Item 7.01. Regulation FD Disclosure.

On March 2, 2005, Corinthian Colleges, Inc., (the "Company") became aware of a complaint entitled Alan Alvarez et al. v. Rhodes Colleges, Inc., Corinthian Colleges, Inc., and Florida Metropolitan University, Inc., filed in the Circuit Court of the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit of the State of Florida on behalf of Mr. Alvarez and approximately 80 other current or former students at various campuses of the Company's Florida Metropolitan University ("FMU") division. The Plaintiffs allege that FMU failed to disclose that it is not accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and made material misrepresentations with respect to the transferability of FMU credits to other institutions. The Plaintiffs seek recovery of compensatory damages and attorneys fees under Florida's Deceptive and Unfair Trade Practices Act.

As disclosed in the Company's public filings, FMU is accredited by the Accrediting Council for Independent Colleges and Schools ("ACICS"), an accrediting agency recognized by the United States Department of Education as a national accrediting body. ACICS accredits institutions of higher education offering programs of study through the master's degree level. Accreditation information is disclosed to every student in a student disclosure form and in the catalog received upon enrollment. Additionally, every student is informed upon enrollment that transfers of credit are always at the discretion of the receiving institution, and that FMU cannot, therefore, make any predictions or guarantees about whether credits will be transferable to another institution.

Additionally, the written enrollment agreement between FMU and virtually all FMU students enrolled during the last several years provides that all disputes will be resolved through binding arbitration instead of litigation. Accordingly, the Company currently intends to seek to compel the plaintiffs to submit their claims to binding arbitration. The Company believes the complaint is entirely without merit and will vigorously defend itself, Rhodes Colleges, Inc., and FMU against these allegations.
