ended March 31, 2007 the Company received proceeds of $177,500 from secured convertible notes and $100,000 from secured promissory notes. These funds will assist the Company to continue to develop its OnScreen™ products and technology and continue the Company's operations until the Company brings the OnScreen™ products fully to market. However, the Company anticipates expanding and developing its technology and product lines which will require additional funding.

DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

OnScreen Technologies, Inc. (sometimes hereafter referred to as "OnScreen™" or "the Company") is a Colorado corporation organized on April 21, 1998. The Company's principal place of business is located at 600 NW 14th Avenue, Suite 100, Portland, Oregon 97209.

The Company is primarily focused on commercialization of its innovative thermal cooling technology, WayCool, and the commercial adoption of its sign display platform products under the names RediAlert™ and Living Window™. The Company is continuing efforts toward development and commercialization of its Tensile technology.

OnScreen™ WayCool Thermal Management Technology

Among the challenges and limitations in the development of high-end desktop computers and workstations is the thermal dissipation associated with advanced processors. It is anticipated that the next generation of high-end processors using dual core design pushes the thermal envelope even further. This thermal challenge has been approached by manufacturers of high-powered processors by advancing heatsink and fan technology beyond the state of the art known only a few years ago. WayCool provides a straightforward scientific approach to addressing intense heat generated in electronic systems, including computers, home entertainment systems, test fixtures and medical monitoring devices. The proprietary WayCool Thermal Management technology transfers heat at extraordinarily high rates to promote superior thermal management. The scalability of the cooling devices allows the removal of heat from the source towards large surface areas that are easily accessible.

WayCool Market Analysis

The Company received a report in May 2005 prepared by an independent third party new product research consulting firm that provided a comprehensive market compilation and analysis of the semiconductor industry shipments in the personal computer and server markets for major producers as well as an evaluation of the market impact of the WayCool Thermal Management Technology in context with the total semiconductor industry demand. The principal focus of the report was to determine a preliminary business valuation for WayCool in providing a viable solution for computer processor chip thermal management.

The report of the independent third party research firm found that the semiconductor industry is expected to move to the use of advanced cooling solutions to solve an increasing need for higher processing speeds so as to better manage greater power requirements. It is expected that exponential increases in thermal output could limit traditional thermal management solutions over the next three years.

The potential market opportunity for WayCool is very large. Third party analysis indicates that a market potential of over $5 billion exists in the vertical market of PC and server applications. The potential application of WayCool to other types of electronics, such as video display chips and other types of microprocessor-based electronics is estimated to equal or exceed the single market potential of PCs and servers.

Intellectual Property Rights to WayCool Thermal Management Technology

On January 10, 2005, the inventor/owner of the OnScreen™ LED technology patent conveyed ownership of the OnScreen™, WayCool and WayFast patents to CH Capital, for value received. CH Capital is a California general partnership controlled by Bradley J. Hallock, currently a shareholder and director and William Clough, currently a shareholder, corporate secretary, corporate counsel and director.

On February 16, 2005, in consideration for the payment of two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000), CH Capital conveyed to the Company the OnScreen™ patent rights. This conveyance vested in the Company the ownership of the OnScreen™ LED technology patent.

March 24, 2006 CH Capital assigned to the Company all right, title and interest of the WayCool patent in consideration for a one time payment of eight hundred thousand dollars ($800,000) plus three year warrants that represent 7,040,485 common shares. The $800,000 amount represents reimbursement for the time and money CH Capital spent to acquire and develop the WayCool technology. This assignment has been recorded and is a matter of record with the United States Patent and Trademark Office. The Company now owns all right, title and interest of the WayCool patent.

LED Sign Industry Overview

The use of bright LEDs in large and small scale products has been expanding over the past several years. LED's have become the technology of choice for products because they offer significant advantages in brightness, energy efficiency and longer product life over traditional illumination choices. Until the advent of high-brightness LED display technology, few options existed for videotext and motion displays to be viewed in direct sunlight.

Energy consumption has become a limiting factor in the advancement of outdoor LED displays. Because significant energy is required to illuminate an LED motion display in direct sunlight, significant heat is generated when powering LED's to brightness adequate to be seen in direct sunlight. Current LED packages and heat transfer mechanisms generally do not easily accommodate close pixel spacing on this generation of products - a limiting visual factor when viewed from any distance less than a couple hundred feet. It also means that, previously, a commercial product with real market potential, i. e., outdoor television and medium scale display advertising, up to now, has been technically difficult and expensive to produce. The required pixel spacing for high resolution displays, while limiting the corresponding heat transfer as with current display architectures, has been difficult and expensive to achieve.

To date, the leading cause preventing a larger proliferation of large-scale LED products has been cost. The Company believes that a more cost effective display technology can result in a significantly deeper market penetration for these displays.

OnScreen™ LED Technology

The Company's sign display product lines utilize the OnScreen™ direct view LED (light emitting diode) technology (sometimes referred to as the "OnScreen™ LED architecture" or "OnScreen™ technology" or "OnScreen™ LED technology"). OnScreen™ LED architecture, incorporates a variety of patent pending designs of a new generation of bright LED products that provide key design improvements in wind load, heat dissipation, weight and brightness of LED sign displays.

OnScreen Technologies, Inc. has created a range of products with significant architectural benefits and brighter visibility than the current generation of sign displays. The Company's sign displays are visible in direct sunlight, avoiding many of the disadvantages associated with current displays, including sun-loading, wind-loading and excessive weight. The OnScreen™ LED technology delivers simple light weight, see-through arrays that eliminate the need for complex modules. In the Company's products, LEDs are equally spaced in a configuration that creates a system such that light and air can easily pass through the system that encourages rapid heat transfer, is lightweight and encourages convective airflow cooling.

The Company's LED products are specially designed to provide display solutions into vertical markets including commercial and government. The commercial market targets include, but are not limited to, retail industry and point of purchase. The government market targets are all levels of Departments of Transportation, Homeland Security, Law Enforcement, Emergency Responders and FEMA.

Materials and Manufacturing Cost

OnScreen Technologies, Inc. has developed an open system that permits nearly unobstructed flow of air through the LED screen that significantly reduces wind loading. This advantage reduces weight of the sign system as well as the cost of the structure that supports the sign system. These advantages are present to some extent in all OnScreen™ LED sign product lines.

Structure Benefits

Wind loading is reduced because of the "grid design" that permits air to pass through the LED grid and, at the same time, the ambient fluid air dissipates the heat from the LEDs. Because of this lighter weight and the reduced wind loading of the OnScreen™ LED architecture, the foundation and support structure can be reduced in size and cost. In a typical large scale sign deployment, the cost allocation is 30% sign and 70% installation and infrastructure.

Storage, Shipping, Handling and Setup Cost

The Company's products are lightweight, lighter than competitive systems, and offer significant savings in storage, shipping, handling and installation costs because of the "foldable" feature of several models that can be shipped laid back-to-back with greatly decreased volume and weight resulting in lower shipping cost.

Life Cycle Cost

Because of increasing LED junction temperature in traditional LED displays, LED lifetime, brightness, and efficiency degrade. The Company's products are designed to dramatically reduce the LED junction-to-environment thermal resistance resulting in a lower junction temperature for any given brightness. This yields higher brightness at lower power levels, thus reducing operating cost and increasing OnScreen™ LED based products use.

Weight

The unique OnScreen™ LED architecture reduces the weight-per-unit area compared to current systems primarily due to efficient convective air cooling that eliminates some of the heavy external cooling needed for traditional displays and the difference in the Company's base architecture versus complex rigid solid circuit board modules in present LED displays.

Brightness

Greatly increased brightness can be achieved through the use of innovative optics that address spatial tuning, horizontal axis optics, angular aperture control and optical efficiency. While brightness resulting from the OnScreen™ LED architecture can be optimized through the use of the Company's innovative pixel packages, standard off the shelf pixels are used as well, depending on the application.

OnScreen™ Sign Products

RediAlert™

The Company has completed the initial production in its government emergency response product line. The first of this product line is the RediAlert™ Rapid Dispatch Emergency Signs. The RediAlert™ design is based on an arrangement of LEDs placed periodically along the edge of narrow horizontal louver like slats similar to Venetian blinds that provide structural integrity without sacrificing other advantages. The initial RediAlert™ product uses a thin, light-weight rigid support material as the principal structure to hold the LEDs and supply the necessary circuitry. The systematic elimination of support material results in a unique screen effect capable of permitting free flow of air between the slats and creating the appearance of an opaque background for easy reading of the sign in bright sunlight conditions.

The RediAlert™ is capable of displaying three lines of variable text at nine inch character size for messaging at emergency response incidents where it is important to quickly convey a message to motorists and pedestrians. Independently powered by 12VDC battery power, this easily deployable, folding 3' x 5' illuminated screen provides law enforcement and emergency management personnel with the latest in technology and equipment to assist in communicating with the public. RediAlert™ products are designed to collapse and fit into the trunk of emergency vehicles. These products are capable of being deployed by a single person within minutes and represent a significant market for the Company. The Company's target markets include the rapidly expanding Homeland Security effort, federal and state homeland defense, law enforcement, military, emergency response and traffic control.

