Smith & Nephew - Board Appointments

9 February 2006

Smith & Nephew plc (LSE: SN, NYSE: SNN), the global medical technology business, announced today that it has made the following board appointments.

At the completion of his second term as Chairman of Smith & Nephew, Dudley Eustace will be retiring at the Company's Annual General Meeting on 27 April 2006. John Buchanan, who was appointed as Deputy Chairman in February 2005, will take over as Chairman with effect from the end of that meeting.

The Board has also promoted David Illingworth to Chief Operating Officer and appointed him as a Director reporting to Chris O'Donnell, Chief Executive. David will take responsibility for leading the forward growth of Smith & Nephew's four business units; Orthopaedic Reconstruction, Orthopaedic Trauma (including Clinical Therapies), Endoscopy and Advanced Wound Management.

Dudley Eustace, Chairman of Smith & Nephew commenting on these appointments said:

"Smith & Nephew is a great business and I have been proud to have been part of it during its major transition from a healthcare conglomerate to a highly focused global medical technology business. The strategic development of the business and its strong financial performance has materially increased shareholder value. I have a high regard for John Buchanan, and have every confidence that under his Chairmanship the Company will continue to develop strongly."

"The appointment of David Illingworth to the post of Chief Operating Officer increases the capacity of the management as the business moves into its next phase of growth. This will enable Chris O'Donnell as Chief Executive to focus more on strategy and business development. I welcome David to the Board and the additional talent and management strength he brings."

There are no details relating to the appointment of David Illingworth that are required to be disclosed pursuant to paragraph 9.6.13 (1-6) of the Listing Rules.
