SUBJECT TO COMPLETION, DATED OCTOBER 1, 2010

PROSPECTUS

DISTRIBUTION REINVESTMENT AND SHARE PURCHASE PLAN 7,000,000 Common Shares of Beneficial Interest

Investors Real Estate Trust's ("IRET") Distribution Reinvestment and Share Purchase Plan (the "plan") provides new investors and existing holders of IRET's common shares of beneficial interest (the "common shares"), and holders of the limited partnership units ("units") of IRET Properties, a North Dakota Limited Partnership, a convenient way to purchase IRET common shares, by permitting participants in the plan to automatically reinvest cash distributions on all or a portion of their common shares and units, and to make monthly voluntary cash contributions under the terms of the plan. Participation in the plan is entirely voluntary, so that shareholders and unitholders may join the plan and terminate their participation in the plan at any time. If you choose not to participate in the plan you will continue to receive cash distributions on your common shares and units when, as and if declared, in the usual manner. Beneficial owners of our common shares whose shares are registered in names other than their own, by brokers, banks or other nominees, may join the plan by having the shares they wish to enroll in the plan transferred to their own names, or by arranging for the holder of record to join the plan.

A summary of the plan is provided in this prospectus in a question and answer format. We encourage you to read it carefully. If you have any additional questions, please call us at (701) 837-4738. We recommend that you retain this prospectus for future reference.

You may purchase common shares under the plan by:

- Having the cash distributions on all or part of your common shares and units automatically reinvested;
- Receiving directly, as usual, cash distributions, if and when declared, on your common shares and units, and investing in the plan by making optional cash payments of $250 to $10,000 per month; or
- Investing both your cash distributions and your voluntary cash contributions.

This prospectus relates to 7,000,000 common shares. This plan amends and restates our prior Distribution Reinvestment and Share Purchase Plan. Current Distribution Reinvestment and Share Purchase Plan participants automatically will continue to participate in the plan.

Common shares purchased for your account under the plan will be issued by us, or purchased from third parties on the open market or in privately negotiated transactions. We may, in our sole discretion, determine the source from which common shares will be purchased under the plan; however, we expect these shares to be primarily shares issued by us. Newly issued common shares generally will be purchased at a discount ("purchase price discount") of 0% to 5% (in our sole discretion) from the market price for our common shares at the time of purchase, and will provide us with additional capital for general corporate purposes.

Common shares purchased for plan accounts through open market or privately negotiated transactions are not eligible for the purchase price discount. The purchase price for common shares acquired for plan accounts through open market or privately negotiated transactions will be equal to the weighted average price (excluding brokerage commissions) of all common shares acquired through open market or privately negotiated transactions during the investment period. Common shares purchased directly from us pursuant to an approved request for waiver as described in this prospectus will be at the volume weighted average price, rounded to four decimal places, of our common shares, as traded on the NASDAQ Global Select Market (“NASDAQ”) only during regular NASDAQ hours on the applicable trading days and may be priced at a discount (“waiver discount”) ranging from 0% to 5%, as described in this prospectus. We may change or eliminate any discount at any time in our sole discretion.

In part so that we can continue to qualify as a “real estate investment trust” (a “REIT”) under the federal income tax laws, our declaration of trust generally does not permit anyone to own more than 9.8% (in value or number of shares, whichever is more restrictive) of our outstanding common shares.

To the extent required by applicable law in any jurisdiction, common shares offered under the plan to persons not presently common shareholders of record are offered only through a registered broker-dealer in such jurisdiction.

Our common shares are listed on the NASDAQ under the symbol “IRET.” The last reported sale price of our common shares on the NASDAQ on August 30, 2010 was $8.11 per share.

Investing in our common shares involves risks. See “Risk Factors” in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended April 30, 2010, which is incorporated by reference herein, our periodic reports and other information that we file with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and “Risk Factors” on page 1 of this prospectus, for certain factors that you should consider before purchasing our common shares.

NEITHER THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION NOR ANY STATE SECURITIES COMMISSION HAS APPROVED OR DISAPPROVED OF THESE SECURITIES OR DETERMINED IF THIS PROSPECTUS IS TRUTHFUL OR COMPLETE. ANY REPRESENTATION TO THE CONTRARY IS A CRIMINAL OFFENSE.

ABOUT THIS PROSPECTUS

This prospectus is part of a registration statement on Form S-3 that we filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (“Securities Act”). This prospectus does not contain all of the information included in the registration statement. For further information, we refer you to the registration statement, including the exhibits. Please read this prospectus carefully, and, if you are a participant in the plan or if you decide to participate in the future, then please keep this prospectus with your permanent investment records, since it contains important information about the plan.

You should rely only on the information contained in or incorporated by reference into this prospectus. We have not authorized anyone to provide you with different information. If anyone provides you with different or inconsistent information, you should not rely on it. This prospectus may only be used where it is legal to sell these securities. You should not assume that the information contained in this prospectus is accurate as of any date later than the date hereof.

IRET

IRET is a self-advised real estate investment trust (“REIT”) that owns and operates commercial office, medical, industrial and retail properties and multi-family residential properties located primarily in the upper Midwest. We began operations in July 1970. We own our properties and conduct our business primarily through our operating partnership, IRET Properties, a North Dakota limited partnership. We are the sole general partner of, and owned as of April 30, 2010, a 78.7% interest in, IRET Properties. As of April 30, 2010, we owned 173 commercial properties with an aggregate of approximately 12.0 million square feet of leasable space, and 78 multi-family residential properties with a total of 9,691 units. Our properties are located in 14 states.

Our principal corporate offices are located at 3015 16th Street SW, Suite 100, Minot, North Dakota 58701. Our telephone number is (701) 837-4738. Our website address is <http://www.iret.com>. The information on or connected to our website is not, and shall not be deemed to be, part of or incorporated into this prospectus.

RISK FACTORS

Investing in our common shares involves risks that could affect us and our business, as well as the real estate industry generally. Please see the risk factors in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended April 30, 2010, which is incorporated by reference into this prospectus, as well as the additional periodic reports we file with the SEC. Much of the business information and financial and operational data contained in our risk factors is updated in our periodic reports, which are also incorporated by reference into this prospectus. We cannot assure you of a profit or protect you against a loss on the common shares that you purchase under the plan.

In addition, there are risks associated with participation in the plan. You will not know the price of the shares you are purchasing under the plan at the time you authorize the investment or elect to have your distributions reinvested. The price of our common shares may fluctuate between the time you decide to purchase shares under the plan and the time of the actual purchase. In addition, during this time period, you may become aware of additional information that might affect your investment decision. If you decide to withdraw from the plan, the market price of our shares may decline between the time you decide to withdraw and the time your shares are transferred or you receive a certificate evidencing your plan shares.

The price of our common shares depends upon many factors, including, but not limited to, our financial condition, performance and prospects; general economic and financial market conditions; changes in estimates and recommendations by analysts; the market for similar securities issued by REITs; and our ability to meet analysts’ estimates. In addition, the market price of our common shares may be affected by future sales of our securities, including additional issuances of common shares and securities convertible into common shares. These factors, among others, could significantly depress the trading price of our common shares. Our ability to pay distributions in the future is subject to many factors, and may be impaired if any of the risks described in this prospectus or incorporated by reference into this prospectus were to occur. In addition, payment of our distributions depends upon our earnings, our financial condition, maintenance of our qualification as a REIT and other factors as our board of trustees may deem relevant from time to time.

This prospectus is part of that registration statement, but does not contain all of the information in the registration statement. We have omitted parts of the registration statement in accordance with the rules and regulations of the SEC. For more information about us and our common shares, you should refer to the registration statement and its exhibits.

INCORPORATION OF CERTAIN INFORMATION BY REFERENCE

A WARNING ABOUT FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Some of the information in this prospectus may contain forward-looking statements as described in Section 27A of the Securities Act and Section 21E of the Exchange Act. You can generally identify forward-looking statements by our use of forward-looking words such as “may,” “will,” “expect,” “intend,” “anticipate,” “estimate,” “believe,” “continue” or other words that describe our expectation for the future. These forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, those regarding possible acquisitions to our portfolio of properties; the sale of properties; the performance of our properties; our ability to enter into agreements with new tenants for vacant space; our occupancy rates; our ability to acquire, develop and manage properties; our tax status as a real estate investment trust; our ability to access capital markets or other sources of funds; our ability to make distributions to shareholders; our policies and plans regarding investments, financings and other matters; and our critical accounting policies.

You should not rely on our forward-looking statements because the matters they describe are subject to known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other unpredictable factors, many of which are beyond our control. These risks and uncertainties, including those described in our filings with the SEC from time to time, could cause our actual results to differ materially from those projected in any forward-looking statement we make. Various factors may cause our expected results to differ materially from our actual results, including, but not limited to, the status of the economy; the state of the capital markets, including availability and cost of capital; competition within the real estate industry; negative developments in the operating results or financial condition of our tenants, including their ability to pay rent; our ability to make new investments as and when anticipated; our ability to re-lease space at similar rates as vacancies occur; environmental laws affecting our properties; and legal and operational matters, including real estate investment trust qualification and key management personnel recruitment and retention. We are not obligated to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events, or otherwise.