Living Window™

The Living Window™ product line features electrical conductors imbedded in a rigid grid material that also serves as the structural member on to which the LEDs are mounted. The Company's design permits a product that consists of approximately 70% vacant space, through which ambient air can freely flow to permit heat transfer. This product line can provide highly effective advertising to several different vertical retail markets, such as auto dealerships, grocery stores, movie theaters, malls, and restaurants. Living Window™ will enable retailers to communicate a bright three-to-six-line text message directly to customers through a 15 to 30 square feet, lightweight, see-through sign that is lighter than most comparable products and which can be easily installed in a window or suspended in a indoor environment. Living Window™ enables any business owner to use a remote computer to display a message or change the existing message in a matter of seconds on one or more signs located in one or multiple remote locations. One of the most appealing factors of Living Window™ is its revolutionary product design that does not interfere with the integrity of the building architecture and allows ambient light to enter.

Tensile Roll-Up Sign Technology

The innovative Tensile technology is currently in the design and prototyping stage. Tensile is a revolutionary LED sign design that features flexibility of the LED screen in addition to lightweight, see-through features as used in the other OnScreen™ sign products. The unique open design permits easy flow of ambient air through the X-Y grid for better heat dissipation. Full color and video motion are intended to be standard features. This product is designed for indoor and outdoor video displays, signage, indoor and outdoor lighting, including complex forms and decorative elements such as light-walls, light sculpture, and chandeliers. Among the advantages of Tensile is the ability to retrofit existing signage infrastructure with little modification due to the lightweight and advanced thermal management characteristics of Tensile. Furthermore, these innovative characteristics also allow Tensile to be used in new applications and locations where LED technology could not previously be used due to weight, thermal management and structural constraints.

LED Sign Market Potential

The Company is focusing its efforts towards further defining the market environment, size, growth, trends, competitive analysis, product roadmap, partnering strategy and commercial sales program. Specific applications of the OnScreen™ LED technology include: billboards, store windows, large screen indoor and outdoor products, outdoor commercial and residential televisions, curved and complex shaped displays, artistic light displays, Amber Alert project, Homeland Security, roadway “intelligent transportation systems” (ITS) and see-through displays on buildings. An additional potential marketing strategy is directed toward licensing the OnScreen™ LED technology intellectual property to worldwide manufacturers of LED sign products and components.

OnScreen Technologies, Inc. is currently pursuing markets related to LED products that include:

- Rapidly deployed, highly mobile, emergency response products, RediAlert™. This product is directed toward government emergency response and public safety matters such as homeland security, Amber alert, automobile accidents, traffic control and public information.
- Indoor, see through window, commercial advertising products, Living Window™. The Company’s market focus is retail level such as automobile dealerships, restaurants and other retail markets. This product is intended to include an optional wireless modem capable of transmitting and receiving data to be displayed on the sign.

OnScreen Technologies, Inc. Business Strategy

The implemented Company business strategy includes an expanding basis of innovative ideas and products based on its thermal cooling technology, WayCool and its OnScreen™ LED technology. The Company continues to develop and purchase OnScreen™ LED architecture related new product ideas and enhance its current technology. Examples of potential areas to which the company will look to create market opportunity include: LED pixel packages, custom mounting hardware, ventilation support systems and electronic subsystems.

Licensing

The Company intends to implement a broad intellectual property licensing program for select products in order to commercialize WayCool and various segments of the OnScreen™ LED technology, including Tensile for retail and large outdoor format applications, on a larger scale than is possible with the financial resources currently available to the Company. Through this program, the OnScreen™ technology is intended to be exploited through the development of worldwide license and royalty agreements. This strategy has been adopted for several reasons:

- It is considerably less capital intensive than developing manufacturing and marketing capabilities.

· It provides revenue streams immediately through advance licensing fees.

· It provides an opportunity to fund further research and to build/develop the intellectual property portfolio of the Company.

· It can provide continuous long-term revenue streams.

· It provides a more rapid adaptation and proliferation of the OnScreen™ LED technology.

· It expedites finding potential corporate “partners”.

· It provides the opportunity for greater margins.

These benefits are intended to be used as the primary method for promoting rapid adoption of WayCool (Please see above the section “OnScreen™ WayCool Thermal Management Technology”) through licensing agreements with various suppliers in the microprocessor-based electronics markets. These include potential licensing relationships with chip original equipment manufacturers (OEMs), original development manufacturers (ODMs), as well as potential relationships with companies serving the after-market retail market segment. It is intended that a worldwide licensing strategy for WayCool will open significant business opportunities for this technology in a number of vertical market applications. WayCool is discussed above in the section entitled OnScreen™ WayCool Thermal Management Technology.

Outsource Manufacturing

The Company outsources the manufacture and assembly of the OnScreen™ LED technology product lines.

Intellectual Property Ownership of OnScreen™ Technology

The following describes the evolution of the license and ownership of the OnScreen™ LED technology patent:

- On or about July 23, 2001, the Company entered into a Contract and License Agreement (hereafter the “License Agreement”) with the inventor of the OnScreen™ LED technology which agreement entitled the Company to 75% of the revenue generated from the direct view OnScreen™ LED sign technology with angular dimension greater than 30 inches and guaranteed the inventor a minimum royalty of $50,000 the first year, $100,000 the second year and $250,000 each year thereafter.
- On January 10, 2005 and February 16, 2005, the inventor/owner of the OnScreen™ LED technology patent conveyed ownership of the OnScreen™, WayCool and WayFast patents to CH Capital, a related party of the Company, for value received. This conveyance is subject to the above stated OnScreen™ license rights of the Company.
- On February 16, 2005, in consideration for the payment of two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000), CH Capital conveyed to the Company the OnScreen™ patent rights. This conveyance vested in the Company the ownership of the OnScreen™ LED technology patent.
- On March 24, 2006, CH Capital assigned to the Company all right, title and interest to the WayCool patent in consideration for eight hundred thousand dollars ($800,000) and a three year warrant for 7,040,485 common shares at a per share price of $0.20. The $800,000 amount represents reimbursement for the time and money CH Capital spent acquiring and developing the WayCool technology.

Fusion Three, LLC Settlement

In August 2002, the Company entered into an agreement with Fusion Three, LLC whereby Fusion Three, LLC paid the annual $50,000 Company minimum royalty fee (See below, Intellectual Property Rights to OnScreen™) in consideration for the Company's conveying to Fusion Three, LLC 5% of the Company's interest in the OnScreen License Agreement. In December 2002 the Company and Fusion Three, LLC entered into an addendum to the August 2002 agreement whereby Fusion Three, LLC paid the $100,000 second year minimum royalty fee in consideration for an additional 10% of the Company's interest in the OnScreen License Agreement. On January 14, 2004, the inventor agreed to accept $175,000 in lieu of the $250,000 third year minimum royalty fee payment. This payment was made by the Company to the inventor.

On February 3, 2004, the Company reached a Master Settlement and Release Agreement with Fusion Three, LLC whereby, in consideration for the exchange of mutual releases and Fusion Three, LLC relinquishing its claim to any of the OnScreen™ technology; the Company paid to Fusion Three, LLC $150,000 plus agreed to pay annually declining percentages of revenue derived from the commercialization of the direct view LED video display technology as follows: 5% in 2005 declining to 2% in year 2008 and thereafter. In the event of a change of control of the Company, the percentage of revenue stated above would terminate and a single payment transaction fee would be paid to Fusion Three, LLC ranging from 10% of the OnScreen appraised value up to $100,000,000, 7.5% for the appraised value between $100,000,001 and $200,000,000, 5% of the appraised value between $200,000,001 and $300,000,000, and 4% of the appraised value between $300,000,001 and $400,000,000 and 3% for the appraised value between $400,000,001 and $500,000,000 and 2% for any appraised amounts between $500,000,001 and $600,000,000.

During April 2006 the Company negotiated the terms of a full and final settlement with Fusion Three, LLC whereby Fusion Three, LLC relinquished all rights and claims to any revenues and fees in consideration for our issuing to Fusion Three, LLC a three year warrant authorizing Fusion Three, LLC to purchase up to five million six hundred thousand (5,600,000) shares of our common stock at a per share price of $0.20. The Company also agreed to issue Fusion Three, LLC a warrant to purchase up to one million two hundred thousand (1,200,000) shares of our common stock at a per share price of $0.35 for 300,000 shares; $0.50 for 300,000 shares; $0.75 for 300,000 shares and $1.00 for 300,000 shares before November 15, 2007. Regarding all of the common shares underlying the warrants, the Company is obligated to file a Form SB-2 registration statement with the SEC within no more than one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of the agreement.

OnScreen Technology Intellectual Property Protection

The Company relies on various intellectual property laws and contractual restrictions to protect its proprietary rights in products and services. These include confidentiality, invention assignment and nondisclosure agreements with its employees, contractors, suppliers and strategic partners. The confidentiality and nondisclosure agreements with employees, contractors and suppliers are in perpetuity or for a sufficient length of time so as to not threaten exposure of proprietary information. In addition, the Company intends to pursue the registration of our trademarks and service marks in the United States and internationally.

