Financial Markets Highlights

March 31, 2018

· Emerging Markets (EM) Debt

Over the 6-month period ended March 31, 2018, U.S. dollar (USD)-denominated EM fixed income sovereign and corporate bonds indices, represented by the JP Morgan Emerging Markets Bond Index (EMBI) Global Diversified and the JP Morgan Corporate Emerging Markets Bond Index (CEMBI) Broad Diversified, respectively, posted modest negative returns. EM debt performance was negative and both the sovereign and corporate Indices widened as concerns about rising global interest rates, heightened trade tensions, and elevated market volatility had offset generally positive economic data. EM high yield credits outperformed their investment grade counterparts over the period.

· Agency Mortgage-Backed Securities (Agency MBS)

For the 6-month period ended March 31, 2018, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. MBS Index returned -1.04%, slightly outperforming both the U.S. Government and Corporate sectors. During this period, yields across the U.S. Treasury (UST) curve increased with 2-year yields increasing by about 78 basis points (bps) and 10-year yields increasing by about 41 bps. Corporate credit spreads widened by about 24 bps from peak-to-trough, largely attributing to the Agency MBS sector's outperformance. Aggregate prepayment activity was unchanged across all three agencies (Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and Ginnie Mae) due to higher mortgage rate levels. Additionally, 30-year mortgage rates (based on Freddie Mac 30-year Commitment Rates) increased by about 61 bps and 15-year mortgage rates (based on Freddie Mac 15-year Commitment Rates) increased by about 74 bps. Consistent with these factors, overall refinancing activity, as measured by the Mortgage Bankers Association (MBA) U.S. Refinancing Index Seasonally-Adjusted, declined by about 20% and overall purchasing activity, as measured by the MBA Purchase Index Seasonally-Adjusted, increased by about 8%. 30-year current coupon spreads against blended 5-year/10-year UST were effectively unchanged over the 6-month period, though we did see some volatility when spreads tightened and then widened in the beginning of the new calendar year. As of March 31, 2018, the duration of the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. MBS Index extended to 5.05 years with a yield of roughly 3.30%.

· Non-Agency Mortgage-Backed Securities (Non-Agency MBS)

For the 6-month period ended March 31, 2018, spreads tightened 30 to 60 bps across the capital stack as the market remained well-bid despite higher volatility. Bid list volumes were approximately $39 billion during the period, with banks and money managers making up a majority of the supply. A turbulent hurricane season led to delinquency spikes across impacted regions, most notably Houston and Puerto Rico. While collateral trends improved in the proceeding months, the impact shed light on catastrophic risks to new issue sectors such as Agency Credit Risk Transfer. There were multiple representation and warranty settlements during the period with JP Morgan and Long Beach/Washington Mutual trusts receiving the most significant payouts of $700 million and $800 million, respectively.

· Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities (CMBS)

For the 6-month period ended March 31, 2018, new issue CMBS spreads were mixed alongside broader credit and equity indices. During the period, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. CMBS Index ERISA Eligible Total Return Value returned -0.97%, outperforming the broader Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index return of -1.08%. While spreads rallied through the fourth quarter 2017, the volatility seen in broader markets throughout the first quarter 2018 furthered spread tiering in the first quarter 2018. The Moody's/RCA Commercial Property Price Index (CPPI) increased by 1.0% on the national level, as compared to 0.5% over the prior reporting period. Despite the increase in CPPI, we see potential headwinds on the horizon due to a pullback in foreign investment, which represents 16% of market share (down from the peak of 18% in 2015), and a slowdown in transaction volume, which fell to its lowest monthly level in nearly five years in February 2018. For the 6-month period, 10-year AAA last cash flows (LCFs) tightened by 4 bps to 82 bps over swaps while BBB- bonds tightened by 35 bps to 330 bps over swaps. $44.5 billion in new issuance priced during the 6-month period as compared to $34.8 billion from October 2016 through March 2017. The Trepp CMBS Delinquency Rate for U.S. Commercial Real Estate loans is now 4.55%, down 85 bps over the 6-month period and 82 bps year-over-year.

· U.S. High Yield (HY)

For the 6-month period ended March 31, 2018, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. High Yield Corporate Index returned -0.39%. Longer-maturity bonds underperformed intermediate ones and bonds with lower credit ratings outperformed those with higher credit ratings, as Ba-rated issues returned -1.22% and B-rated rated issues returned -0.19% while Caa-rated issues returned 1.32%. For the period, notable outperformers by industry included Tobacco, Refining, and Transportation Services. Wireless and Cable & Satellite were underperforming sectors over the period.

March 31, 2018

· Bank Loans

For the 6-month period ended March 31, 2018, the S&P/LSTA Leveraged Loan Index returned 2.58%. There was notable outperformance at the lower end of the credit quality spectrum as risk assets performed well in the period. CCC-rated loans rose 5.7% compared to returns of 2.6% for single-B-rated loans and 2.3% for BB-rated loans. The weighted-average bid price of the Index ended March 2018 at $98.42, up from $97.98 in September 2017. The trailing 12-month default rate (by issuer count) remains low but rose from 1.41% in September 2017 to 1.93% in March 2018.