RESTRICTIONS ON OWNERSHIP AND TRANSFER

In addition to other qualifications, in order for us to qualify as a REIT, (1) not more than 50% in value of our outstanding capital stock may be owned, actually or constructively, by five or fewer individuals, which the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”) defines to include certain entities, during the last half of our taxable year, and (2) such capital stock must be beneficially owned by 100 or more persons during at least 335 days of a taxable year of 12 months or during a proportionate part of a shorter taxable year.

To ensure that we continue to meet the requirements for qualification as a REIT, among other reasons, our Articles of Amendment and Third Restated Declaration of Trust (“Declaration of Trust”), subject to some exceptions, provides that any transaction that would result in (i) a person owning our shares of beneficial interest (“Shares”) in excess of 9.8%, in number of Shares or value, of our outstanding Shares (the “Ownership Limit”), (ii) our Shares being beneficially owned by fewer than 100 persons, (iii) our being “closely held” within the meaning of Section 856(h) of the Code, (iv) 50.0% or more of the fair market value of our outstanding Shares being held by persons other than United States persons, as defined in Section 7701(a)(30) of the Code (“Non-U.S. Persons”), or (v) our disqualification as a REIT under Section 856 of the Code, will be void ab initio and the intended transferee will acquire no rights in the Shares. If, notwithstanding the provisions discussed above, any transaction that would result in any of (i) through (v) above is not void ab initio, then the Shares in excess of the Ownership Limit, that cause us to be “closely held,” that result in 50.0% or more of the fair market value of our Shares to be held by Non-U.S. Persons or that result in our disqualification as a REIT, will automatically be exchanged for an equal number of “Excess Shares,” and these Excess Shares will be transferred to an “Excess Share Trustee” for the exclusive benefit of the charitable beneficiaries named by our Board of Trustees.

In such event, any dividends on Excess Shares will be paid to the Excess Share Trust for the benefit of the charitable beneficiaries. The Excess Share Trustee will be entitled to vote the Excess Shares, if applicable, on any matter. The Excess Share Trustee may only transfer the Excess Shares held in the Excess Share Trust as follows: (i) at the direction of our Board of Trustees to a person whose ownership of our Shares would not violate the Ownership Limit; (ii) if Shares were transferred to the Excess Share Trustee due to a transaction or event that would have caused a violation of the Ownership Limit or would have caused us to be “closely held,” the Excess Share Trustee will transfer the Excess Shares to the person who makes the highest offer for the Excess Shares, pays the purchase price and whose ownership will not violate the Ownership Limit or cause us to be “closely held”; and (iii) if Excess Shares were transferred to the Excess Share Trustee due to a transaction or event that would have caused Non-U.S. Persons to own more than 50% of the value of our Shares, the Excess Share Trustee will transfer the Excess Shares to the United States person who makes the highest offer for the Excess Shares, pays the purchase price and whose ownership will not violate the Ownership Limit or cause us to be “closely held.”

When the Excess Share Trustee makes any transfer, the person whose shares were exchanged for Excess Shares (the “Purported Record Transferee”) will receive (i) the lesser of (A) the price paid by the Purported Record Transferee, or if the Purported Record Transferee did not give value for the Shares, the market price of the Shares on the day the Shares were exchanged for Excess Shares, and (B) the price received by the Excess Share Trust for the Shares, minus (ii) any dividends received by the Purported Record Transferee that the Purported Record Transferee was under an obligation to pay over to the Excess Share Trustee but has not repaid at the time of the distribution of proceeds, and minus (iii) any compensation for or expense of the Excess Share Trustee.

The preceding description of the restrictions on ownership and transfer of our shares of beneficial interest is only a summary. For a complete description, we refer you to our Declaration of Trust and Bylaws and any amendments thereto. We have incorporated by reference our Declaration of Trust and Bylaws as exhibits to the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part.

DESCRIPTION OF THE DISTRIBUTION REINVESTMENT AND SHARE PURCHASE PLAN

The following questions and answers constitute our plan. You should read this prospectus carefully before electing to participate in the plan and retain it for future reference.

Purpose and Participation

1. What is the purpose of the plan?

The purpose of the plan is to provide a convenient and economical way to purchase our common shares and to reinvest cash distributions paid on our common shares and units. Under the plan, common shares that are acquired for your account directly from us as newly issued common shares with reinvested distributions and/or voluntary cash contributions may be issued at a discount from the market price for our common shares at the time of purchase ranging from 0% to 5%. Common shares acquired with reinvested distributions and/or voluntary cash contributions through open market or privately negotiated transactions will not be eligible for a purchase price discount and will be priced at the weighted average cost (excluding brokerage commissions) of all common shares acquired through open market or privately negotiated transactions on the Distribution Payment Date and/or during the Investment Period, as applicable. For a more extensive discussion regarding discounts and pricing of shares purchased under the plan for your account, see Questions 14-20.

The plan is primarily intended to benefit long-term investors who want to increase their investment in our common shares by investing all or a portion of their cash distributions in additional shares, and to allow our shareholders and new investors to purchase additional common shares. We reserve the right to modify, suspend or terminate participation in this plan by otherwise eligible investors in order to eliminate practices that are not consistent with the purposes of the plan.

2. What investment options are available under the plan?

The Authorization Form allows you to choose one of the options listed below regarding your participation in the plan. If not otherwise specified on the Authorization Form, your plan account will automatically be set up for full distribution reinvestment. You can change your reinvestment decision at any time by notifying us. Your options under the plan are:

- Full Distribution Reinvestment: If you check the “Full Distribution Reinvestment” box, it means that you are instructing us to purchase additional common shares for you using:
 - cash distributions on all common shares and/or units registered in your name;
 - cash distributions on all common shares credited to your plan account; and
 - any voluntary cash contributions received from you.
- Partial Distribution Reinvestment: If you check the “Partial Distribution Reinvestment” box on the Authorization Form, it means that you are specifying on the Authorization Form the number of common shares and/or units registered in your name and/or the number of all common shares credited to your plan account on which you want cash distributions to be paid to you in the usual manner. It further means that you are instructing us to purchase additional common shares for your plan account using the cash distributions on all of your remaining common shares and/or units, and any voluntary cash contributions you make under the plan.

Cash distributions will be reinvested in additional common shares on the distribution payment date (the “Distribution Payment Date”), which is generally on or about the first day of each April, July and October, and on or about the 15th day of each January.

- Voluntary Cash Contributions: If you check the “Voluntary Cash Contributions” box, it means that you are instructing us to purchase additional common shares for your plan account using the voluntary cash contributions received from you. Cash distributions paid on all shares credited to your plan account as a result of your purchase of shares using this voluntary cash contribution feature of the plan will be reinvested under one of the Distribution Reinvestment options summarized above, as directed by you (i.e., Full Distribution Reinvestment or Partial Distribution Reinvestment). To purchase common shares using this feature of the plan, you must invest at least $250 at any one time, but you cannot invest more than $10,000 monthly (unless the limit is waived by us). Any voluntary cash contribution of less than $250 and the portion of any voluntary cash contribution or contributions totaling more than $10,000 per month (unless the limit has been waived by us), will be returned to you without interest. You have no obligation to make any voluntary cash contributions under the plan.

Purchases of our common shares made with voluntary cash contributions within the plan limits will begin on an investment date (the “Investment Date”) which will be the 5th of each month (if this date is not a trading day on the NASDAQ, then the Investment Date will be the next trading day) and which may extend through an investment period not to exceed 30 business days after such Investment Date (the “Investment Period”). Common shares purchased on the open market will be credited to your plan account as of the last day on which all purchases during the Investment Period are completed. Shares issued and sold by us will be credited on the Investment Date.

We must receive voluntary cash contributions no later than five business days before the Investment Date for those contributions to be invested in our common shares beginning on the Investment Date. Otherwise, we may hold those funds and invest them beginning on the next succeeding Investment Date. No interest will be paid on funds held by us pending investment. Accordingly, you may wish to transmit any voluntary cash contributions so that they reach us shortly—but not less than five business days—before the Investment Date. This will minimize the time period during which your funds are not invested. Participants have an unconditional right to obtain the return of any voluntary cash contribution up to five business days prior to the Investment Date by sending a written request to us, to the attention of the Plan Administrator.

If you wish to make regular monthly purchases, you can authorize an automatic withdrawal from your bank account by completing the applicable section of the Authorization Form and returning it to the Plan Administrator. This feature enables you to make ongoing investments without writing a check. Funds will be deducted from your bank account on the last business day of the month preceding each Investment Date. Please allow up to four weeks for the first automatic withdrawal to be initiated. You must notify the Plan Administrator in writing to change or terminate automatic withdrawal at least 10 business days before the next automatic withdrawal in order for the change or termination to be effective by that date.

For the purpose of the above limitations on the amount of voluntary cash contributions (no less than $250 or more than $10,000 monthly, unless the limit is waived by us), we may aggregate all initial and voluntary cash contributions for participants with more than one account using the same Social Security Number or Taxpayer Identification Number. For participants unable to supply a Social Security Number or Taxpayer Identification Number, their participation may be limited by us to only one plan account. Also for the purpose of such limitations, all plan accounts that we believe to be under common control or management or to have common ultimate beneficial ownership may be aggregated. Unless we have determined that investment of voluntary cash contributions for each such account would be consistent with the purposes of the plan, we will have the right to aggregate all such accounts and to return, without interest, within 30 days of receipt, any amounts in excess of the investment limitations applicable to a single account received in respect of all such accounts.