On December 6, 2005 the United States Patent and Trademark Office permitted registration of the mark, “RediAd”, under the Trademark Act of 1946, as amended.

On March 28, 2006 the United States Patent and Trademark Office permitted registration of the mark, “OnScreen Technology”, under the Trademark Act of 1946, as amended. The Company was, however, required to disclaim the unitary expression because the individual component words of a complete descriptive phrase are not registerable. This disclaimer does not impair the “OnScreen™” trademark or the “OnScreen™ technology” words when used in conjunction with the trademark.

On May 2, 2006 the United States Patent and Trademark Office permitted registration of the mark, “RediAlert”, under the Trademark Act of 1946, as amended.

The Company continuously reviews and updates the existing patent and trademark filings and files new documentation both nationally and internationally (Patent Cooperation Treaty) in a continuing effort to maintain up to date patent and trademark protection of its intellectual property.

For those applications pending, there is no assurance that the Company's patents and trademark registrations will be granted. Furthermore, the Company is exposed to the risk that other parties may claim the Company infringes their existing patent and trademark rights, which could result in the Company's inability to develop and market its products unless the Company enters into licensing agreements with the technology owner or could force the Company to engage in costly and potentially protracted litigation.

In this context, the Compensation Committee's authority, duties and responsibilities are:

Committee Meetings

Our Compensation Committee meets as often as necessary to perform its duties and responsibilities. The Compensation Committee held eight meetings during fiscal 2006. On an as requested basis, our Compensation Committee receives and reviews materials prepared by management, consultants, or committee members, in advance of each meeting. Depending on the agenda for the particular meeting, these materials may include:

- Minutes and materials from the previous meeting(s);
- Reports on year-to-date Company and Partnership financial performance versus budget;
- Reports on progress and levels of performance of individual and Company performance objectives;
- Reports on the Company's financial and stock performance versus a peer group of companies;
- Reports from the Committee's compensation consultant regarding market and industry data relevant to executive officer compensation;
- Reports and executive compensation summary worksheets, which sets forth for each executive officer: current total compensation and incentive compensation target percentages, current equity ownership holdings and general partner ownership interest, and current and projected value of each and all such compensation elements, including distributions and dividends there from, over a five year period.

Compensation Philosophy

General Philosophy

Our compensation philosophy is based on the premise of attracting, retaining and motivating exceptional leaders, setting high goals, working toward the common objectives of meeting the expectations of customers and stockholders, and rewarding outstanding performance. Following this philosophy, in determining executive compensation, we consider all relevant factors, such as the competition for talent, our desire to link pay with performance, the use of equity to align executive interests with those of our stockholders, individual contributions, teamwork and performance, each executive's total compensation package, and internal pay equity. We strive to accomplish these objectives by compensating all employees with total compensation packages consisting of a combination of competitive base salary and incentive compensation.

Pay for Performance

At the core of our compensation philosophy is our strong belief that pay should be directly linked to performance. We believe in a pay for performance culture that places a significant portion of executive officer total compensation as contingent upon, or variable with, individual performance, Company performance and achievement of strategic goals including increasing shareholder value.

The performance based compensation for our executives may be in the form of (i) annual cash incentives to promote achievement of, and accountability for, shorter term performance plans and strategic goals, and (ii) equity grants, designed to align the long-term interests of our executive officers with those of our shareholders, by creating a strong and direct link between executive compensation and shareholder return over a multiple year performance cycle. Long term incentive equity awards are granted in restricted stock. These shares/units generally vest over a two-year period. This opportunity for share ownership was provided in order to provide incentive and retain key employees and align their interests with our long term strategic goals.

Base Compensation to be Competitive within Industry

A key component of an executive's total compensation base salary is designed to compensate executives commensurate with their respective level of experience, scope of responsibilities, sustained individual performance and future potential. The goal has been to provide for base salaries that are sufficiently competitive with other similar-sized companies, both regionally and nationally, in order to attract and retain talented leaders.

Compensation Setting Process

Management's Role in the Compensation Setting Process.

Management plays a significant role in the compensation-setting process. The most significant aspects of management role are:

- Assisting in establishing business performance goals and objectives;
- Evaluating employee and company performance;
- CEO recommending compensation levels and awards for executive officers;
- Implementing the Board approved compensation plans; and
- Assistance in preparing agenda and materials for the Committee meetings.

The Chief Executive Officer and the General Counsel and Secretary generally attend the Committee meetings. However, the Committee also regularly meets in executive session. The Chief Executive Officer makes recommendations with respect to financial and corporate goals and objectives, and makes non CEO executive compensation recommendations to the Compensation Committee based on company performance, individual performance and the peer group compensation market analysis. The Compensation Committee considers and deliberates on this information and in turn makes recommendations to the Board of Directors, for the Board's determination and approval of the executives' and other members of senior management's compensation, including base compensation, short-term cash incentives and long-term equity incentives. The Chief Executive Officer's performance and compensation is reviewed, evaluated and established separately by the Compensation Committee and ratified and approved by the Board of Directors.

Setting Compensation Levels

To evaluate our total compensation is competitive and provides appropriate rewards to attract and retain talented leaders, as discussed above, we may rely on analyses of peer companies performed by independent compensation consultants and on other industry and occupation specific survey data available to us. Our general benchmark is to establish both base salary and total compensation for the executive officers at the 50th percentile of the peer group data, recognizing that a significant portion of executive officer total compensation should be contingent upon, or variable with, achievement of individual and Company performance objectives and strategic goals, as well as being variable with stockholder value. Further, while the objective for base salary is at the 50th percentile of the peer group data, executives' base salaries are designed to reward core competencies and contributions to the Company, and may be increased above this general benchmark based on (i) the individual's increased contribution over the preceding year; (ii) the individual's increased responsibilities over the preceding year; and (iii) any increase in median competitive pay levels.

Setting Performance Objectives

The Company's business plans and strategic objectives are generally presented by management at the Company's annual board meeting. The board engages in an active discussion concerning the financial targets, the appropriateness of the strategic objectives, and the difficulty in achieving same. In establishing the compensation plan, our Compensation Committee then utilizes the primary financial objectives from the adopted business plan, operating cash flow, as the primary targets for determining the executive officers' short-term cash incentives and long term equity incentive compensation. The Committee also establishes additional non-financial performance goals and objectives, the achievement of which is required for funding of a significant portion (25%) of the executive officers' incentive compensation. In 2006, these non financial performance goals and objectives included achieving accurate financial reporting and timely SEC filings; demonstrating full compliance and superior performance in the Company's environmental, health and safety practices; performing appropriate SOX/404 remediation activities and achieving successful testing of and compliance with SOX requirements; and general and administrative expense management.

Annual Evaluation

The Chief Executive Officer recommends the actual incentive award amounts for all other executives based on actual company performance relative to the targets as well as on individual performance, and recommends the executives' base salaries levels for the coming year. The Compensation Committee considers these recommendations generally at the end of each fiscal year in determining its recommendations to the Board of Directors for the final short-term cash incentive and long-term equity award amounts for each executive and for the executive's base salary levels. The actual incentive amounts awarded to each executive are ultimately subject to the discretion of the Compensation Committee and the Board of Directors.

Additional equity-based awards may be also granted to executives, as well as other employees, upon commencement of employment, for promotions or special performance recognition, or for retention purposes, based on the recommendation of the Chief Executive Officer. In determining whether to recommend additional grants to an executive, the Chief Executive Officer typically considers the individual's performance and any planned change in functional responsibility.

Elements of Executive Compensation

Total Compensation

Total compensation for our executives consists of three elements: (i) base salary; (ii) incentive cash award based on achieving specific performance targets as measured by cash flow and other objectives; and (iii) equity incentive award, which is also performance based and paid out over a future period in the form of restricted stock or warrants. Base salaries are the value upon which both the incentive compensation percentage targets are measured against. For evaluation and comparison of overall compensation of the executives, and to assist it in making its compensation decisions, the Compensation Committee reviews an executive compensation summary, which sets forth for each executive: current compensation and current equity ownership holdings as well as the projected value of each and all such compensation elements, including distributions and dividends therefrom.

Base Salaries

Base salaries are designed to compensate executives commensurate with their respective level of experience, scope of responsibilities, and to reward sustained individual performance and future potential. The goal has been to provide for base salaries that are sufficiently competitive with other similar-sized companies, both regionally and nationally, in order to attract and retain talented leaders.

Incentive Compensation

Incentive compensation is intended to align compensation with business objectives and performance and enable the company to attract, retain and reward high quality executive officers whose contributions are critical to short and long-term success of the Company. The executives' incentive awards are based upon three key performance metrics: 1) the Company's operating cash flow; 2) achievement of agreed-upon strategic and corporate performance goals; and 3) each executive's departmental and individual goals and performance. The actual incentive amounts awarded to each executive are ultimately subject to the discretion of the Compensation Committee and the Board of Directors

Incentive Plan Compensation

Incentive awards are paid out in cash, restricted common stock or warrant awards. The incentive award targets for the executives are established at the beginning of the year as a percentage of their base salary, and the actual awards are determined at the following year's Annual Board of Directors meetings based on actual company performance relative to established goals and objectives, as well as on evaluation of the executive's relevant departmental and individual performance during the past year. The award of restricted common stock generally vests over a two year term in four equal six months tranches. The award of restricted common stock purchased through warrants generally vests immediately upon issuance of the warrant which generally has a validity of three years and a per share purchase price of the fair market value of our common stock on the date of grant. The awards are intended to serve as a means of incentive compensation for performance.

