1. Notice of Convocation of the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders for the 116th Business Term

To Our Shareholders

We are pleased to present our notice of convocation of the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders for the 116th Business Term (from January 1, 2016 to December 31, 2016).

As for the world economy, 2016 saw only moderate economic recoveries in the U.S. and Europe as well as a continued slowdown of China's economic growth. Additionally, the yen appreciated sharply to the extent that it was as high as 99 yen against the U.S. dollar for a time. Although the U.S. dollar regained some strength following the U.S. presidential election in November, the yen's appreciation for the full year was significant.

Due to this severe business environment, we were unable to prevent a decline in revenue and profit in the 116th Business Term. For the term-end dividend, to realize a stable return and actively return profits to shareholders and in appreciation for the ongoing support of our shareholders, we will propose a distribution of 75.00 yen per share at the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders for the 116th Business Term. As a result, the full-year dividend amount, when combined with the interim dividend (75.00 yen per share), will be 150.00 yen per share, which is the same amount distributed for the 115th Business Term.

Index

Last year, the Canon Group embarked upon a new five-year management plan, Phase V (2016 - 2020) of our Excellent Global Corporation Plan. Under the basic policy of Embracing the challenge of new growth through a grand strategic transformation, the Canon Group is, in addition to the reinforcement of existing businesses, working to develop and strengthen new businesses aiming to achieve growth through the transformation of the business structure. With the recent addition of Toshiba Medical Systems Corporation to the Canon Group, we have succeeded in building a foundation in four new business areas (commercial printing, network cameras, healthcare, and industrial equipment) that we focus particularly on.

While the world economy is expected to pick up at a moderate pace in 2017, uncertainty is increasing and the business environment surrounding the Canon Group will likely continue to be far from reassuring. Despite such conditions, by steadily implementing measures planned under Phase V, the Canon Group will make united efforts to mark this year, which is the 80th anniversary of Canon, as a year in which the Canon Group returns to a path of growth.

We look forward to our shareholders' continued support and encouragement.

BUSINESS REPORT (From January 1, 2016 to December 31, 2016)

1. Current Conditions of the Canon Group

(1) Business Progress and Results

General Business Conditions

The world economy during the current business term (116th Business Term) can be summarized as follows: The U.S. economy continued to recover, but only moderately. While the European economy generally remained firm particularly in Germany, concerns about the UK's decision to exit the EU and the effect of the situation in Syria rose. Meanwhile, economic slowdown in China continued and the challenging economic conditions in other emerging countries such as Russia and Brazil persisted. In the Japanese economy, recoveries in corporate earnings and corporate capital investments have stalled. As for exchange rates, the yen continued to rise from the beginning of the year. Although the yen started to weaken since November, it appreciated significantly against both the U.S. dollar and the euro over the full year as compared with the previous term, which hit our business results severely.

Turning to the overview of each business unit of the Canon Group, in the Office Business Unit, sales of color office multifunction devices (MFDs) and digital production printing systems were strong, but laser printer sales remained subdued due to, among others, the effect of economic downturn in emerging economies. In the Imaging System Business Unit, while new products of interchangeable lens digital cameras received favorable market responses, unit sales of compact digital cameras decreased from the previous term partly due to the effect of the difficulty in the procurement of parts following the

Four New Businesses

Commercial Printing

Network Cameras

Kumamoto Earthquake in addition to the effect of the market that continues to shrink. Unit sales of inkjet printers declined due to the shrinkage of the consumer market. In the Industry and Others Business Unit, demand for organic LED (OLED) panel manufacturing equipment from panel manufacturers expanded on the back of the increasing adoption of OLED panels particularly for smartphones.

As a result, consolidated net sales and income before income taxes for the current business term were 3,401.5 billion yen (down 10.5% from the previous term) and 244.7 billion yen (down 29.6% from the previous term), respectively. Consolidated net income attributable to Canon Inc. was 150.7 billion yen (down 31.6% from the previous term). On a non-consolidated basis, we recorded net sales of 1,764.0 billion yen (down 15.6% from the previous term), ordinary profit of 158.4 billion yen (down 41.3% from the previous term), and net income of 133.1 billion yen (down 37.2% from the previous term).

In the current business term, the Canon Group embarked upon Phase V (2016 - 2020) of our Excellent Global Corporation Plan. As the existing main businesses continue to mature, with a view to renewing growth, the Canon Group will work to transform its business structure through the development and strengthening of new businesses by focusing mainly on commercial printing, network cameras, healthcare, and industrial equipment, which are the areas in which further market growth is expected.