Under all of the above investment options, unless you instruct us otherwise by choosing the Partial Distribution Reinvestment option on the Authorization Form, we will automatically reinvest any and all subsequent distributions on the common shares credited to your plan account, until you specify otherwise by notice in writing delivered to us, until you withdraw from the plan, or until the plan is terminated, as the case may be.

Advantages and Disadvantages

3. What are the advantages and disadvantages of the plan?

Before deciding whether to participate in the plan, you should consider the following advantages and disadvantages.

Advantages

- You may have the opportunity to reinvest the cash distributions on all or a portion of your common shares and units in additional common shares at a discount from the market price for our common shares when the common shares are issued and sold directly by us.
- You may have the opportunity to make a voluntary cash contribution (subject to a minimum of $250 and a maximum of $10,000 per month or, with our approval, in excess of $10,000) to purchase our common shares at a discount from the market price when the common shares are issued and sold directly by us.
- You are not required to pay brokerage commissions or other expenses in connection with the purchase of common shares under the plan, including reinvested distributions or voluntary cash contributions that are applied to the purchase of our common shares on the open market.
- The plan permits whole and fractional common shares to be purchased with the distributions. Distributions on all whole or fractional common shares and units credited to the distribution reinvestment portion of the account are automatically reinvested in additional whole or fractional common shares.
- By participating in the plan, you avoid the necessity of safekeeping certificates representing the common shares credited to your account, and thus have increased protection against loss, theft or destruction of such certificates.
- A regular statement for each account will provide you with a record of each transaction.

Disadvantages

- You may not know the actual number of common shares purchased under the plan until after the Investment Date or Investment Period (as applicable for voluntary cash contributions) or the Distribution Payment Date for shares purchased with reinvested distributions.
- You will have no control over the prices at which shares are purchased or sold for your account. Moreover, you will have no control over the source of the acquired shares (newly issued, open market purchases or privately negotiated transactions), and therefore may not know if the shares purchased for your account were eligible for the purchase price discount until after the Distribution Payment Date or, in the case of voluntary cash contributions, until after the Investment Period has concluded.
- If you make a voluntary cash contribution but later change your mind and want it returned to you, we are obligated to do so only if we receive your written request not less than five business days prior to the applicable Investment Date.
- You will not receive the purchase price discount on common shares acquired through open market or privately negotiated transactions with reinvested distributions or voluntary cash contributions.

- Any discount from market prices at the time of investment in common shares purchased under the plan (as described in Question 16) may create additional taxable income to you and brokerage commissions or other trading expenses paid by us in connection with the reinvestment of distributions if common shares are purchased in the open market will be taxable income to you. See Question 41.

- A common shareholder's reinvested distributions will generally be taxable as dividends to the extent of our earnings and profits and may give rise to a liability for the payment of income tax without providing the shareholder with the corresponding cash to pay the tax when due.
- A unitholder's reinvested distributions that exceed the unitholder's adjusted tax basis in its units will be treated as an amount received on the taxable sale or exchange of its units and may give rise to income tax liability without providing the unitholder with the corresponding cash to pay the tax when due.
- We will not pay interest on voluntary cash contributions while we hold them pending investment.
- The granting of a discount in any one month or quarter will not ensure the availability of a discount or the same discount in future months or quarters. Each month or quarter, we may, at our discretion, adjust or eliminate discounts after providing notice, at least 30 days prior to the next Investment Date, on our website, www.iret.com, in the Distribution Reinvestment and Share Purchase Plan section of the website.
- You bear the risks of fluctuation in the market price of our common shares.

Eligibility

5. Who is eligible to participate in the plan?

- (a) All holders of record of our common shares are eligible to participate in the plan.

- (b) All holders of record of units are eligible to participate in the plan.
- (c) If you do not own any common shares or units, you may participate in the plan by making an initial cash investment of at least $250 and not more than $10,000 (unless this limit is waived by us). A $15 new account enrollment fee will be deducted from your initial cash investment.

(d) Beneficial owners, whose common shares are registered in names other than their own (for instance, in the name of a broker or bank nominee), may participate in the plan in respect of the reinvestment of cash distributions on such common shares only if their broker or nominee offers the option of participating in the plan. Shareholders should consult directly with the entity holding their common shares to determine if they can enroll in the plan. If not, the common shareholder will need to request his or her bank, broker or trustee to transfer all or some of his or her common shares into the beneficial owner's own name in order to participate in the plan.

6. Are there any limitations on who is eligible to become a participant other than those described above?

Foreign law restrictions. If you are a citizen or resident of a country other than the United States, its territories and possessions, you should make certain that your participation does not violate local laws governing such things as taxes, currency and exchange controls, stock registration and foreign investments.

REIT Qualification Restrictions. In order to maintain our qualification as a REIT, not more than 50 percent in value of our outstanding Shares may be owned, directly or indirectly, by five or fewer individuals (as defined in the Code to include certain entities). As a result, our Declaration of Trust prohibits any shareholder from owning over 9.8% of the lesser of the number or value of our outstanding Shares. If any shareholder acquires or is deemed to have acquired more than 9.8% of our outstanding Shares, under the plan or otherwise, then (among other consequences) the number of Shares owned by such shareholder that exceed the 9.8% ownership limit will be automatically transferred to a trust, the beneficiary of which will be a qualified charitable organization selected by us and the purported transferee will acquire no rights in the Shares. At the direction of our board of trustees, the trust will thereafter sell the Shares and remit to such shareholder the lesser of the price paid by such shareholder for the Shares or the proceeds received by the trust for the Shares, minus any expenses or compensation due to the trust. We reserve the right to invalidate any purchases made under the plan that we determine, in our sole discretion, may violate the 9.8% ownership limit. Any grant or request for a waiver of the maximum voluntary cash contribution will not be deemed a waiver of the 9.8% ownership limit.

Change of Eligibility. We reserve the right to modify, suspend or terminate participation in the plan, by otherwise eligible holders of common shares and units, in order to eliminate practices which we determine, in our sole discretion, are not consistent with the purposes or operation of the plan or which may adversely affect the market price of our common shares. If the number of shares on which distributions are reinvested falls below one share, your participation in the plan will be terminated automatically and a check will be sent to you for any fractional share remaining. In addition to the restrictions described above, we reserve the right to restrict your participation in the plan for any other reason. We have the sole discretion to exclude you from, or terminate your participation in, the plan.

Participating in the Plan

7. How do interested investors and existing holders of common shares or units join the plan?

An interested investor may join the plan by making an initial cash investment of at least $250 but not more than $10,000 (unless such limited is waived by us). You may enroll by completing and mailing to the Plan Administrator a completed new account Enrollment Form and a plan Authorization Form along with your check payable to Investors Real Estate Trust. A $15 enrollment fee will be deducted from your initial investment. Please allow approximately four weeks for your account to be established, initial shares to be purchased and a statement to be mailed to you. No interest will be paid on amounts held by us pending investment. A holder of record of common shares or units may join the plan at any time by completing the Authorization Form and returning it to us (See Question 4 for our address). When completing the Authorization Form, you should be careful to include your social security number or taxpayer identification number and complete the required certification. Failure to supply this information will result in backup withholding of 28% of payments owed to you. If the common shares or units are registered in more than one name (e.g., joint tenants, trustees, minors, etc.), all registered holders must sign the Authorization Form.

If you are currently participating in our Distribution Reinvestment Plan, you are automatically enrolled in the plan without sending another Authorization Form. However, if you wish to change your participation in any way, please contact us for instructions (see Question 4 for contact information).

8. What does the Authorization Form provide?

By signing an Authorization Form, a common shareholder or unitholder may become a participant, and by checking the appropriate boxes on the Authorization Form may choose among the investment options described in Question 2. An Authorization Form is enclosed with this prospectus. Additional Authorization Forms may be obtained by writing us at the address listed in Question 4 or calling us at (701) 837-4738. The Authorization Form is also available on our website, www.iret.com, at the Distribution Reinvestment and Share Purchase Plan section of the “Investor Relations” page. The information on our website does not constitute a part of this prospectus.

9. How does the voluntary cash contribution feature of the plan work?

We must receive voluntary cash contributions no later than five business days before the Investment Date for those contributions to be invested in our common shares beginning on the Investment Date. Otherwise, we may hold those funds and invest them beginning on the next Investment Date in the following month. No interest will be paid on funds held by us pending investment. Accordingly, you may wish to transmit any voluntary cash contributions so that they reach us shortly—but not less than five business days—before the Investment Date. This will minimize the time period during which your funds are not earning interest. Participants have the unconditional right to obtain the return of any cash payment up to five business days prior to the Investment Date by sending a written request to us, to the attention of the Plan Administrator.

You do not need to contribute the same amount, or any amount, each Investment Date. We will reinvest all of the cash distributions on common shares purchased with voluntary cash contributions in additional common shares on each Distribution Payment Date, unless you have specified, on the Authorization Form, the Partial Distribution Reinvestment option, in which case we will apply the cash distributions on common shares purchased with voluntary cash contributions in accordance with those instructions.

10. How can a participant make a voluntary cash contribution?

You may make a voluntary cash contribution by enclosing with the Authorization Form a check made payable to Investors Real Estate Trust subject to a minimum monthly amount (initially $250) and a maximum monthly amount (initially $10,000). These limits may be changed at any time in our sole discretion. If you wish to make regular monthly purchases, you can authorize an automatic withdrawal from your bank account by completing the applicable section of the Authorization Form and returning it to the Plan Administrator. This feature enables you to make ongoing investments without writing a check each time you want to make an investment. Funds will be deducted from your bank account on the last business day of the month preceding each Investment Date. Please allow up to four weeks for the first automatic withdrawal to be initiated. You must notify the Plan Administrator in writing to change or terminate automatic withdrawal at least 10 business days before the next automatic withdrawal in order for the change or termination to be effective by that date. We also may, from time to time, authorize other methods of payment. In that event, you will be notified through a posting on our website of the changed investment limits and other payment methods.