Retirement Plans

The Company does not maintain an employee retirement plan or a 401(k) plan nor do we provide any supplemental retirement benefits to our senior executives.

Change in Control Agreements

Our executives are not awarded any type of protection upon a change in control.

Perquisites

The Company does not provide for any perquisites or any other benefits for its senior executives that are not generally available to all employees.

CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION AND COLORADO BUSINESS CORPORATION ACT

The Colorado General Corporation Act provides that each existing or former director and officer of a corporation may be indemnified in certain instances against certain liabilities which he or she may incur, inclusive of fees, costs and other expenses incurred in connection with such defense, by virtue of his or her relationship with the corporation or with another entity to the extent that such latter relationship shall have been undertaken at the request of the corporation; and may have advanced such expenses incurred in defending against such liabilities upon undertaking to repay the same in the event an ultimate determination is made denying entitlement to indemnification. The Company's bylaws incorporate the statutory form of indemnification by specific reference.

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities may be invoked to disclaim liability for damages arising under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or the Securities Act of 1934 (collectively, the "Acts"), as amended, it is the position of the Securities and Exchange Commission that such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Acts and are therefore, unenforceable.

Penny Stock Considerations

Penny Stock Regulation Broker-dealer practices in connection with transactions in "Penny Stocks" are regulated by certain penny stock rules adopted by the Securities and Exchange Commission. Penny stocks generally are equity securities with a price of less than $5.00 (other than securities registered on certain national securities exchanges or quoted on the NASDAQ system). The penny stock rules require a broker-dealer, prior to a transaction in a penny stock not otherwise exempt from the rules, to deliver a standardized risk disclosure document that provides information about penny stocks and the risk associated with the penny stock market. The broker-dealer must also provide the customer with current bid and offer quotations for the penny stock, the compensation of the broker-dealer and its salesperson in the transaction, and monthly account statements showing the market value of each penny stock held in the customer's account. In addition, the penny stock rules generally require that prior to a transaction in a penny stock; the broker-dealer must make a written determination that the penny stock is a suitable investment for the purchaser and receive the purchaser's written agreement to the transaction. These disclosure requirements may have the effect of reducing the level of trading activity in the secondary market for a stock that becomes subject to the penny stock rules.

For the foreseeable future, the Company's securities will likely have a trading price of less than $5.00 per share and will not be traded on any exchanges; therefore, we will be subject to Penny Stock Rules. As a result of the aforesaid rules regulating penny stocks, the market liquidity for our securities could be severely adversely affected by limiting the ability of broker-dealers to sell our securities and the ability of shareholders sell their securities in the secondary market.

The 90,606,698 shares of Common Stock held by existing shareholders as of May 10, 2007 that are "restricted" within the meaning of Rule 144 adopted under the Securities Act (the "Restricted Shares"), may not be sold unless they are registered under the Securities Act or sold pursuant to an exemption from registration, such as the exemption provided by Rule 144 promulgated under the Securities Act. The Restricted Shares were issued and sold by us in private transactions in reliance upon exemptions from registration under the Securities Act and may only be sold in accordance with the provisions of Rule 144 of the Securities Act, unless otherwise registered under the Securities Act.

As of May 10, 2007, we had issued and outstanding 75,543 shares of Series A Convertible Preferred Stock, of which all are "restricted" within the meaning of Rule 144 as noted above.

As of May 10, 2007, no shares of Series B Convertible Preferred Stock were issued and outstanding.

January 23, 2007, the Company filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a registration statement on Form SB-2 pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, with respect to the offer, issuance and sale of an aggregate of 100,646,995 shares of our Common Stock being registered therein to certain of our stockholders named in the Prospectus and their transferees. The Company will not receive any proceeds from the sale of the shares, but the Company may receive proceeds from the Selling Stockholders if they exercise their warrants.

Substantial sales of our Common Stock could cause our stock price to rapidly decline.

The possibility of future sales by existing stockholders, including Selling Stockholders under Rule 144 or otherwise will, in the future, have a depressive effect on the market price of our Common Stock, and such sales, if substantial, might also adversely affect our ability to raise additional capital.

The market price of our Common Stock may fall rapidly and significantly due to sales of our Common Stock from other sources such as:

- Common Stock underlying the conversion rights of our Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock.
- Common Stock underlying the exercise of outstanding options and warrants.
- Common Stock, which are available for resale under Rule 144 or are otherwise freely tradable and which are not subject to lock-up restrictions.

Any sale of substantial amounts of our Common Stock in the public market, or the perception that these sales might occur, whether as a result of the sale of Common Stock received by shareholders upon conversion of our Convertible Preferred Stock, exercise of outstanding warrants or options or otherwise, could lower the market price of our Common Stock. Furthermore, substantial sales of our Common Stock in a relatively short period of time could have the effect of depressing the market price of our Common Stock and could impair our ability to raise capital through the sale of additional equity securities.

The covenants with our Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock shareholders restrict our ability to incur debt outside the normal course, acquire other businesses, pay dividends on our Common Stock, sell assets or issue our securities without the consent of holders of a majority of the Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock outstanding. Such arrangements may adversely affect our future operations or may require us to make additional concessions to the holders of the Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock in order to enter into transactions or take actions management deems beneficial and in the best interests of the holders of our Common Stock.

Note conversions could result in dilution of common stock

The conversion of outstanding promissory notes may result in substantial dilution to the interests of other holders of common stock, since the investors may ultimately convert and sell the full amount issuable on conversion under the notes. As of March 31, 2007, the $1,700,000 principal of outstanding promissory notes and 12% per annum simple interest accruing thereon are convertible at a floating per share price based on a substantial discount to the then-prevailing market price and, as a result, the lower the stock price at the time the holder converts, the more common shares the holder gets. There is, however, a $0.20 per share minimum limit on the conversion price, which means that there is a limit on the number of shares that the company may be obligated to issue.

Downward pressure on the stock price could encourage short selling

The significant downward pressure on the price of the common stock as the selling stockholders convert and sell material amounts of common stock could encourage short sales by the selling stockholders or others. This could place significant downward pressure on the price of the common stock.

In finance, short selling or “shorting” is a way to profit from the decline in price of a security, such as stock or bond. A short sale is generally a sale of a stock you do not own. Investors who sell short believe the price of the stock will fall. If the price drops, you can buy the stock at the lower price and make a profit. If the price of the stock rises and you buy it back later at the higher price, you will incur a loss.

When you sell short, your brokerage firm loans you the stock. The stock you borrow comes from either the firm’s own inventory, the margin account of another of the firm’s clients or another brokerage firm. As with buying stock on margin, you are subject to the margin rules. Other fees and charges may apply. If the stock you borrow pays a dividend, you must pay the dividend to the person or firm making the loan.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of:
Onscreen Technologies, Inc.:

We have audited the accompanying balance sheet of Onscreen Technologies, Inc. as of December 31, 2006, and the related statements of operations, changes in stockholders' equity (deficit), and cash flows for the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Onscreen Technologies, Inc. as of December 31, 2006 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 1 to the financial statements, the Company has a net loss of $14,481,333 and cash used in operations of $9,398,621 in 2006 and an accumulated deficit of $42,971,052 at December 31, 2006. These matters raise substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plans as to these matters are also described in Note 1. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Note 1

NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND BASIS OF PRESENTATION

OnScreen Technologies, Inc. (the Company) has pioneered and is commercializing innovative thermal management solutions capable of revolutionizing the LED display, semiconductor and electronic packaging industries. Utilizing its patent-pending thermal technologies and architecture, the Company has developed highly advanced, proprietary LED display solutions and cooling applications. The Company is primarily focused on commercialization of its innovative thermal cooling technology, WayCool, and the commercial adoption of its sign display platform product under the name RediAlert™ and Living Window™. Additionally, the Company is continuing efforts towards development and commercialization of its Tensile technology.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on the assumption that the Company will continue as a going concern. As reflected in the accompanying financial statements, the Company has a net loss of $14,481,333 and cash used in operations of $9,398,621 for the year ended December 31, 2006 and an accumulated deficit of $42,971,052 at December 31, 2006. The ability of the Company to continue as a going concern is dependent on the Company's ability to bring the OnScreen™ products to market, generate increased sales, obtain positive cash flow from operations and raise additional capital. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that may result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

The Company is continuing to raise additional capital which the Company believes will provide sufficient cash to meet its funding requirements to commercialize OnScreen™ technology product lines during 2007. As the Company continues to expand and develop its technology and product lines, additional funding will be required. The Company has experienced negative cash flows from operations and incurred net losses in the past and there can be no assurance as to the availability or terms upon which additional financing and capital might be available, if needed.

