Update From George Paz About the Medco Merger

Last week, I had the privilege of spending time in Franklin Lakes, N.J., at the Medco Health Solutions headquarters. A talented group of executives leads Medco and also shares our goal to drive out waste, lower the cost of medications and improve health outcomes.

We're actively preparing for the future integration of the two companies. While there is a long road ahead, we remain on course to complete our merger in the first half of 2012, pending review by the Federal Trade Commission.

We have been meeting with our counterparts at Medco, and we've been very pleased with what we are learning: Medco is truly an innovative organization that is developing novel solutions for clients, doctors and patients. At this point in the process, there are more questions than answers. However, I can confidently say that the combined company will be driven by the same values that brought us here.

When I met with Medco leadership, I wanted to give them a sense of what our company is like and my expectations. The following is what I shared about working at Express Scripts:

Success Is Rewarded. We have a hard-working culture driven by a pay-for-performance philosophy. We have a well-earned reputation for aligning with our clients to ensure they have a high-quality, cost-effective pharmacy benefit. As a result, we make money when we save clients money. When we do this well, we are rewarded.

We Tell It Like It Is. We are straightforward in our communications and committed to being direct, being transparent and operating with unwavering integrity. People may not always like the answers they get, but we believe in honest feedback. That manifests itself in an organization that operates at the highest level of integrity. Our clients expect it, and we demand it of ourselves.

Talent and Passion Win. There is uncertainty that comes with a merger. But let's be certain about one thing in particular: Talented people who align with our business model and bring a passion for helping patients will have a place at Express Scripts.

Let me add one important reminder: Do not lose your focus. The needs of our clients and members continue to be at the top of our list. Thank you for your continued passion and commitment to the business.

As we move forward, you can expect more communication from me and Senior Staff about our thoughts and observations. We'll give you an inside look at the various aspects of the integration and provide opportunities for you to share your questions. All of this information will be published on ESInet and archived on the new Merger News website that can be found at the top of the ESInet home page above the stock ticker.

This is an exciting and historic time for our company. We have a lot of work to do, but we remain confident a combined Express Scripts and Medco can do even more to improve the health of American families.