11. How do the Full Distribution Reinvestment feature and the Partial Distribution Reinvestment feature of the plan work?

If you mark “Full Distribution Reinvestment” on your Authorization Form, we will purchase additional common shares for your plan account with:

- all cash distributions on both the shares and units held in your name as registered holder and on your plan shares; and
- any voluntary cash contributions you make under the plan.

If you mark “Partial Distribution Reinvestment” on your Authorization Form, we will continue to make cash payments of distributions on the number of the common shares and/or units held in your name as registered holder and on the number of shares held in your plan account that you indicate on the Authorization Form. In addition, we will apply to the purchase of additional common shares for your plan account:

- all of the remaining cash distributions on your certificated common shares and/or units, and all of the remaining cash distributions on your plan shares; and
- any voluntary cash contributions you make under the plan.

In order for us to reinvest your cash distributions for that quarter, we must receive your Authorization Form at least five business days prior to the record date for a Distribution Payment Date (see Question 4 for our address). Any change of election concerning the reinvestment of distributions must also be received by us at least five business days prior to the record date for a Distribution Payment Date in order for the change to become effective with that payment. If you return a properly executed Authorization Form to us without electing an investment option, you will be enrolled as having selected full distribution reinvestment.

The quarterly Distribution Payment Date is usually on or about the first day of each April, July and October, and on or about the 15th day of each January. The record date is approximately two to three weeks before the Distribution Payment Date. For example, if a distribution was paid on July 1 and the record date for such distribution was June 15, we would have to receive your Authorization Form on or before June 10 in order for distributions paid on your common shares and/or units to be used for distribution reinvestment on July 1. If we received your Authorization Form after June 10, the July 1 distribution would be paid to you in cash and your reinvestment of cash distributions would commence with the next distribution payment date, which should be on or about October 1.

12. May I reinvest less than the full amount of my distributions?

By selecting the “Partial Distribution Reinvestment” option on your Authorization Form, you may direct us to reinvest the distributions attributable to a lesser number of common shares and/or units than the full number of common shares and/or units registered in your name and/or held in your plan account (see Question 11 above for a more extensive discussion of the distribution reinvestment options). Cash distributions on the remaining common shares and/or units will continue to be paid to you.

13. How and when can I change the amount of distributions to be reinvested?

You may change the distribution reinvestment option at any time by submitting a newly executed Authorization Form to us (see Questions 8 and 11). Any change in the number of common shares with respect to which we are authorized to reinvest cash distributions must be received by us at least five business days prior to the record date for a distribution payment to permit the new amount to apply to that payment.

Purchases and Price of Shares Within Plan Limits and Distribution Reinvestments

14. What is the source of common shares purchased for me under the plan?

Common shares purchased for your account under the plan will be issued by us from our authorized but unissued shares, or purchased from third parties on the open market or in privately negotiated transactions. We may, in our sole discretion, determine the sources from which common shares will be purchased under the plan; however, we expect shares to primarily be issued by us.

15. When will the common shares be purchased for my account?

Voluntary Cash Contributions

Purchases of our common shares made with voluntary cash contributions in amounts that are within plan limits will begin on an Investment Date and may extend through the Investment Period not to exceed 30 business days past such Investment Date. Common shares purchased on the open market or in privately negotiated transactions will be credited to your plan account as of the last day on which all purchases for the Investment Period are completed. Shares issued and sold by us will be credited on the Investment Date. See Question 9 for a more extensive discussion of the voluntary cash contribution feature.

Distribution Reinvestments

Purchases will be made on the Distribution Payment Date, which is the quarterly distribution payment date for our common shares. The quarterly distribution payment is declared each quarter by our board of trustees. The distribution record date normally precedes the Distribution Payment Date by approximately two to three weeks. We historically have paid distributions on or about the first day of each April, July and October, and on or about the 15th day of each January. We pay distributions when and if declared by our Board of Trustees. We cannot assure you that we will declare or pay distributions in the future, and nothing contained in the plan obligates us to do so. However, we intend to continue to qualify as a REIT, and, as a REIT, we must distribute to our shareholders at least 90% of our taxable income each year. The plan does not represent a guarantee of future distributions.

No interest will be paid on cash distributions or voluntary cash contributions pending investment under the terms of the plan.

16. What will be the price of the common shares purchased with voluntary cash contributions under the plan?

Original Issue Shares Acquired Directly from Us

We may issue and sell common shares under the plan. The purchase price of common shares issued by us may be at a discount from the market price for our common shares on the Investment Date. The market price will be the volume weighted average price, rounded to four decimal places, of our common shares, as traded on the NASDAQ only during regular NASDAQ hours on the Investment Date. We will obtain this pricing information from NASDAQ, or, if NASDAQ is no longer providing this information, another authoritative source. Currently, the discount is 5% of the market price for our common shares on the Investment Date. We may change the discount at any time, in our sole discretion, with notice to participants provided on our website, www.iret.com, at least 30 days prior to the next Investment Date. In no event will the purchase price (taking into account any applicable discount) be less than 95% of the market value of our common shares on the Investment Date.

Open Market Purchases or Privately Negotiated Transactions

Independent Agent. We, as Plan Administrator, or, if we so elect, an independent agent appointed by us, may buy our common shares for the plan in the open market or in privately negotiated transactions. Except for any limitations imposed by federal or state securities laws, the independent agent or us, as the Plan Administrator, as the case may be, will have full discretion as to all matters relating to open market purchases for the plan. We, as Plan Administrator, or the independent agent, as the case may be, will determine the number of shares, if any, to be purchased on any given day, the time of day, the price to be paid for shares, the markets in which the shares are to be purchased (which may include any securities exchange or over-the-counter market) and the persons (including brokers or dealers) from or through whom purchases are made.

Price. The purchase price of our common shares purchased on the open market or in privately negotiated transactions under the plan will be equal to the weighted average cost (excluding brokerage commissions) of all common shares acquired by the independent agent or by us, as Plan Administrator as the case may be, during the Investment Period. Common shares purchased with voluntary cash contributions in the open market or in privately negotiated transactions will not be eligible for a purchase price discount.

Timing and Control. Purchases may be made over a number of days to meet the requirements of the plan. No interest will be paid on funds held by us, as Plan Administrator, pending investment. We, as Plan Administrator, or our independent agent, as the case may be, may commingle your funds with those of other participants in the plan for purposes of executing purchase transactions.

No participant in the plan will have the authority or power to control either the timing or the pricing of the shares purchased on the open market. Therefore, you will not be able to precisely time your purchases through the plan, and you will bear the market risk associated with fluctuations in the price of our common shares. If you send in a voluntary cash contribution, it is possible that the market price for our common shares could go up or down before we, as Plan Administrator, or the independent agent, as the case may be, arrange to purchase shares with your funds. We, as Plan Administrator, or the independent agent, as the case may be, will use its best efforts to apply all funds to the purchase of shares during the Investment Period, subject to any applicable requirements of federal or state securities laws. We reserve the right to designate any exclusive broker to purchase the shares on the open market.

17. What will be the price of the common shares purchased with reinvested distributions under the plan?

Original Issue Shares Acquired Directly from Us

Common shares acquired directly from us under the plan with reinvested distributions may be purchased at a discount from the market price on the Distribution Payment Date. The market price will be the volume weighted average price, rounded to four decimal places, of our common shares as traded on the NASDAQ only during regular NASDAQ hours on the Distribution Payment Date. Currently, the discount is 5% of the market price for our common shares on the Distribution Payment Date. We may change the discount at any time, in our sole discretion, without notice to participants. In no event will the purchase price (taking into account any applicable discount) be less than 95% of the market price of our common shares on the Distribution Payment Date.

Open Market Purchases or Privately Negotiated Transactions

Common shares purchased with reinvested distributions in the open market or in privately negotiated transactions will not be eligible for a purchase price discount. Common shares acquired through open market or privately negotiated transactions under the plan with reinvested distributions will be purchased at a price equal to the weighted average cost (excluding brokerage commissions) of all common shares acquired by us, as Plan Administrator, or the independent agent, as the case may be, on the Distribution Payment Date.

18. How will the number of common shares purchased for my account be determined?

Voluntary cash contributions within plan limits

The number of common shares to be purchased for your account as of any Investment Date will be equal to the total dollar amount to be invested for you, divided by the applicable purchase price per share. The number of common shares will be computed to the third decimal place, and the applicable purchase price will be computed to the fourth decimal place. See Question 16 for more information regarding the applicable purchase price for voluntary cash contributions within plan limits.

Where voluntary cash contributions or reinvested distributions are applied to the purchase of our common shares through us, as Plan Administrator, or our independent agent, as the case may be, in open market transactions, neither we nor any participant in the plan has the authority or power to control either the timing or the pricing of the shares purchased on the open market.