Note 2

SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

(A) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Significant estimates in 2006 and 2005 include estimates used to review the Company's long-lived assets for impairment, inventory valuation, valuations of non-cash capital stock issuances, valuations of derivatives and the valuation allowance on deferred tax assets.

(B) Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the cash flow statement, the Company considers all highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less at the time of purchase to be cash equivalents.

OnScreen Technologies, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2006 and 2005

(C) Marketable Securities Available-For-Sale

In order for the Company to optimize its return on the equity funds it has raised, it invested in certain liquid marketable securities. The Company classifies these marketable securities as available-for-sale. These securities are recorded at fair market value, with unrealized gains or losses excluded from earnings and included in other comprehensive income within stockholders' equity. Realized gains and losses on the sale of these securities are determined using the specific-identification method.

There are no available-for-sale securities at December 31, 2006. The Company received proceeds of $31,146 from the sale of investments and recognized losses on sale of investments of $1,695 during the year ended December 31, 2006.

(D) Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable consist of the receivables associated with the revenue derived from the Living Windows™ and RediAlert™ products. We record an allowance for doubtful accounts to allow for any amounts that may not be recoverable, which is based on an analysis of our prior collection experience, customer credit worthiness, and current economic trends. Based on management's review of accounts receivable, an allowance for doubtful accounts of $6,333 at December 31, 2006 is considered adequate. We determine receivables to be past due based on the payment terms of original invoices.

(E) Inventory

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost (first-in, first-out basis) or market. Finished goods inventory is valued at $967,735 and work in progress at $1,158,000 at December 31, 2006. During 2006, the Company impaired $478,737 of defective finished goods inventory and $766,694 of work in progress which is included in Cost of Goods Sold on the Statement of Operations.

(F) Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit and financial institution deposit accounts, which, at times, exceed federally insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts through December 31, 2006.

(G) Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at the lower of fair value or cost, less accumulated depreciation and amortization. Major additions are capitalized. Minor additions and maintenance and repairs, which do not extend the useful life of an asset, are charged to operations when incurred. When property and equipment are sold or otherwise disposed of, the asset account and related accumulated depreciation account are relieved, and any gain or loss is included in operations. Depreciation is provided primarily using the straight-line method over the assets' estimated useful lives of three to seven years. Estimated useful lives are periodically reviewed and, where appropriate, changes are made prospectively.

(H) Long-Lived Assets

The Company periodically reviews its long-lived assets and certain identifiable assets related to those assets for impairment whenever circumstances and situations change such that there is an indication that the carrying amounts may not be recoverable. If the non-discounted future cash flows of the enterprise are less than their carrying amount, their carrying amounts are reduced to fair value and an impairment loss is recognized. See Note 3 for the impairment amounts that were recorded during 2006. There was no impairment amount recorded during 2005.

(I) Identifiable Intangible Assets

As of December 31, 2006, the Company had capitalized $4,842,743 of costs related to technology rights it had acquired since 2003. The Company is amortizing technology rights over a twenty year life.

As of December 31, 2006, the Company had capitalized $582,965 of costs related to filing patent applications. When the patents are approved, the Company will then amortize these costs over the life of the patent. Any patents that are not approved will be expensed at that time. At December 31, 2006, all of the patents are pending approval.

(J) Accounting for Derivatives

The Company evaluates its convertible debt, options, warrants or other contracts to determine if those contracts or embedded components of those contracts qualify as derivatives to be separately accounted for under Statement of Financial Accounting Standards 133 "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities" and related interpretations including EITF 00-19 "Accounting for Derivative Financial Instruments Indexed to, and Potentially Settled in, a Company's Own Stock".

The result of this accounting treatment is that the fair value of the embedded derivative is marked-to-market each balance sheet date and recorded as a liability. In the event that the fair value is recorded as a liability, the change in fair value is recorded in the consolidated statement of operations as an other income or expense. Upon conversion or exercise of a derivative instrument, the instrument is marked to fair value at the conversion date and then that fair value is reclassified to equity. Equity instruments that are initially classified as equity that become subject to reclassification under SFAS 133 are reclassified to liability at the fair value of the instrument on the reclassification date.

(K) Stock-Based Compensation

On January 1, 2006, the Company implemented Statement of Financial Accounting Standard 123 (revised 2004) ("SFAS 123(R)", "Share-Based Payment" which replaced SFAS 123 "Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation" and superseded APB Opinion No. 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees." SFAS 123(R) requires the fair value of all stock-based employee compensation awarded to employees to be recorded as an expense over the related vesting period. The statement also requires the recognition of compensation expense for the fair value of any unvested stock option awards outstanding at the date of adoption. During 2006, all employee stock compensation was recorded at fair value using the Black Scholes Pricing Model. In adopting SFAS 123(R), the Company used the modified prospective application ("MPA"). MPA requires the Company to account for all new stock compensation to employees using fair value and for any portion of awards prior to January 1, 2006 for which the requisite service has not been rendered and the options remain outstanding as of January 1, 2006, the Company recognized the compensation cost for that portion of the award for which the requisite service was rendered on or after January 1, 2006. The fair value for these awards is determined based on the grant-date. As of January 1, 2006, accrued compensation payable in common stock of $469,112 previously classified as a liability was reclassified as equity due to the implementation of SFAS 123(R).

OnScreen Technologies, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2006 and 2005

Prior to January 1, 2001 the Company accounted for stock based compensation using the intrinsic value method under APB 25.

The following table illustrates the effect on net loss available to common stockholders and loss per common share had the Company applied the fair value recognition provisions of SFAS No. 123 to stock-based employee compensation during 2005:

Net Loss Available to Common Stockholders:
Net loss available to common stockholders as reported	$ (8,684,020)
Plus total stock-based employee compensation cost included in the net loss, net of related tax effects	469,318
Less total stock-based employee compensation expenses determined under fair value based method for all awards, net of related tax effects	(597,754)
Pro forma net loss	$ (8,812,456)
Loss per share:
As reported	$ (0.12)
Pro forma	$ (0.13)

See Note 7 section F, for additional disclosure and discussion of the Company's employee stock plan and activity.

OnScreen Technologies, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2006 and 2005

The Company accounts for services provided by non-employees who are issued equity instruments based on the fair value of the consideration received or the fair value of the equity instruments, whichever is more reliably measurable on the measurement date. The amount related to the value of the stock awards is amortized on a straight-line basis over the required service periods.

(L) Revenue Recognition

The Company recognizes revenue from its products when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, the product(s) has been shipped, collectability is reasonably assured and the price is fixed or determinable. In the event that the contract provides for multiple elements (e.g., products, installation and training), the total amount invoiced is allocated to these elements based on "vendor-specific objective evidence" of fair value. If any portion of the revenue is subject to forfeiture, refund or other contractual contingencies, the Company will postpone revenue recognition until these contingencies have been removed. The Company generally accounts for installation and training services separate from product revenue for those multi-element arrangements where services are a separate element and are not essential to the customer's functionality requirements and there is "vendor-specific objective evidence" of fair value for these services. Installation and education services revenue, is recognized when the service has been performed.

Revenue from warranty and maintenance activities is recognized ratably over the term of the warranty and maintenance period and the unrecognized portion is recorded as deferred revenue.

The Company records any rental income from the LED truck pro-rata as earned over the rental period.

(M) Shipping and Handling Costs

Amounts invoiced to customers for shipping and handlings are included sales. Actual shipping and handling costs to ship products to our customers are included in cost of revenues and were approximately $15,000 for the year ended December 31, 2006.

(N) Warranty Reserves

The Company records a warranty reserve liability based on its estimates of future costs on sales recognized. There was no warranty reserve recorded at December 31, 2006.

(O) Advertising

In accordance with Accounting Standards Executive Committee Statement of Position 93-7, costs incurred for producing and communicating advertising of the Company are charged to operations as incurred. Advertising expense for the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005 was $43,068 and $39,823, respectively.

OnScreen Technologies, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2006 and 2005

(P) Income Taxes

Income taxes are accounted for under the asset and liability method of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 109, “Accounting for Income Taxes” (“SFAS 109”). Under SFAS 109, deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized as income in the period that includes the enactment date.

Valuation allowances have been established against the Company’s deferred tax assets due to uncertainties in the Company’s ability to generate sufficient taxable income in future periods to make realization of such assets more likely than not. The Company has not recognized an income tax benefit for its operating losses generated during 2006 and 2005 based on uncertainties concerning the Company’s ability to generate taxable income in future periods. There was no income tax receivable at December 31, 2006 and 2005. In future periods, tax benefits and related deferred tax assets will be recognized when management considers realization of such amounts to be more likely than not.

(Q) Net Loss Per Share

In accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 128, “Earnings per Share”, basic net loss per share is computed by dividing the net loss available to common stockholders for the period by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted net loss per share is computed by dividing net loss available to common stockholders by the weighted average number of common and common equivalent shares outstanding during the period. Common equivalent shares outstanding as of December 31, 2006 and 2005, which consist of options, warrants, convertible notes and convertible preferred stock, have been excluded from the diluted net loss per common share calculations because they are anti-dilutive. Accordingly, diluted net loss per share is the same as basic net loss per share for 2006 and 2005. The following table summarizes the potential common stock shares at December 31, 2006 which may dilute future earning per share.