As part of this effort, Canon Inc. (the Company) made Toshiba Medical Systems Corporation, one of the leading companies in the field of medical equipment, a subsidiary in December 2016. In the field of diagnostic imaging systems, Toshiba Medical Systems Corporation has the most extensive product line-up in the industry and maintains a significant lead in the sales of medical X-ray computed tomography (CT) systems in Japan. With the allocation of the management resources of the Canon Group, we aim to expand the healthcare business to the level that is comparable to the leading companies in the world.

Highlights of Consolidated Results

- In the current business term, the world economy as a whole experienced only a moderate recovery due to, among others, the slowdown in emerging economies. In such an environment, despite efforts to promote sales of highly-competitive products, consolidated net sales decreased 10.5% compared with the previous term under the effect of significant appreciation of the yen.
- Although we shifted to high value-added products and promoted group-wide efforts to reduce costs and slash expenses, consolidated net income attributable to Canon Inc. decreased 31.6% from the previous term due to the significant impact of the appreciation of the yen.

Business Conditions by Operations

Office Business Unit

In the office MFDs area, amid the increasingly difficult market environment marked by increased competition from other companies, we worked to improve profitability by focusing on securing customers from which a large printing volume can be expected. As the shift in demand from monochrome machines to color machines progressed further, sales of monochrome machines were weak particularly in Japan. On the other hand, sales of color machines were relatively firm. In particular, the imageRUNNER ADVANCE C5500 series, the newly introduced medium- to high-speed A3 color machines with significant improvements in operability, productivity, and image quality, received favorable market responses. In addition, the imageRUNNER ADVANCE C3300 series launched in the previous term delivered strong results particularly in China.

In the area of digital production printing systems, sales of the imageRUNNER ADVANCE 8500 series grew in the generally shrinking monochrome machine market. Moreover, the imagePRESS C10000VP series of color machines performed well, pushing up unit sales of digital production printing systems as a whole.

As for laser multifunction printers (MFPs) and laser printers, both unit sales and sales revenue declined due to the effect of the shrinking markets in Latin America and other emerging markets, particularly the significant drop in the sales of monochrome machines.

As for business-use high speed printers manufactured by Océ, sales of sheet-fed inkjet press, the Océ VarioPrint i300, were firm.

As a result, sales for this business unit decreased by 14.4% on a consolidated basis and by 18.4% on a non-consolidated basis, both in comparison to the previous term.

Imaging System Business Unit

The interchangeable lens digital camera market continued to face a difficult environment. Despite this, we achieved an increase in unit sales and maintained the No. 1 global market share position. This was a result of our efforts to vitalize the market by launching five new models, including the DSLR camera flagship EOS-1D X Mark II, which has been remodeled for the first time in four years, the EOS 5D Mark IV full-frame model targeting advanced amateur markets, and the EOS M5 mirrorless model with a built-in electronic viewfinder (EVF).

As for compact digital cameras, in addition to market contraction, there was difficulty in procuring parts after the Kumamoto Earthquake. Although we posted lower unit sales, we focused on the production and sales of high value-added models, giving priority to profitability.

As for the CINEMA EOS SYSTEM of digital cinema cameras targeting the motion picture production industry, we launched a flagship model, the EOS C700, to respond to the broad needs of professional users.

As for broadcast equipment, demand for models suitable for live sports broadcasting and demand in China and certain other countries for high-definition equipment continued to be strong. While inquiries about our studio zoom lens for 4K broadcast cameras employing 2/3 inch sensors increased in Europe and Asia, the COMPACT-SERVO lens product for large-sensor cameras received favorable market responses globally.

In the area of inkjet printers, while the consumer market generally continues to shrink, models with large-capacity ink tanks enjoyed favorable market responses in emerging economies in Asia and elsewhere. Although home-use models launched in fall that have been remodeled in a compact and stylish design performed well particularly in the Japanese market, unit sales of inkjet printers as a whole decreased from the previous term.

As for large-format inkjet printers, we achieved strong sales of the imagePROGRAF PRO series, new products launched in the first half of the current business term for use in the fields of professional photography and graphic art.

As a result, sales for this business unit decreased by 13.3% on a consolidated basis and by 13.6% on a non-consolidated basis, both in comparison to the previous term.