Distribution Reinvestments

The number of common shares to be purchased for your account as of any Distribution Payment Date will be equal to the total dollar amount to be invested for you, divided by the applicable purchase price per share. The number of common shares will be computed to the third decimal place, and the applicable purchase price will be computed to the fourth decimal place. See Question 17 for more information regarding the applicable purchase price for shares purchased with reinvested distributions. The total dollar amount to be invested as of any Distribution Payment Date will be the cash distributions on all or a part of the common shares and/or units registered in your own name and/or previously credited to your plan account, according to the option chosen by you (see Question 2). The amount to be invested will be reduced by any amount we are required to deduct for federal tax withholding purposes (see Question 41).

19. Is the discount for shares purchased under the plan subject to change?

The discount for shares issued by us is subject to change by us, in our sole discretion, from time to time (but will not exceed 5% of the market price for our common shares on the Investment Date or Distribution Payment Date) and is also subject to discontinuance at our discretion at any time based on a number of factors, including current market conditions, the level of participation in the plan and our current and projected capital needs. Initially, the discount for common shares issued by us under the plan is 5%, for purchases of shares within plan limits. See Questions 21 and 22 for information on discounts applicable to purchases of shares in excess of plan limits pursuant to a request for waiver.

20. Are there any costs to me for my purchases under the plan?

You will pay no brokerage commissions for purchases of common shares under the plan. We will pay any applicable brokerage fees on behalf of plan participants. All costs of administration of the plan will also be paid by us. However, those participants whose common shares are held by a broker or other nominee most likely will incur some fees and costs. Brokers and nominees may impose charges or fees in connection with their handling of participation in the plan by nominee and fiduciary accounts. Additionally, if a participant requests plan shares to be certificated, we may charge a handling fee.

Purchases of Shares in Excess of Plan Limits: Waiver of Limitations

21. May a participant make an initial investment or voluntary cash contribution over the maximum amount?

In our sole discretion, we may permit initial and voluntary cash contributions in excess of $10,000 per month, pursuant to a written waiver of limitation by us for the total amount to be invested. The following discussion pertains only to initial or voluntary cash contributions for which a waiver of limitation has been obtained. Investments that do not exceed the plan limitations will not be subject to the terms discussed below. See "Purchases and Price of Shares Within Plan Limits and Distribution Reinvestments" above. The terms set forth below will apply to the full amount for which a waiver has been obtained. For example, if a waiver is obtained to make an initial investment or voluntary cash contribution of $15,000, which is $5,000 over the limit, the full $15,000 will be subject to these terms. We reserve the right, in our sole discretion and without notice, to administer and approve any terms regarding the discount, threshold price or any other terms regarding investments exceeding the plan limitations as we deem necessary or desirable.

If you wish to make a voluntary cash contribution, including an initial cash payment, in excess of $10,000 per month and be eligible for a potential waiver discount from the market price, you must obtain our prior written approval. A participant interested in obtaining such approval must submit a request for waiver form. This form may be obtained by contacting the Plan Administrator at 701-837-4738. Completed request for waiver forms should be sent by facsimile to us at the number indicated on the form. We will notify you whether a request for waiver has been granted or denied, either in whole or in part, within three business days of the receipt of the request.

We have the sole discretion whether to approve any request to make a voluntary cash contribution or initial investment in excess of the maximum amount and to set the terms of any such voluntary cash contribution or initial investment. In deciding whether to approve a request for waiver, we will consider relevant factors, including but not limited to the following:

- Whether the plan is then acquiring newly issued shares directly from us or acquiring shares in the open market or in privately negotiated transactions from third parties;
- Our need for additional funds;
- The desirability of obtaining additional funds through the sale of common shares as compared to other sources of funds;
- The purchase price likely to apply to any sale of common shares;
- The shareholder or new investor submitting the request;
- The extent and nature of the shareholder's prior participation in the plan;
- The number of common shares held of record by the shareholder; and
- The aggregate number of voluntary cash contributions and initial investments in excess of $10,000 for which requests for waiver have been submitted by all existing shareholders and new investors.

If requests for waiver are submitted for an aggregate amount in excess of the amount we are then willing to accept, we may honor such requests in order of receipt, pro rata or by any other method that we determine to be appropriate. The plan does not provide for a predetermined maximum amount that an existing shareholder or new investor may invest or a maximum number of shares that may be purchased pursuant to a request for waiver, except that no one may own more than 9.8% of our outstanding shares.

22. If a request for waiver for voluntary cash contributions or initial investments over $10,000 per month has been approved (see Question 21), how are shares priced and purchased?

Shares purchased pursuant to an approved request for waiver will be purchased directly from the Company. Voluntary cash contributions and initial investments made pursuant to a request for waiver will be priced as follows:

- Investments for which a request for waiver has been approved will be made subject to a "pricing period," which generally will consist of one to 30 separate days determined by us in our sole discretion during which trading of our common shares is reported on the NASDAQ. Each of these separate days will be a "Waiver Investment Date" and an equal proportion of the voluntary cash contribution or initial investment will be invested on each trading day during such pricing period, subject to the qualifications listed below. The purchase price for shares acquired on a particular investment date will be equal to 100% (less any applicable waiver discount and subject to change as provided below) of the volume weighted average price, rounded to four decimal places, of our common shares, as traded on the NASDAQ only during regular NASDAQ hours on that date. We will obtain this pricing information from NASDAQ, or, if NASDAQ is no longer providing this information, another authoritative source. For example, if a voluntary cash contribution of $10 million is made pursuant to an approved request for waiver and the pricing period is 10 days, the number of shares will be calculated for each day of the pricing period by taking a pro rata portion of the total voluntary cash contribution for each day of the pricing period, which would be $1 million, and dividing it by the volume weighted average price, rounded to four decimal places, of our common shares as traded on the NASDAQ on that date, less the waiver discount, if any. Funds for such voluntary cash contributions or initial investments must be received by us not later than the business day before the first day of the pricing period.

- We may establish a minimum, or “threshold,” price for any pricing period that the volume weighted average price, rounded to four decimal places, of our common shares as traded on the NASDAQ only during regular NASDAQ hours must equal or exceed (not adjusted for a waiver discount, if any) during each trading day of the pricing period for investments made pursuant to a request for waiver. If the threshold price is not satisfied for a trading day in the pricing period, then we will exclude from the pricing period such trading day and refund that day’s proportional investment amount. For example, if the threshold price is not met for two of the trading days in a 10-day pricing period, then we will return 20% of the funds submitted in connection with a request for waiver, without interest, unless we have activated the pricing period extension feature for the pricing period, as described below. We are not required to notify a participant that a threshold price has been established for any pricing period. The establishment of the threshold price and the possible return of a portion of the payment apply only to initial investments or voluntary cash contributions exceeding $10,000 per month made pursuant to approved requests for waiver, and will apply only to common shares that are purchased directly from us. Setting a threshold price for a pricing period will not affect the setting of a threshold price for any other pricing period. We may waive our right to set a threshold price for any particular pricing period.
- For each pricing period, we may establish a discount from the market price for shares purchased pursuant to a request for waiver. This waiver discount, if any, will range from 0% to 5% of the purchase price and may vary for each pricing period. In no event will the purchase price of our common shares on any Waiver Investment Date be less than 95% (taking into account as part of the discount any brokerage fees or commissions paid by us on your behalf in connection with the purchase) of the volume weighted average price, rounded to four decimal places, of our common shares as traded on the NASDAQ only during regular NASDAQ hours on such Waiver Investment Date. The waiver discount, if any, will be established in our sole discretion after a review of current market conditions, the level of participation in the plan, the attractiveness of obtaining additional funds through the sale of common shares as compared to other sources of funds and our need for additional funds. To obtain information regarding the waiver discount, if any, please contact the Plan Administrator at 701-837-4738. Setting a waiver discount for a particular pricing period will not affect the setting of a waiver discount for any subsequent pricing period. The waiver discount, if any, will apply only to voluntary cash contributions or initial investments in excess of $10,000 made pursuant to an approved request for waiver, and will apply only to common shares that are purchased directly from us. The waiver discount, if any, however, will apply to the entire initial investment or voluntary cash contribution made pursuant to the request for waiver and not just the portion in excess of $10,000.
- We may elect to activate for any particular pricing period a pricing period extension feature that will provide that the initial pricing period be extended by the number of days that the threshold price is not satisfied, subject to a maximum of five trading days. If we elect to activate the pricing period extension feature and the threshold price is satisfied for any additional day that has been added to the initial pricing period, that day will be included as one of the trading days for the pricing period instead of the day on which the threshold price was not met. For example, if the determined pricing period is 10 days, and the threshold price is not satisfied for three out of those 10 days in the initial pricing period, and we had previously announced in the request for waiver form that the pricing period extension feature was activated, then the pricing period will be automatically extended, and if the threshold price is satisfied on the next three trading days (or a subset thereof), then those three days (or subset thereof) would become Waiver Investment Dates instead of the three days on which the threshold price was not met. As a result, because there were 10 trading days during the initial and extended pricing periods on which the threshold price was satisfied, all of the funds that were included with a request for waiver would be invested.
- Newly issued shares purchased pursuant to a request for waiver will be posted to participants’ accounts within three business days following the end of the applicable pricing period, or, if we elect to activate the continuous settlement feature, within three business days of each separate Waiver Investment Date beginning on the first Waiver Investment Date in the relevant pricing period and ending on the final Waiver Investment Date in the relevant pricing period, with an equal amount being invested on each day, subject to the qualifications set forth above. During any period when we are proposing to approve requests for waiver for one or more investments, we may elect to activate the continuous settlement feature for such investments by announcing in the request for waiver form that we will be doing so. For each pricing period (assuming the threshold price is met on each trading day of that pricing period), we would have a separate settlement of each Waiver Investment Date's purchases, each based on the volume weighted average price, rounded to four decimal places, of our common shares, as traded on the NASDAQ only during regular NASDAQ hours for the trading day relating to each of the Waiver Investment Dates during the pricing period.

