On November 9, 2010, Capstone Turbine Corporation, a Delaware corporation (the “Company”), entered into a Fifth Amendment to its Credit and Security Agreements (the “Fifth Amendment”) with Wells Fargo Bank, National Association (“Wells Fargo”). The Fifth Amendment provides for the release by Wells Fargo of $5,000,000 in restricted cash collateral upon the Company’s satisfaction of certain conditions. The restricted cash is to be released in three tranches: an initial release of $2,500,000, a second release of no more than $1,250,000, and a third release of the remaining cash balance. The Company expects Wells Fargo to release the initial tranche of $2,500,000 immediately and the remaining two tranches in the following two quarters so long as the Company is in compliance with the financial covenants in the Credit and Security Agreements. The foregoing description of the Fifth Amendment does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the Fifth Amendment, which is filed herewith as Exhibit 10 and incorporated herein by this reference.