Industry and Others Business Unit

In the area of semiconductor lithography equipment, although we focused on selling, among others, the FPA-5550iZ, a long-selling i-line tool known for stable quality and operation, and the FPA-6300ES6a, a model boasting the industry's highest level of performance, unit sales decreased from the previous term due to the effect of changes in capital investment demand for memories for mobile devices.

As for FPD lithography equipment, supported by the increase in demand for high-resolution OLED panels that are used in mobile devices, unit sales of lithography equipment for small to mid-sized panels such as the MPAsp-E810 series increased.

As for digital radiography systems, which are used in medical diagnosis, although demand from X-ray system equipment manufacturers increased in China, global unit sales of such systems were almost flat from the previous term partly due to the effect of increased competition.

As for network cameras, in addition to their use in monitoring disasters and crime prevention, there is growing demand to employ them in the areas of marketing and efficiency improvement at production sites. In this environment, through the expansion of our product line-up and the launch of video analysis software, we expanded sales.

Sales of OLED panel manufacturing equipment of Canon Tokki Corporation increased significantly supported by active capital investment by panel manufacturers reflecting mainly the increasing demand for smartphone displays.

As a result, sales for this business unit increased by 11.4% on a consolidated basis and decreased by 5.1% on a non-consolidated basis, both in comparison to the previous term.

(5) Business Challenges and Countermeasures

Although the IMF is projecting a modest pickup in the global economy in 2017, political and economic circumstances are expected to remain highly uncertain.

In the 116th Business Term, the Canon Group, embracing the challenge of realizing new growth through a grand strategic transformation under Phase V of our Excellent Global Corporation Plan, secured the bases for the four B2B spheres thought to be our future major business areas, commercial printing, network cameras, healthcare and industrial equipment. In the 117th Business Term, which will be the second year of Phase V, we will work to expand these new businesses and work to address the following key challenges under the theme Further promoting grand strategic transformation by accelerating reforms.

1. Thoroughly bolster existing business

In order to successfully transform its business structure, we will work to improve profitability by reinforcing the existing businesses that will support this transformation. Specifically, we will accelerate the development of Dantotsu Products, which are products with unique appeal and strengths that realize high profitability thanks to their difficulty to imitate. At the same time, we will advance such initiatives as automation, in-house production, and procurement reform, in order to achieve a cost-of-sales ratio of 45%. Additionally, we will expand its business domains, developing new business models in response to the internet of things (IoT) and cloud environments.

2. Strengthen and grow new businesses and create future businesses

For commercial printing, with the aim of becoming a comprehensive printing company, we will accelerate product development in order to make a full-scale entry into the fast-growing package printing market. Regarding network cameras, we will work to, not only improve image quality, but also increase camera intelligence, by leveraging the image-processing and image-analysis technologies at its disposal in order to create market-specific solutions. As for healthcare, we will formulate new growth strategies, built around Toshiba Medical Systems Corporation, and will exert the Group's comprehensive strength to provide innovative products and high-quality services on a global scale. For industrial equipment, such as semiconductor equipment that utilizes nanoimprint lithography, we will formulate new business strategies foreseeing a fourth industrial revolution driven by artificial intelligence and IoT.

3. Restructure the global sales network

In the B2B sphere, success or failure is determined by the capacity to devise and implement solutions. In addition to training highly skilled sales engineers with a breadth of technical knowledge spanning both hardware and software, we will establish a sales structure with networks that expand to corporations and governments. Additionally, we will formulate global sales strategies that take full advantage of the expansion and development of e-commerce.

4. Strengthen R&D through open innovation

We will move forward with strategic R&D by enhancing R&D efficiency in existing business fields, being selective in investment in promising new fields, and promoting proactive external cooperation. Furthermore, we will accelerate training for software engineers in preparation for advances in technology for artificial intelligence and IoT.

5. Cultivate global human resources and reinvigorate the Canon spirit

The enterprising spirit and the San-ji (Three Selves) Spirit of self-motivation, self-management, and self-awareness, have been basic components of Canon's corporate DNA since its foundation. We are now working to re-instill these values as we promote the development of human resources that are able to exert leadership in a global environment.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

<Notes to Basic Significant Matters Regarding Preparation of Consolidated Financial Statements>

Significant Accounting Policies

1. Group Position

The number of consolidated subsidiaries was 367, and the number of affiliated companies accounted for by the equity method was 9 as of December 31, 2016.