- request for waiver forms and information regarding the establishment of a threshold price, if any, and discount, if any, may be obtained by contacting us at 701-837-4738.

Reports to participants

23. What reports will be sent to participants in the plan?

After an investment is made under the plan for your account, you will be sent a statement which will provide a record of the cost of the common shares purchased for your account, the number of common shares purchased, the date on which the common shares were credited to your account and the total number of common shares in your account. This information will be your record of the cost of your purchases of common shares, and should be retained for income tax and other purposes. In addition, during the year you will receive copies of the same communications sent to all other holders of common shares. And finally, following the final plan purchase in each calendar year, you will be sent income tax information for reporting distributions paid.

Certificates for common shares

24. Will I receive certificates for common shares purchased under the plan?

No certificates for any number of common shares credited to your plan account will be issued to you unless you submit a written request to us. Such requests will be handled by us normally within two weeks. A handling fee, currently $25 plus the cost of certified mail, may be charged. Any remaining whole common shares and any fractional common shares will continue to be credited to your account.

If you request us to issue a certificate in your name representing all of the shares in your plan account, you will be deemed to have terminated your participation in the plan (as described in Question 27). If the written request to us is for certificates to be issued for all common shares credited to your plan account, and your account contains fractional shares, you will be sent a certificate for all of the whole common shares held in the account, and a check representing the value of the fractional shares held in the account. The value of fractional shares will be calculated using the NASDAQ Official Open Price on the day the share certificates are issued for the whole common shares held in the account. Certificates for fractional shares will not be issued under any circumstances.

25. In whose name will certificates be registered and issued?

When issued, certificates for common shares will be registered in the name in which your plan account is maintained. For holders of record, this generally will be the name or names in which your common share certificates and/or units are registered at the time you enroll in the plan. Upon written request, common shares will be registered in any other name, upon the presentation to us of evidence of compliance with all applicable transfer requirements (including the payment of any applicable transfer taxes).

26. May common shares in my plan account be pledged?

You may not pledge or assign book-entry shares held in your plan account. If you wish to pledge such common shares, you must first request that a certificate for such common shares be issued in your name.

Withdrawal from the plan

27. May I withdraw from the plan?

Yes, you may withdraw from the plan at any time, by writing to us, to the attention of the Plan Administrator, using the address given in Question 4 and stating that you wish to withdraw from the plan.

If your request to withdraw is received by us at least five business days prior to the record date for the next Distribution Payment Date, reinvestment of distributions will cease as of the date the notice of withdrawal is received by us. If the notice of withdrawal is received later than five business days prior to the record date for a Distribution Payment Date, the withdrawal and termination will not become effective until after the investment of any distributions to be invested as of that Distribution Payment Date.

When terminating a plan account, you may request your broker to initiate a Direct Registration System (DRS) transaction to transfer the shares, or you may request that a share certificate be issued for all whole common shares held in the account. We may charge a handling fee (currently $25 plus the cost of certified mail) for issuing certificates for shares. As soon as practicable after notice of withdrawal and termination is received, we will issue the shares in DRS form as directed by you, or send to you (a) a certificate for all whole common shares held in your plan account and (b) a check representing the value of any fractional common share held in the account. After your request for withdrawal has become effective and your plan account has been terminated, all distributions for the terminated account will be paid in cash to you unless and until you re-enroll in the plan.

28. When may a common shareholder or unitholder re-elect to participate in the plan?

Generally, a common shareholder of record or unitholder may re-elect to participate in the plan at any time by submitting a new Authorization Form. However, we reserve the right to reject any Authorization Form on the grounds of excessive withdrawal and re-election. Such reservation is intended to minimize unnecessary administrative expenses and to encourage use of the plan as a long-term investment service.

Other information

29. What happens if I sell or transfer common shares and/or units registered in my name but held outside the plan?

If you dispose of all common shares and/or units registered in your name but held outside of your plan account, the distributions on the common shares credited to your plan account will continue to be reinvested according to your instructions until you notify us that you wish to withdraw from the plan.

30. What happens if we issue a stock distribution or declare a stock split?

In the event of a stock split or a stock distribution payable in common shares, we will credit to your account the applicable number of whole and/or fractional common shares based on the number of common shares held in your plan account as of the record date for the stock distribution or split. Stock distributions or split shares distributed on common shares for which you hold certificates outside of your plan account will be sent directly to you in the same manner as to shareholders who are not participating in the plan.

31 If we issue rights to purchase securities to common shareholders, how will the rights on common shares held in my plan account be handled?

If we have a rights offering in which separately tradable and exercisable rights are issued to registered common shareholders, the rights attributable to whole common shares held in your account will be transferred to you as promptly as practicable after the rights are issued. Rights attributable to fractional common shares held in your account will be reinvested in common shares.

32. How are the common shares in my account voted at shareholder meetings?

You will receive proxy materials from us for the total number of common shares held by you, both the common shares for which you hold certificates, if any, and those credited to your plan account. The total number of common shares held by you may also be voted in person at a meeting. Unitholders are not entitled to vote at meetings of shareholders.

If no instructions are received on a properly signed and returned proxy card with respect to any item thereon, all of a participant's common shares—those registered in the participant's name and those credited to the participant's plan account—will be voted in accordance with the recommendations of our management, just as for nonparticipating shareholders who return proxies and do not provide instructions. If the proxy is not returned or if it is returned unsigned, none of your common shares will be voted unless you vote in person.

33. What is our responsibility under the plan?

We are not liable for any act done in good faith or required by applicable law or for any good faith omission to act, including, without limitation, any claim of liability (a) arising out of failure to terminate a participant's plan account upon such participant's death prior to receipt of notice in writing of such death, (b) with respect to the prices and times at which common shares are purchased for a participant, or (c) with respect to any fluctuation in market value before or after any purchase of common shares.

We will not have any duties, responsibilities or liabilities other than those expressly set forth in the plan or as imposed by applicable laws, including federal securities laws. We will be entitled to rely on completed forms and proof of due authority to participate in the plan, without further responsibility of investigation or inquiry. None of our trustees, officers, employees or shareholders will have any personal liability under the plan.

WE CANNOT ASSURE YOU OF A PROFIT OR PROTECT YOU AGAINST A LOSS ON COMMON SHARES PURCHASED UNDER THE PLAN.

34. What are the responsibilities of participants under the plan?

The common shares in your plan account may revert to the state in which you live in the event that the shares are deemed, under your state's laws, to have been abandoned by you. For this reason, you should notify us promptly in writing of any change of address. We will address account statements and other communications to you at the last address of record you have provided to us. You will have no right to draw checks or drafts against your account or to instruct us with respect to any common shares or cash held by us pursuant to the plan except as expressly provided herein.

35. May the plan be changed, suspended or discontinued?

While we expect to continue the plan indefinitely, we may amend, suspend or terminate the plan at any time, but such action shall have no retroactive effect that would prejudice your interests. All participants will receive notice of any such action. We also reserve the right to adopt, and from time to time change, such administrative rules and regulations (not inconsistent in substance with the basic provisions of the plan then in effect), as we deem desirable or appropriate for the administration of the plan.

36. What happens if the plan is terminated?

The Plan Administrator will transfer your shares in DRS form as directed by you, or, at your request, you will receive (a) a certificate for all whole common shares held in your account and (b) a check representing the value of any fractional common share held in your account and any uninvested cash distributions held in the account.

37. Who interprets and regulates the plan?

We are authorized to issue such interpretations, adopt such regulations and take such action as we may deem reasonably necessary to effectuate the plan. Any action to effectuate the plan taken by us in the good faith exercise of our judgment will be binding on all plan participants.

38. May the transfer agent and registrar change?

We presently act as the transfer agent and registrar for our common shares and units. We reserve the right to appoint a new transfer agent and registrar at any time, or to continue to act as our own transfer agent and registrar and administer the plan ourselves.

39. What law governs the plan?

The terms and conditions of the plan and its operation shall be governed by the laws of the State of North Dakota.

40. Are plan participants assured of receiving a distribution?

The payment of distributions is at the discretion of our board of trustees and will depend upon future earnings, our financial condition and other factors. There can be no assurance as to the declaration or payment of any distribution on our common shares.

41. What are the federal income tax consequences of participation in the plan?

The federal tax treatment of distribution reinvestment and share purchase programs is not entirely clear. You are encouraged to consult your personal tax advisor with specific reference to your own tax situation and potential changes in the applicable law as to all federal, state, local, foreign and other tax matters in connection with the reinvestment of distributions and purchase of shares under the plan, your tax basis and holding period for shares acquired under the plan and the character, amount and tax treatment of any gain or loss realized on the disposition of shares. The following is a brief summary of the material federal income tax considerations applicable to the plan, is for general information only, and does not constitute tax advice.