· Collateralized Loan Obligations (CLOs)

For the 6-month period ended March 31, 2018, CLO issuance totaled $67.66 billion across 121 deals. Typically issuance is slow at the start of the year, but February 2018 had the highest monthly issuance for the period with a total of $15.03 billion across 28 deals. The spike in February issuance has been attributed by many to the ruling by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia that qualifying CLO managers are not subject to the risk retention requirements of the Dodd-Frank Act. This appears to have allowed managers with capital constraints to issue new deals and refinance or reset deals that were not Risk Retention compliant. London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR) rose by almost 100 bps over the period. With a rising LIBOR, spread levels across the capital stack continued to price tighter. While spreads levels continued to go down, all in yield levels ticked up slightly thanks to the increase in LIBOR.

Management's Discussion of Fund Performance

March 31, 2018

For the 6-month period ended March 31, 2018, the DoubleLine Income Solutions Fund on a net asset value basis underperformed the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Bond Index return of 2.45%. Over this time period, the Federal Reserve hiked the Fed Funds Target Rate twice and the UST yield curve flattened with 2-year yields increasing by 0.78%, 10-year yields increasing by about 0.40%, and 30-year yields decreasing by about 0.11%. EM Sovereigns were the worst performing sector in the portfolio as increasing UST yields and spread widening negatively impacted the price of securities in this sector. Agency MBS holdings in the portfolio also lagged the Index over the period as the increase in UST yields negatively impacted the price of longer duration holdings such as inverse floating-rate and inverse interest-only securities. Bank Loans and CLOs were the top performing sectors in the Fund as floating rate assets benefitted from the increase in UST yields over the period. The Fund has historically been managed to a shorter duration versus the Index. As of March 31, 2018 the Index's duration was 7.2 years while the Fund's duration was 5.5 years with a yield-to-maturity of 11.0%, and current gross leverage at 30.1%.

Shares of closed-end investment companies frequently trade at a discount to their net asset value, which may increase investors' risk of loss. There are risks associated with an investment in the Fund. Investors should consider the Fund's investment objective, risks, charges and expenses carefully before investing. An investment in the Fund should not constitute a complete investment program.

The Fund's daily New York Stock Exchange closing prices, net asset values per share, as well as other information are available at http://www.doublelinefunds.com/closed_end_funds/income_solutions/overview.html or by calling the Fund's shareholder servicing agent at (877) 354-6311.

This document is not an offer to sell securities or the solicitation of an offer to buy securities, nor shall there be any sale or offer of these securities, in any jurisdiction where such sale or offer is not permitted.

The Fund's shares are only offered through broker/dealers on the secondary market. Unlike an open-end mutual fund, a closed-end fund offers a fixed number of shares for sale. After the initial public offering, shares are bought and sold in the secondary marketplace, and the market price of the shares is determined by supply and demand, not by net asset value (NAV), often at a lower price than the NAV. A closed-end fund is not required to buy its shares back from investors upon request.

Credit ratings from Moody's Investor Service, Inc. (Moody's) range from the highest rating of Aaa for bonds of the highest quality that offer the lowest degree of investment risk to the lowest rating of C for the lowest rated class of bonds. Credit ratings from S&P Global Ratings (S&P) range from the highest rating of AAA for bonds of the highest quality that offer the lowest degree of investment risk to the lowest rating of D for bonds that are in default. Credit ratings are determined from the highest available credit rating from any Nationally Recognized Statistical Rating Organization (NRSRO). DoubleLine chooses to display credit ratings using S&P's rating convention, although the rating itself might be sourced from another NRSRO. In limited situations when the rating agency has not issued a formal rating, the rating agency will classify the security as nonrated.

Fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible.

Investments in debt securities typically decline in value when interest rates rise. This risk is usually greater for longer-term debt securities. Investments in asset-backed and mortgage-backed securities include additional risks that investors should be aware of including credit risk, prepayment risk, possible illiquidity and default, as well as increased susceptibility to adverse economic developments. The Fund may invest in foreign securities which involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and differences in accounting methods. These risks are greater for investments in emerging markets. Investments in lower rated and non-rated securities present a greater risk of loss to principal and interest than higher rated securities. Investment strategies may not achieve the desired results due to implementation lag, other timing factors, portfolio management decision-making, economic or market conditions or other unanticipated factors.

In addition, the Fund may invest in other asset classes and investments such as, among others, REITs, credit default swaps, short sales, derivatives and smaller companies which include additional risks.

The Fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses must be considered carefully before investing. You can obtain the Fund's most recent periodic reports and certain other regulatory filings by calling 1 (877) 354-6311/ 1 (877) DLINE11, or visiting www.doublelinefunds.com.