Convertible preferred stock	497,987
Warrants and options	25,613,757
Convertible debt	8,250,000
	34,361,744

There are 1,332,938 unvested shares of the Company’s common stock related to employment agreements which vested and were issued in January 2006. There are 1,767,500 shares of the Company’s common stock available under the 2005 Equity Incentive Stock Plan.

(R) Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 107, “Disclosures about Fair Value of Financial Instruments,” requires disclosures of information about the fair value of certain financial instruments for which it is practicable to estimate that value. For purposes of this disclosure, the fair value of a financial instrument is the amount at which the instrument could be exchanged in a current transaction between willing parties, other than in a forced sale or liquidation.

OnScreen Technologies, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2006 and 2005

The Company believes the carrying amounts of the short-term financial instruments, including accounts receivable, notes payable and current liabilities reflected in the accompanying balance sheet approximate fair value at December 31, 2006 due to the relatively short-term nature of these instruments.

(S) Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In December 2004, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 123 (revised 2004) ("SFAS 123(R)"), "Share-Based Payment." This statement replaces SFAS No. 123 "Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation," and supersedes APB Opinion No. 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees." SFAS 123(R) will require the fair value of all stock option awards issued to employees to be recorded as an expense over the related vesting period. The statement also requires the recognition of compensation expense for the fair value of any unvested stock option awards outstanding at the date of adoption. The adoption of SFAS 123(R) will impact the Company by requiring it to use the fair-value based method of accounting for future and unvested employee stock transactions rather than the intrinsic method the Company currently uses. The Company adopted this SFAS as of January 1, 2006. The adoption of this SFAS did not have an impact on the Company's financial statement through December 31, 2005, but will increase the cost of equity compensation by $32,756 during 2006 related to 182,500 of its options that were not vested at December 31, 2005 as the options are now valued at fair value instead of the intrinsic value.

In May 2005, the FASB issued SFAS No. 154, "Accounting Changes and Error Corrections" ("SFAS 154"). This statement replaces APB Opinion No. 20 "Accounting Changes" and FASB Statement No. 3 "Reporting Accounting Changes in Interim Financial Statements". SFAS 154 applies to all voluntary changes in accounting principle and to changes required by an accounting pronouncement in the unusual instance that the pronouncement does not include specific transition provisions. SFAS 154 requires retrospective application to prior periods' financial statements of changes in accounting principle, unless it is impracticable to determine either the period-specific effects or the cumulative effect of the change. When it is impracticable to determine the period-specific effects of an accounting change on one or more individual prior periods presented, this SFAS requires that the new accounting principle be applied to the balances of assets and liabilities as of the beginning of the earliest period for which retrospective application is practicable and that a corresponding adjustment be made to the opening balance of equity or net assets for that period rather than being reported in an income statement. When it is impracticable to determine the cumulative effect of applying a change in accounting principle to all prior periods, this SFAS requires that the new accounting principle be applied as if it were adopted prospectively from the earliest date practicable. The Company adopted this SFAS as of January 1, 2006. There is no current impact on the Company's financial statements with the adoption of this FASB.

Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2006 and 2005

SFAS 153: In December 2004, the FASB issued this Statement addresses the measurement of exchanges of nonmonetary assets and is effective for nonmonetary asset exchanges occurring in fiscal years beginning after June 15, 2005. The adoption of SFAS 153 has not had a material effect on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

FASB Statement No. 156, "Accounting for Servicing of Financial Assets—an amendment of FASB Statement No. 140" (FASB Statement No. 156"): In March 2006, the FASB issued No. 156 which amends FASB Statement No. 140, Accounting for Transfers and Servicing of Financial Assets and Extinguishments of Liabilities, with respect to the accounting for separately recognized servicing assets and servicing liabilities. FASB No. 156 is effective for years beginning after September 15, 2006. The Company does not believe FASB No. 156 will have a material effect on the Company's financial statements.

FASB Interpretation No. 48, "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes — an interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109" ("FIN 48"): In June 2006, the FASB issued this statement which clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in an enterprise's financial statements in accordance with SFAS No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes." FIN 48 prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. FIN 48, which is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2006, also provides guidance on derecognition, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, disclosure, and transition. The Company plans on reviewing in detail its tax situation to determine whether there are any uncertain tax positions but does not presently believe that there are any material matters.

Statement No. 157, "Fair Value Measurements" ("FASB No. 157"): In September 2006, the FASB issued FASB No. 157 which defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value in generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. FASB No. 157 applies under other accounting pronouncements that require or permit fair value measurements, the FASB having previously concluded in those accounting pronouncements that fair value is the relevant measurement attribute. Accordingly, this Statement does not require any new fair value measurements.

Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 108, Considering the Effects of Prior Year Misstatements when Quantifying Misstatements in Current Year Financial Statements ("SAB 108"): In September 2006, the Securities and Exchange Commission issued. SAB 108 which provides guidance on consideration of the effects of prior year misstatements in quantifying current year misstatements for the purpose of a materiality assessment. SAB 108 is effective for fiscal years ending after November 15, 2006. The adoption of SAB 108 did not have an impact on our financial statements.

FASB Staff Position EITF 00-19-2, Accounting for Registration Payment Arrangements ("FSP EITF 00-19-2"): In December 2006, the FASB issued. FSP EITF 00-19-2 which specifies that the contingent obligation to make future payments or otherwise transfer consideration under a registration payment arrangement, whether issued as a separate agreement or included as a provision of a financial instrument or other agreement, should be separately recognized and measured in accordance with FASB Statement No. 5, Accounting for Contingencies. A registration payment arrangement is defined in FSP EITF 00-19-2 as an arrangement with both of the following characteristics: (1) the arrangement specifies that the issuer will endeavor (a) to file a registration statement for the resale of specified financial instruments and/or for the resale of equity shares that are issuable upon exercise or conversion of specified financial instruments and for that registration statement to be declared effective by the US SEC within a specified grace period, and/or (b) to maintain the effectiveness of the registration statement for a specified period of time (or in perpetuity); and (2) the arrangement requires the issuer to transfer consideration to the counterparty if the registration statement for the resale of the financial instrument or instruments subject to the arrangement is not declared effective or if effectiveness of the registration statement is not maintained. FSP EITF 00-19-2 is effective for registration payment arrangements and the financial instruments subject to those arrangements that are entered into or modified subsequent to December 31, 2006. For registration payment arrangements and financial instruments subject to those arrangements that were entered into prior to the issuance of FSP EITF 00-19-2, this guidance is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2006, and interim periods within those fiscal years. We do not expect the adoption of FSP EITF 00-19-2 to have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

SFAS 159 will be effective for us on January 1, 2008. We are currently evaluating the impact of adopting SFAS 159 on our financial position, cash flows, and results of operations.

Note 4 Technology Rights and License and Royalty agreements

The Company, under a license agreement, obtained an exclusive license in a patent for the manufacture, sale, and marketing of direct view video displays with an angular dimension of greater than 30 inches. Prior to 2005, the Company recorded a technology right intangible asset for the $522,500 it paid for these rights.

Effective March 24, 2006, the Company purchased from CH Capital, Inc. all right, title and interest in and to the WayCool technology, patent application and Letters Patent. CH Capital, Inc. is a related party controlled by a director and an officer of the Company. To acquire this technology, the Company paid $800,000 to CH Capital, Inc. and agreed to issue CH Capital, Inc. a three year warrant to acquire up to 7,040,485 shares of common stock at $0.20 per share. The warrant is valued at $3,520,243 using the Black Scholes option pricing model. The technology rights are amortized over the twenty-year estimated life of the technology. During March 2005, the Company executed a $1.5 million unsecured six-month promissory note with a related party. The interest rate was 15% per annum. Interest only payments are due monthly until maturity of the note when the principal is due. One of the Company's Board of Directors and another officer of the Company both have a controlling interest in the company that is the note holder. The Company paid a $2,500 fee to extend this note to November 1, 2005. On October 31, 2005, substitute convertible promissory notes totaling $1.5 million were executed with terms similar to the convertible promissory notes the Company had outstanding (see below) with $1 million assigned to the adult brother of a related party (who management does not consider to be a related party), $100,000 assigned to a trust controlled by a member of our Board of Directors and $400,000 assigned to unrelated parties.

OnScreen Technologies, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2006 and 2005

During the third and fourth quarters of 2005, the Company executed three-month convertible promissory notes totaling $3.5 million. One of the note holders is the CFO who has a $100,000 note with the same terms as the other note holders. The Company has the option to extend these notes for an additional three-month period. The Company has verbally extended those notes that came due and intends to extend the remaining notes. The interest rate is 12% per annum. Interest only payments are due monthly until the maturity of these notes at which time the principal is due. If the notes are paid prior to the maturity date or the extended maturity date, the Company is required to pay the interest for the entire three-month periods. The note holders have the right to convert their notes to common stock at the lower of the exercise price of $0.25 per share or the price set for a future equity offering. At December 31, 2005, the price for an equity offering was not set, therefore the conversion price was $0.25.