The information in this section is based on the Code, existing, temporary and proposed regulations under the Code, the legislative history of the Code, current administrative rulings and practices of the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") and court decisions, all as of the date hereof. We cannot assure you that new laws, interpretations of law, or court decisions, any of which may take effect retroactively, will not cause any statement in this section to be inaccurate. No assurance can be given that the IRS would not assert, or that a court would not sustain, a position contrary to any of the tax consequences described below. We have not sought and will not seek an advance ruling from the IRS regarding any matter in this prospectus.

Reinvestment of Shareholder Distributions

Although the federal income tax treatment of distribution reinvestment plans is not entirely clear, it is expected that a shareholder participating in the plan will be treated for federal income tax purposes as having received, on the Distribution Payment Date, a distribution equal to the sum of (a) the fair market value of any common shares purchased under the plan (including common shares purchased through the reinvestment of distributions on shares held in the shareholder's account), (b) a pro rata portion of any brokerage costs incurred by us to acquire the common shares on the open market or in privately negotiated transactions, and (c) any cash distributions actually received by the shareholder with respect to any common shares not included in the plan. The total amount of cash and other distributions will be reported to a shareholder and to the IRS on the appropriate tax form shortly after the end of each year. The tax basis of common shares purchased under the plan will be equal to the fair market value of the shares on the Distribution Payment Date plus the shareholder's pro rata share of any brokerage costs paid by us. A shareholder's holding period for common shares purchased under the plan generally will begin on the day after the date on which the common shares are credited to the shareholder's account.

Our distributions to shareholders constitute dividends for federal income tax purposes up to the amount of our positive current and accumulated earnings and profits (as determined for federal income tax purposes) and, to that extent, will be taxable as ordinary income (except to the extent that we designate any portion of such dividend as either (i) a "capital gain" dividend or (ii) for taxable years beginning before December 31, 2010, in the case of shareholders taxed at individual rates who satisfy certain holding period requirements, as "qualified dividend income" pursuant to applicable federal income tax rules). To the extent that we make a distribution in excess of our current and accumulated earnings and profits, such distribution will be treated first as a tax-free return of capital to the extent of a shareholder's adjusted tax basis in our common shares and, to the extent in excess of the shareholder's basis, will be taxable as a gain realized from the sale of the shareholder's common shares. Distributions to corporate shareholders, including amounts taxable as dividends to corporate shareholders, will generally not be eligible for the corporate dividends-received deduction.

Reinvestment of Unitholder Distributions

The federal income tax treatment of unitholders who participate in the plan is not entirely clear, because there is no clear legal authority regarding the federal income tax treatment of an owner of an entity taxed as a partnership who invests cash distributions from the partnership in shares of another entity that is a partner in the partnership. The following, however, sets forth our view of the likely tax treatment of unitholders who participate in the plan. We and IRET Properties intend to report the tax consequences of a unitholder's participation in a manner consistent with the following.

In the case of common shares purchased from us pursuant to the plan, a unitholder will likely be treated for federal income tax purposes as having received a cash distribution from IRET Properties equal to the fair market value of the common shares purchased on the Distribution Payment Date. With respect to common shares purchased by us pursuant to the plan in open market transactions or in privately negotiated transactions with third parties, it is expected that a unitholder will be treated for federal income tax purposes as having received a distribution from IRET Properties equal to the sum of (a) the fair market value of the common shares purchased under the plan and (b) a pro rata portion of any brokerage costs incurred by us (and reimbursed to us by IRET Properties). A unitholder's tax basis in the common shares purchased under the plan will be equal to the fair market value of the shares on the Distribution Payment Date plus a unitholder's pro rata share of any brokerage costs. A unitholder's holding period for common shares purchased under the plan generally will begin on the day after the date on which the common shares are credited to its account.

Cash distributions from IRET Properties to unitholders, to the extent they do not exceed a unitholder's adjusted tax basis in its units, generally will not result in taxable income to that unitholder, but will reduce the unitholder's adjusted tax basis in its units by the amount distributed. Cash distributed to a unitholder in excess of its adjusted tax basis in its units generally will be treated as an amount received on the sale or exchange of its units and is generally taxable as long-term capital gain (or loss) to the extent of the portion of the unitholder's units that are held for more than twelve months, and short-term capital gain or loss to the extent of the portion of the unitholder's units that are held for twelve months or less. For this purpose, a unitholder will begin a new holding period in a portion of its units each time the unitholder makes an additional investment in IRET Properties. However, under Section 751(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, to the extent a distribution is considered to be in exchange for a unitholder's interest in substantially appreciated inventory items or unrealized receivables of IRET Properties, that unitholder may recognize ordinary income rather than a capital gain. A distribution of property other than cash and marketable securities generally will not result in taxable income or loss to a unitholder.

Voluntary Cash Contributions

Although the treatment of direct share purchase programs is not entirely clear, if you participate in the share purchase feature and the distribution reinvestment feature under the plan, based on a private letter ruling issued to another REIT, it is expected that you will be treated for federal income tax purposes as having received, on the Distribution Payment Date, a distribution equal to the excess, if any, of the fair market value of the common shares on this date over the amount of your voluntary cash payment. In addition, you will be treated as having received a distribution equal to your pro rata share of any brokerage commissions paid by us in connection with the purchase of common shares by the Plan Administrator from parties other than us. If you are not participating in the distribution reinvestment feature of the plan, it is possible that you would not be treated for federal income tax purposes as having received a distribution from us equal to the amount of the discount. Accordingly, the tax treatment of a purchase of shares under the plan may differ depending on whether the purchaser is participating in the distribution reinvestment feature of the plan. Shares acquired through the share purchase feature under the plan should have a tax basis equal to the amount of the payment plus the total amount of distributions, if any, you are treated as receiving as described above.

Your holding period for shares (including fractional shares) acquired through voluntary cash contributions under the plan generally will begin on the day after the shares were acquired.

Distributions that you receive as a result of voluntary cash contributions will be taxable as dividends to the extent of our current and accumulated earnings and profits (as determined for federal income tax purposes). Distributions in excess of our current and accumulated earnings and profits will not be taxable to you to the extent that such distributions do not exceed the adjusted tax basis of your shares but instead will reduce the adjusted tax basis in your shares. To the extent that such distributions exceed the adjusted tax basis of your shares, they will be included in your income as capital gain. In addition, if we designate part or all of our distributions as capital gain distributions, those distributions will be treated by you as long-term capital gains.

Backup Withholding and Administrative Expenses

We may be required to deduct as "backup withholding" twenty-eight percent (28%) of all distributions paid to you, regardless of whether such distributions are reinvested pursuant to the plan, and may be required to deduct backup withholding from all proceeds from sales of common shares held in your account. You are subject to backup withholding if: (a) you have failed properly to furnish us with your correct tax identification number, or TIN; (b) the IRS or a broker notifies us that the TIN furnished by you is incorrect; (c) the IRS or a broker notifies us that backup withholding should be commenced because you failed to properly report dividends paid to you; or (d) when required to do so, you fail to certify, under penalties of perjury, that you are not subject to backup withholding. Backup withholding amounts will be withheld from distributions before such distributions are reinvested under the plan. Therefore, if you are subject to backup withholding, distributions to be reinvested under the plan will be reduced by the backup withholding amount.

If you are a foreign person, you need to provide the required federal income tax certifications to establish your status as a foreign shareholder or unitholder so that the foregoing backup withholding does not apply to you. You also need to provide the required certifications if you wish to claim the benefit of exemptions from federal income tax withholding or reduced withholding rates under a treaty or convention entered into between the United States and your country of residence. If you are a foreign person whose distributions are subject to federal income tax withholding, the appropriate amount will be withheld and the balance in common shares will be credited to your account.

Foreign shareholders or unitholders who elect to make voluntary cash contributions only will continue to receive regular cash distributions on shares registered in their names, in the case of shareholders, and units, in the case of unitholders, in the same manner as if they were not participating in this plan. Funds for voluntary cash contributions must be in United States dollars and will be invested in the same way as payments from other participants.

All costs of administering the plan will be paid by us. Consistent with the conclusion reached by the IRS in a private letter ruling issued to another REIT, we intend to take the position that these costs do not constitute a distribution which is either taxable to you or which would reduce your basis in your shares. However, since the private letter ruling was not issued to us, we have no legal right to rely on its conclusions. Thus, it is possible that the IRS might view your share of the costs as constituting a taxable distribution to you and/or a distribution which reduces the basis in your common shares. For this or other reasons, we may in the future take a different position with respect to the costs of administering the plan.

Disposition

A gain or loss may be recognized upon your disposition of common shares received from the plan. You may recognize a gain or loss upon receipt of a cash payment for a fractional common share credited to your account. The amount of any such gain or loss will be the difference between the amount received for the whole or fractional common shares and the tax basis of the common shares. Generally, any gain or loss recognized on the disposition of common shares acquired under the plan will be treated for federal income tax purposes as a capital gain or loss.

MATERIAL FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS

This section summarizes the material federal income tax considerations that you, as a holder of our common shares, may consider relevant. Because this section is a summary, it does not address all aspects of taxation that may be relevant to particular shareholders in light of their personal investment or tax circumstances, or to certain types of shareholders that are subject to special treatment under the federal income tax laws, such as:

- insurance companies;
- tax-exempt organizations (except to the extent discussed in “—Taxation of Tax-Exempt Shareholders” below);
- financial institutions or broker-dealers;
- non-U.S. individuals and foreign corporations (except to the extent discussed in “—Taxation of Non-U.S. Shareholders” below);
- U.S. expatriates;
- persons who mark-to-market our shares;
- subchapter S corporations;
- U.S. Shareholders (as defined below) whose functional currency is not the U.S. dollar;
- regulated investment companies;
- trusts and estates;

Edgar Filing: INVESTORS REAL ESTATE TRUST - Form S-3/A

- holders who receive our shares through the exercise of employee stock options or otherwise as compensation;
- persons holding our shares as part of a “straddle,” “hedge,” “conversion transaction,” “synthetic security” or other integrated investment;
 - persons subject to the alternative minimum tax provisions of the Code;

- persons holding our shares through a partnership or similar pass-through entity; and
- persons holding a 10% or more (by vote or value) beneficial interest in our shares.