2. Basis of Presentation

The consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (US GAAP) pursuant to the provision of Paragraph 1, Article 120-3 of the Company Accounting Regulations. However, certain disclosures required under US GAAP are omitted pursuant to the provision of the second sentence, Paragraph 1, Article 120, as applied mutatis mutandis pursuant to Paragraph 3, Article 120-3.

3. Cash Equivalents

All highly liquid investments acquired with an original maturity of three months or less are considered to be cash equivalents.

4. Translation of Foreign Currencies

Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the rate of exchange in effect at the balance sheet date. Exchange differences are charged or credited to income. Assets and liabilities of subsidiaries located outside Japan are translated into Japanese yen at the rates of exchange in effect at the balance sheet date and income and expense items are translated at the average exchange rates prevailing during the year. The resulting translation adjustments are reported in other comprehensive income (loss).

5. Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or net realizable value. Cost is determined by the average method for domestic inventories and principally the first-in, first-out method for overseas inventories.

6. Investments

Canon accounts for its debt and marketable equity securities as follows. Available-for-sale securities are recorded at fair value. Unrealized holding gains and losses, net of the related tax effect, on available for-sale securities are excluded from earnings and are reported in other comprehensive income (loss) until realized. Realized gain and losses are determined on the average cost method.

7. Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment are depreciated principally by the declining-balance method.

8. Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets

Goodwill and other intangible assets with indefinite useful lives are not amortized, but are instead tested for impairment at least annually in the fourth quarter of each year, or more frequently if indicators of potential impairment exist. Intangible assets with finite useful lives are amortized over the respective estimated useful lives. Software, patents and developed technology, and customer relationships are amortized using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives, which range primarily from 3 years to 5 years for software, 7 years to 17 years for patents and developed technology and 11 years to 20 years for customer relationships.

9. Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

Long-lived assets, such as property, plant and equipment, and acquired intangibles subject to amortization, are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. If the carrying amount of the asset exceeds its estimated undiscounted future cash flows, an impairment charge is recognized in the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset exceeds the fair value of the asset.

10. Basis of Recording Allowances

(Allowance for doubtful receivables)

An allowance for doubtful receivables is provided based on credit loss history and an evaluation of any specific doubtful receivables.

(Accrued pension and severance cost)

Pension and severance cost is accrued based on the projected benefit obligations and the fair value of plan assets at the balance sheet date. Unrecognized actuarial loss is recognized by amortizing a portion in excess of a corridor (i.e., 10% of the greater of the projected benefit obligations or the fair value of plan assets) using the straight-line method over the average remaining service period of employees. Unrecognized prior service cost or credit is amortized using the straight-line method over the average remaining service period of employees.

11. Taxes collected from customers

Taxes collected from customers and remitted to governmental authorities are excluded from revenues, cost and expenses in consolidated statements of income.

12. Stock-Based Compensation

Canon measures stock-based compensation cost at the grant date, based on the fair value of the award, and recognizes the cost on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period.

13. Net Income Attributable to Canon Inc. Shareholders Per Share

Basic net income attributable to Canon Inc. shareholders per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during each year. Diluted net income attributable to Canon Inc. shareholders per share includes the effect from potential issuance of common stock based on the assumption that all stock options were exercised.

14. Recently Issued Accounting Guidance

In November 2015, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued an amendment which requires deferred tax assets and liabilities be classified as noncurrent in the consolidated balance sheets. Canon early adopted this amended guidance from 2016, on a prospective basis, and prior periods were not retrospectively adjusted. Canon's current deferred tax assets were 55,108 million yen and current deferred tax liabilities were 2,682 million yen as of December 31, 2015.

<Notes to Financial Instruments>

1. Status of Financial Instruments

Canon invests in highly safe and short-term financial instruments.

Canon has certain financial instruments such as trade receivables and securities. Canon reduces the customer credit risk related to trade receivables in accordance with its credit management policy. At December 31, 2016, a major customer accounted for approximately 12% of consolidated trade receivables. Securities consist primarily of equity securities of the companies with which Canon has a business relationship. Derivative financial instruments are comprised principally of foreign exchange contracts to reduce the risk. Canon does not hold or issue derivative financial instruments for trading and speculative purposes.

2. Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The estimated fair values of Canon's financial instruments as of December 31, 2016 are set forth below. The following summary excludes cash and cash equivalents, trade receivables, finance receivables, noncurrent receivables, short-term loans, trade payables and accrued expenses for which fair values approximate their carrying amounts. The following summary excludes non-marketable equity securities accounted for under the cost method (balance sheet amount 7,800 million yen) as it was not practicable to estimate the fair value of such investments.