The holders of the convertible notes have a security interest to the extent of their principal and interest in all assets currently owned by the Company including the patent portfolio.

In total, the Company issued convertible notes totaling $5 million. All convertible notes were reviewed by management to determine if the embedded conversion rights qualified as derivatives under FASB Statement 133 "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities" and related interpretations. Management determined the embedded conversion features were not derivatives and accordingly each convertible instrument is reflected as one combined instrument in the accompanying financial statements. Management then reviewed whether a beneficial conversion feature and value existed. The intrinsic value related to the convertible feature of the debt was valued at $1,778,436 and is being amortized over the three-month term of the notes. At December 31, 2005, $270,163 remained on the Company's Balance Sheet as a discount to debt related to this convertible feature. The Company issued 800,000 shares of its common stock to several note holders who were eligible to receive 100,000 shares of common stock based upon a $500,000 investment. These shares were valued at $215,275 based upon the allocation of the $4,000,000 proceeds to debt and equity based upon their fair market values. At December 31, 2005, $47,067 remained on the Company's Balance Sheet as a discount to debt related to the allocation of the proceeds to the 800,000 shares of common stock.

On January 30, 2006, the Company entered into a non-convertible promissory note with a vendor for $375,475. The payment terms were $50,000 every two weeks for a total of seven payments and an eighth payment of $25,475 on May 12, 2006. At June 30, 2006, this note has been paid off.

For $200,000 of notes, the note holders had the right to convert the note to common stock at the lower of the exercise price of $0.25 per share or the price set for the equity round. For the $5.1 million of notes, the shares will convert to common stock if the Company's bid price reaches or exceeds $0.35 of five consecutive days, then the notes will convert at $0.25 per share or the note holder could elect at any time to convert the note at $0.25 per share to common stock shares. The beneficial conversion intrinsic value related to the convertible feature of the debt was valued at $814,237 and was amortized over the three- to six-month term of the notes. For each note, the note holder received a warrant of one share of common stock for each $1 of note principal. The proceeds of the note were allocated to the note and warrants based upon the fair market value of each. This resulted in a discount on notes of $897,061 relating to the warrants which was amortized over the three- to six-month term of the notes. Interest only payments are due monthly until the maturity of this note at which time the principal is due. If the note is paid prior to the maturity date or the extended maturity date, the Company is required to pay the interest for the entire three- or six-month periods. The holders of the convertible notes have a security interest to the extent of their principal and interest in all assets currently owned by the Company including the patent portfolio.

SFAS 123(R) requires the fair value of all stock-based employee compensation awarded to employees to be recorded as an expense over the related vesting period. The statement also requires the recognition of compensation expense for the fair value of any unvested stock option awards outstanding at the date of adoption. During 2006, all employee stock compensation is recorded at fair value using the Black Scholes Pricing Model. In adopting SFAS 123(R), the Company used the modified prospective application ("MPA"). The fair value for these awards is determined based on the grant-date. As of January 1, 2006, accrued compensation payable in common stock of $469,112 previously classified as a liability was reclassified as equity due to the implementation of SFAS 123(R).

The Plan also provides for the issuance of Non Statutory Options (NSO's) to any employee who has been employed by the Company for a continuous period of at least six months, any director, or consultant to the Company. The Company may also issue reload options as defined in the plan. The total number of common shares of common stock authorized and reserved for issuance under the Plan is 600,000 shares. The Board shall determine the exercise price per share in the case of an ISO at the time an option is granted and such price shall be not less than the fair market value or 110% of fair market value in the case of a ten percent or greater stockholder. In the case of an NSO, the exercise price shall not be less than the fair market value of one share of stock on the date the option is granted. Unless otherwise determined by the Board, ISO's and NSO's granted under the Plan have a maximum duration of 10 years.

NOTE 8 DERIVATIVE AND OTHER FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

On January 1, 2006, the Company implemented SFAS No. 155, "Accounting for Certain Hybrid Financial Instruments". This statement allows the Company to elect fair value measurement of hybrid financial instruments on an instrument-by-instrument basis in cases in which a derivative would otherwise have to be bifurcated.

The Company does not use derivative financial instruments to hedge exposures to cash flow or market risks. However the promissory note entered into during the second quarter with a shareholder had an embedded conversion option to purchase the Company's stock, with the number of shares indexed to the Company's future stock price. Accordingly, the embedded conversion option qualified during the second quarter of 2006 as a derivative. This promissory note was amended on September 28, 2006 to include a conversion to equity floor price per share of $0.20 resulting in the promissory note no longer qualifying as a derivative financial instrument.

If any of the derivatives could potentially result in the Company's having indeterminable shares (i.e. from a conversion price that is indexed to the Company's stock price), then, per the Emerging Issues Task Force ("EITF") 00-19 Accounting for Derivative Financial Instruments Indexed to and Potentially Settled in, a Company's own Stock the Company is required to classify all outstanding non-employee warrants or options at fair value as a derivative liability. The initial entry to record the derivative liability for these outstanding warrants is a reclassification from additional paid-in-capital of the fair value of the warrants as of the reclassification date (May 15, 2006). The reclassification value was $9,442,121 at May 15, 2006. During the period of derivative classification certain warrants were exercised resulting in a reclassification of $55,000 from liability to equity. At each subsequent reporting period, the Company continues to record these instruments at fair value as a derivative liability with any difference recorded as a change in the fair value of warrant liability under other income or expense in the Statement of Operations until such time as the Company no longer has an instrument with indeterminate shares. As of the nine months ended September 30, 2006, the Company no longer had any instruments with indeterminate shares. For the year ended December 31, 2006, a change in the fair value of warrant liability under other income and expense of $3,718,543 was recorded for derivative liabilities. As of September 28, 2006 the balance of the warrant liability of $5,668,578 was reclassified to equity. The fair value was computed at June 30 2006 and at September 28, 2006 using the Black-Scholes option pricing model with the following assumptions:

	June 30, 2006	September 28, 2006
Expected Volatility (based on historical volatility)	120.7%	122.7%
Expected Term (based on weighted average contractual term of warrants)	2.5 years	2.5 years

During March 2006, the bid price of the Company's stock exceeded $0.35 per share for five consecutive days and the notes of the director totaling $1,100,000 were converted into 4,400,000 shares of common stock and the note of the director totaling $250,000 was converted into 1,000,000 shares of common stock.

Effective March 24, 2006, the Company purchased from CH Capital, Inc. all right, title and interest in and to the WayCool technology, patent application and Letters Patent. CH Capital, Inc. is a related party controlled by a director and an officer of the Company. To acquire this technology, the Company paid $800,000 to CH Capital, Inc. and agreed to issue CH Capital, Inc. a three year warrant to acquire up to 7,040,485 shares of common stock at $0.20 per share. The warrant is valued at $3,520,243 (see Note 4)

On August 28, 2006 the Company entered into a one-month promissory note for $150,000 with John P. Rouse who is a Board of Director of the Company. Interest on this note accrued at the rate of 12%. On September 28, 2006 the promissory note was extended an additional 30 days with both principal and accrued interest for two months due October 28, 2006. On November 2, 2006 the Company paid the remaining principal and interest due of $153,200 on the promissory note.

Note 10 Income Taxes

The Company recognized losses for both financial and tax reporting purposes during each of the periods in the accompanying statements of operations. Accordingly, no provision for income taxes and/or deferred income taxes payable has been provided for in the accompanying financial statements.

At December 31, 2006, the Company has available net operating loss carry forwards of approximately $27 million. These net operating loss carry forwards expire in various years through the year ending December 31, 2026; however, because the Company has incurred significant operating losses, utilization of the income tax loss carry forwards are not assured. As a result, the non-current deferred income tax asset arising from these net operating loss carry forwards and from other temporary differences are not recorded in the accompanying balance sheets because we established a valuation allowance to fully reserve such assets due to the uncertainty of the Company's realization of this benefit.

After consideration of all the evidence management has determined that a full valuation allowance is necessary to reduce the deferred tax assets to the amount that will more likely than not be realized.

ONSCREEN TECHNOLOGIES, INC.

NOTES TO THE CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)

NOTE 1 BASIS OF PRESENTATION AND GOING CONCERN

OnScreen Technologies, Inc. (sometimes hereafter referred to as “OnScreen™” or “the Company”) has developed and is commercializing innovative thermal management solutions capable of revolutionizing the LED display, semiconductor and electronic packaging industries. Utilizing its patent-pending thermal technologies and architecture, the Company has developed advanced, proprietary LED display solutions and cooling applications. The Company is primarily focused on commercialization of its innovative thermal cooling technology, WayCool, and the commercial adoption of its sign display platform product under the names RediAlert™ and Living Window™. Additionally, the Company is continuing efforts towards development and commercialization of its Tensile technology.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on the assumption that the Company will continue as a going concern. As reflected in the accompanying financial statements, the Company has a net loss of $974,751 and cash used in operations of $724,080 for the three months ended March 31, 2007. The ability of the Company to continue as a going concern is dependent on the Company's ability to bring the OnScreen™ products to market, generate increased sales, obtain positive cash flow from operations and raise additional capital. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that may result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

The Company is continuing to raise additional capital for the commercialization of its OnScreen™ technology product lines which the Company believes should provide sufficient cash to meet its funding requirements to bring the OnScreen™ technology product lines into production during 2007. As the Company continues to expand and develop its technology and product lines, additional funding may be required. The Company has experienced negative cash flows from operations and incurred net losses in the past and there can be no assurance as to the availability or terms upon which additional financing and capital might be available, if needed.

The accompanying unaudited financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America and the rules and regulations of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission for interim financial information which includes condensed financial statements. Accordingly, they do not include all the information and footnotes necessary for a comprehensive presentation of financial position and results of operations and should be read in conjunction with the Company's Annual Report, Form 10-KSB for the year ended December 31, 2006.

It is management's opinion that all material adjustments (consisting of normal recurring adjustments) have been made which are necessary for a fair financial statement presentation. The results for the interim period are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the year.

NOTE 2 USE OF ESTIMATES

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Significant estimates in 2007 and 2006 include estimates used to review the Company's long-lived assets for impairment, inventory valuation, valuations of non-cash capital stock issuances, valuations of derivatives and the valuation allowance on deferred tax assets.

NOTE 3 LOSS PER COMMON SHARE

Common stock equivalents in the three-month periods ended March 31, 2007 and 2006 were anti-dilutive due to the net losses sustained by the Company during these periods, thus the diluted weighted average common shares outstanding in these periods are the same as the basic weighted average common shares outstanding.

At March 31, 2007, 33,862,096 potential common stock shares are issuable upon the exercise of warrants and options and conversion of debt to common stock. These are excluded from computing the diluted net loss per share as the effect of such shares would be anti-dilutive.

NOTE 4 INCOME TAXES

The Company has not recognized an income tax benefit for its operating losses generated in the three-month periods ended March 31, 2007 and 2006 based on uncertainties concerning its ability to generate taxable income in future periods. The tax benefits for the three-month periods ended March 31, 2007 and 2006 is offset by a valuation allowance established against deferred tax assets arising from operating losses and other temporary differences, the realization of which could not be considered more likely than not. In future periods, tax benefits and related deferred tax assets will be recognized when management considers realization of such amounts to be more likely than not.

NOTE 5 STOCK-BASED EMPLOYEE COMPENSATION

On January 1, 2006, the Company implemented Statement of Financial Accounting Standard 123 (revised 2004) ("SFAS 123(R)"), "Share-Based Payment" which replaced SFAS 123 "Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation" and superseded APB Opinion No. 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees." SFAS 123(R) requires the fair value of all stock-based employee compensation awarded to employees to be recorded as an expense over the related vesting period. The statement also requires the recognition of compensation expense for the fair value of any unvested stock option awards outstanding at the date of adoption. During 2006, all employee stock compensation is recorded at fair value using the Black Scholes Pricing Model. In adopting SFAS 123(R), the Company used the modified prospective application ("MPA"). MPA requires the Company to account for all new stock compensation to employees using fair value and for any portion of awards prior to January 1, 2006 for which the requisite service has not been rendered and the options remain outstanding as of January 1, 2006, the Company recognized the compensation cost for that portion of the award the requisite service was rendered on or after January 1, 2006. The fair value for these awards is determined based on the grant-date.

On August 25, 2005, the Board of Directors approved the 2005 Equity Incentive Plan ("2005 Plan") for 2,000,000 shares of the Company's common stock. The 2005 Plan provides for the issuance of stock options to attract, retain and motivate employees, to encourage employees, directors and independent contractors to acquire an equity interest in the Company, to make monetary payments to certain employees based upon the value of the Company's stock and provide employees, directors and independent contractors with an incentive to maximize the success of the Company and to further the interest of the shareholders. The 2005 Plan provides for the issuance of Incentive Stock Options and Non Statutory Options. The Administrator of the plan shall determine the exercise price per share at the time an option is granted but the exercise price shall not be less than the fair market value on the date the options is granted. Stock options granted under the 2005 Plan have a maximum duration of 10 years.

On June 26, 2000, the Company's Board of Directors adopted the OnScreen Technologies, Inc. 2000 Stock Option Plan (the "Plan"). The Plan provides for the issuance of incentive stock options (ISO's) to any individual who has been employed by the Company for a continuous period of at least six months. The Plan also provides for the issuance of Non Statutory Options (NSO's) to any employee who has been employed by the Company for a continuous period of at least six months, any director, or consultant to the Company. The Company may also issue reload options as defined in the plan. The total number of common shares of common stock authorized and reserved for issuance under the Plan is 600,000 shares. The Board shall determine the exercise price per share in the case of an ISO at the time an option is granted and such price shall be not less than the fair market value or 110% of fair market value in the case of a ten percent or greater stockholder. In the case of an NSO, the exercise price shall not be less than the fair market value of one share of stock on the date the option is granted. Unless otherwise determined by the Board, ISO's and NSO's granted under the Plan have a maximum duration of 10 years.

The following information is presented for the non-vested stock options for the three months ended March 31, 2007:

	Number of Shares	Weighted Avg. Grant-date Fair Value
Non-vested stock options at December 31, 2006	485,000	$ 0.45
Granted during the period	-	-
Vested during the period	(10,000)	$ 0.30
Forfeited during period	(425,000)
Non-vested stock options at March 31, 2007	50,000	$ 0.36

The following information is presented for the stock option activity for the three months ended March 31, 2007:

	# of shares	Weighted Average Exercise Price	Weighted Average Remaining Contract Life	Aggregate Intrinsic Value
Outstanding at December 31, 2006:	5,463,500	$ 0.14
Forfeited	(572,500)	$ 0.16
Granted	-	$ 0.00
Outstanding at March 31, 2007	4,891,000	$ 0.13	3.2 years	$ 16,790
Outstanding exercisable at March 31, 2007	4,841,000	$ 0.13	3.2 years	$ 16,790

The fair value of each stock option is estimated on the date of grant using a Black Scholes Pricing Model. The fair value of options granted during 2006 was estimated using the following approximate assumptions: dividend yield of 0%, expected volatilities of 130% -202%, risk-free interest rates of 4.4% - 4.8%, and expected lives of 3 - 5 years. There have been no options granted during 2007.

In accordance with SFAS 123(R), during the three months ended March 31, 2007, the Company recognized compensation expense of $3,292 for the fair value of stock options over the vesting period. Due to the Company's net loss position, there was no tax effect recognized.

At March 31, 2007, the Company has $9,739 of unrecognized compensation costs related to non-vested awards and the Company expects to recognize this expense by the end of 2007.

PART IIINFORMATION NOT REQUIRED IN PROSPECTUS*Indemnification of Directors and Officers

The Colorado General Corporation Act provides that each existing or former director and officer of a corporation may be indemnified in certain instances against certain liabilities which he or she may incur, inclusive of fees, costs and other expenses incurred in connection with such defense, by virtue of his or her relationship with the corporation or with another entity to the extent that such latter relationship shall have been undertaken at the request of the corporation; and may have advanced such expenses incurred in defending against such liabilities upon undertaking to repay the same in the event an ultimate determination is made denying entitlement to indemnification. The Company's bylaws incorporate the statutory form of indemnification by specific reference.

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities may be invoked to disclaim liability for damages arising under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or the Securities Act of 1934 (collectively, the "Acts"), as amended, it is the position of the Securities and Exchange Commission that such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Acts and are therefore, unenforceable.

UNDERTAKINGS

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes:

(1) To file, during any period in which offers or sales are being made, a post-effective amendment to this registration statement to:

(i) Include any Prospectus required by Section 10(a)(3) of the Securities Act;

(ii) Reflect in the Prospectus any facts or events which, individually or together, represent a fundamental change in the information in the registration statement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any increase or decrease in volume of securities offered (if the total dollar value of securities offered would not exceed that which was registered) and any deviation from the low or high end of the estimated maximum offering range may be reflected in the form of Prospectus filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to Rule 424(b) if, in the aggregate, the change in volume and price represents no more than a 20% change in the maximum aggregate offering price set forth in the "Calculation of the Registration Fee" table in the effective registration statement; and

(iii) Include any additional or changed material information on the plan of distribution.

(2) That, for the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, treat each such post-effective amendment as a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of the securities at that time to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

(3) To remove from registration by means of a post-effective amendment any of the securities being registered which remain unsold at the termination of the offering.

(4) For purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, treat the information omitted from the form of Prospectus filed as part of this registration statement in reliance upon Rule 430A, and contained in a form of Prospectus filed by the small business issuer under Rule 424(b)(1) or (4) or 497(h) under the Securities Act as part of this registration statement as of the time the Commission declares it effective.

(5) For determining any liability under the Securities Act, treat each post-effective amendment that contains a form of Prospectus as a new registration statement for the securities offered in the registration statement, and that offering of the securities at the time as the initial bona fide offering of those securities.

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, may be permitted to directors, officers and controlling persons of the Registrant pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise, the Registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the Securities and Exchange Commission such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payment by the Registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer or controlling person of the Registrant in the successful defense of any action, suit or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer or controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the Registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question of whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issue.