(Millions of yen)

	Carrying amount	Estimated fair value	Difference
Available-for-sale securities	43,028	43,028	-
Long-term debt, including current portion	(612,538)	(612,668)	(130)
Foreign exchange contracts:
Assets	586	586	-
Liabilities	(9,392)	(9,392)	-

The following methods and assumptions are used to estimate the fair value in the above table.

Available-for-sale securities

Available-for-sale securities are recorded at fair value.

Long-term debt

The fair values of Canon's long-term debt instruments are based on the present value of future cash flows associated with each instrument discounted using current market borrowing rates for similar debt instruments of comparable maturity.

Foreign exchange contracts

The fair values of foreign exchange contracts are measured using quotes obtained from counterparties or third parties, which are periodically validated by pricing models using observable market inputs, such as foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates, based on market approach.

<Note to Business Combination>

As necessary clearance from competition regulatory authorities regarding the acquisition of Toshiba Medical Systems Corporation (TMSC) shares were obtained, Canon exercised the share options acquired for consideration of cash, through a Shares and Other Securities Transfer Agreement concluded with Toshiba Corporation dated March 17, 2016, and acquired all of the shares of TMSC. The acquisition date was December 19, 2016 and the purchase price was 665,498 million yen.

Under Phase V of the Excellent Global Corporation Plan, a five-year initiative that Canon has been implementing since 2016, embracing the challenge of new growth through a grand strategic transformation has been set as a basic policy. With regard to strengthening and growing new businesses, and creating future businesses, a particularly important strategy, Canon intends to develop a health care business within the realm of safety and security, as a next-generation pillar of growth.

Since the acquisition date of TMSC was near the balance sheet date, the allocation of the purchase price to the assets acquired and liabilities assumed was incomplete and provisionally carried out as of December 31, 2016. The preliminary estimated fair values of assets acquired and liabilities assumed at the acquisition date were 227,500 million yen for intangible assets, 237,821 million yen for other assets, and 292,501 million yen for liabilities and noncontrolling interests. The residual amount of 492,678 million yen was recorded as goodwill.

On January 31, 2017, Canon refinanced the borrowing that was provisionally raised in March 2016 for this acquisition with an unsecured loan with a repayment due in December 2021. The loan is 610,000 million yen as of December 31, 2016, and is included in long-term debt in the consolidated balance sheet.

Tsuzuri Project: Donation of 56 Reproductions of Paintings from the Abbot's Chambers of Tenkyuin Temple

The Tsuzuri Project, started by Canon and the non-profit organization Kyoto Culture Association, is a social and cultural support activity that has the dual goal of preserving and displaying cultural assets by producing high-resolution facsimiles through the combination of the latest digital technology and Kyoto's traditional handcrafted art.

The activities for 2016 included donating, in April, high-resolution facsimiles of 22 sliding door paintings located in the Abbot's Chambers of Tenkyuin Temple to the Tenkyuin Temple, a subtemple of Myoshinji Temple in Kyoto. Over a five-year period beginning in 2012, the Tsuzuri Project was involved in the reproduction of kinpeki-ga (landscape paintings made with gold-foil-pressed paper) in the Abbot's Chambers of Tenkyuin. With this year's donation, the reproduction of a total of 56 kinpeki-ga was completed. Going forward, the original cultural assets will be entrusted to the Kyoto National Museum for safekeeping in a controlled environment and the facsimiles are scheduled to be displayed twice a year on special occasions in spring and autumn.

Canon Vietnam and Canon Marketing Vietnam Give Assistance to Typhoon Affected Areas

As support for disaster affected areas in Vietnam, which were hit by flooding due to Typhoon No. 6 (Conson) in August 2016, Canon Vietnam Co., Ltd., and Canon Marketing Vietnam Co., Ltd., in cooperation with other Japanese companies, sent employee volunteers to disaster affected areas in October 2016. The volunteers handed emergency provisions for 600 households, including food, daily essentials and medicines, directly to local residents. In the areas visited, Deputy General Director of Canon Vietnam Co., Ltd., on behalf of the Japanese companies providing assistance, met with locals, introduced Canon's corporate philosophy of kyosei and wished them a full recovery.

The way to receive dividends is shown on the backside of Receipt of Dividend.