This summary assumes that shareholders hold shares as capital assets for federal income tax purposes, which generally means property held for investment.

The statements in this section are based on the current federal income tax laws, are for general information purposes only and are not tax advice. We cannot assure you that new laws, interpretations of law, or court decisions, any of which may take effect retroactively, will not cause any statement in this section to be inaccurate.

Taxation of Investors Real Estate Trust as a REIT

We elected to be taxed as a REIT under the federal income tax laws commencing with our taxable year ended April 30, 1971. We believe that, commencing with such taxable year, we have been organized and have operated in such a manner as to qualify for taxation as a REIT under the Code, and we intend to continue to be organized and to operate in such a manner. However, we cannot assure you that we have operated or will operate in a manner so as to qualify or remain qualified as a REIT. Qualification as a REIT depends on our continuing to satisfy numerous asset, income, stock ownership and distribution tests described below, the satisfaction of which depends, in part, on our operating results. The sections of the Code relating to qualification and operation as a REIT, and the federal income taxation of a REIT and its shareholders, are highly technical and complex. The following discussion sets forth only the material aspects of those sections. This summary is qualified in its entirety by the applicable Code provisions and the related rules and regulations.

Federal Income Taxation of Investors Real Estate Trust

In the opinion of Hunton & Williams LLP, we qualified to be taxed as a REIT for our taxable years ended April 30, 2007 through April 30, 2010, and our organization and current and proposed method of operation will enable us to continue to qualify as a REIT for our taxable year ending April 30, 2011 and in the future. Investors should be aware that Hunton & Williams LLP's opinion is based upon customary assumptions, is conditioned upon certain representations made by us as to factual matters, including representations regarding the nature of our properties and the future conduct of our business, and is not binding upon the IRS or any court. In addition, Hunton & Williams LLP's opinion is based on existing federal income tax law governing qualification as a REIT, which is subject to change, either prospectively or retrospectively, and speaks as of the date issued. Moreover, our continued qualification and taxation as a REIT depend upon our ability to meet on a continuing basis, through actual annual operating results, certain qualification tests set forth in the federal tax laws. Those qualification tests involve the percentage of income that we earn from specified sources, the percentage of our assets that falls within specified categories, the diversity of our share ownership, and the percentage of our earnings that we distribute. While Hunton & Williams LLP has reviewed those matters in connection with the foregoing opinion, Hunton & Williams LLP will not review our compliance with those tests on a continuing basis. Accordingly, no assurance can be given that the actual results of our operations for any particular taxable year will satisfy such requirements. Hunton & Williams LLP's opinion does not foreclose the possibility that we may have to use one or more of the REIT savings provisions discussed below, which could require us to pay an excise or penalty tax (which could be material) in order for us to maintain our REIT qualification. For a discussion of the tax consequences of our failure to qualify as a REIT, see “—Failure to Qualify.”

If we qualify as a REIT, we generally will not be subject to federal corporate income tax on that portion of our ordinary income or capital gain that is timely distributed to shareholders. The REIT provisions of the Code generally allow a REIT to deduct distributions paid to its shareholders, substantially eliminating the federal “double taxation” on earnings (that is, taxation at the corporate level when earned, and again at the shareholder level when distributed) that usually results from investments in a corporation. Nevertheless, we will be subject to federal income tax as follows:

First, we will be taxed at regular corporate rates on our undistributed “REIT taxable income,” including undistributed net capital gains.

Second, under some circumstances, we may be subject to the “alternative minimum tax” as a consequence of our items of tax preference, including any deductions of net operating losses.

Third, if we have net income from the sale or other disposition of “foreclosure property” that we hold primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of business or other non-qualifying income from foreclosure property, we will be subject to tax at the highest corporate rate on such income.

Fourth, if we have net income from “prohibited transactions” (which are, in general, certain sales or other dispositions of property, other than foreclosure property, held primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of business), such income will be subject to a 100% tax.

Fifth, if we should fail to satisfy one or both of the 75% gross income test or the 95% gross income test as described below under “—Requirements for Qualification—Income Tests,” but have nonetheless maintained our qualification as a REIT because we have met other requirements, we will be subject to a 100% tax on the greater of (1)(a) the amount by which we fail the 75% gross income test or (b) the amount by which 95% (or 90% for our taxable years beginning before January 1, 2005) of our gross income exceeds the amount of our income qualifying for the 95% gross income test, multiplied in either case by (2) a fraction intended to reflect our profitability.

Sixth, if we fail any of the asset tests (other than a de minimis failure of the 5% asset test or the 10% vote or value test) commencing with taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, as described below under “— Requirements for Qualification — Asset Tests,” as long as (1) the failure was due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect, (2) we file a description of each asset that caused such failure with the IRS, and (3) we dispose of the assets or otherwise comply with the asset tests within six months after the last day of the quarter in which we identify such failure, we will pay a tax equal to the greater of $50,000 or 35% of the net income from the nonqualifying assets during the period in which we failed to satisfy the asset tests.

Seventh, if we fail to satisfy one or more requirements for REIT qualification commencing with taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, other than the gross income tests and the asset tests, and such failure is due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect, we will be required to pay a penalty of $50,000 for each such failure.

Eighth, if we fail to distribute during each year at least the sum of:

- 85% of our REIT ordinary income for such year,
- 95% of our capital gain net income for such year, and
- any undistributed taxable income required to be distributed from prior periods, then we will be subject to a 4% excise tax on the excess of this required distribution amount over the amounts actually distributed.

Ninth, if we should acquire any asset from a “C” corporation (i.e., a corporation generally subject to full corporate-level tax) in a carryover-basis transaction and no election is made for the transaction to be currently taxable, and we subsequently recognize gain on the disposition of such asset during the 10-year period beginning on the date on which we acquired the asset, we generally will be subject to tax at the highest regular corporate rate applicable on the lesser of the amount of gain that we recognize at the time of the sale or disposition and the amount of gain that we would have recognized if we had sold the asset at the time we acquired the asset, the “Built-in Gains Tax.”

Tenth, we will be subject to a 100% excise tax on transactions with our taxable REIT subsidiaries that are not conducted on an arm’s-length basis.

Eleventh, we may elect to retain and pay income tax on our net long-term capital gain. In that case, a U.S. Shareholder would be taxed on its proportionate share of our undistributed long-term capital gain (to the extent that we make a timely designation of such gain to the shareholder) and would receive a credit or refund for its proportionate share of the tax we paid.

Twelfth, we may be required to pay monetary penalties to the IRS in certain circumstances, including if we fail to meet record-keeping requirements intended to monitor our compliance with rules relating to the composition of a REIT's shareholders, as described below in "—Recordkeeping Requirements."

Thirteenth, the earnings of our lower-tier entities, if any, that are subchapter C corporations, including taxable REIT subsidiaries, are subject to federal corporate income tax.

In addition, we may be subject to a variety of taxes, including payroll taxes and state, local and foreign income, property and other taxes on our assets and operations. We could also be subject to tax in situations and on transactions not presently contemplated.

Requirements for Qualification

To qualify as a REIT, we must elect to be treated as a REIT and must meet the following requirements, relating to our organization, sources of income, nature of assets and distributions.

The Code defines a REIT as a corporation, trust or association:

1. that is managed by one or more trustees or directors;
2. the beneficial ownership of which is evidenced by transferable shares or by transferable certificates of beneficial interest;
3. that would be taxable as a domestic corporation but for application of the REIT provisions of the federal income tax laws;
4. that is neither a financial institution nor an insurance company subject to special provisions of the Code;
5. that has at least 100 persons as beneficial owners (determined without reference to any rules of attribution);
6. during the last half of each taxable year, not more than 50% in value of the outstanding shares of which is owned, directly or indirectly, through the application of certain attribution rules, by five or fewer individuals (as defined in the Code to include certain entities), which we refer to as the five or fewer requirement;
7. which elects to be a REIT, or has made such election for a previous taxable year, and satisfies all relevant filing and other administrative requirements established by the IRS that must be met to elect and maintain REIT status;
8. that (unless the entity qualified as a REIT for any taxable year beginning on or before October 4, 1976, which is the case with us) uses the calendar year as its taxable year and complies with the recordkeeping requirements of the federal income tax laws; and
9. that satisfies the income tests, the asset tests, and the distribution tests, described below.

The Code provides that REITs must satisfy all of the first four, the eighth (if applicable) and the ninth preceding requirements during the entire taxable year. REITs must satisfy the fifth requirement during at least 335 days of a taxable year of 12 months or during a proportionate part of a taxable year of less than 12 months. For purposes of determining share ownership under the sixth requirement, an “individual” generally includes a supplemental unemployment compensation benefits plan, a private foundation, or a portion of a trust permanently set aside or used for charitable purposes. An “individual,” however, generally does not include a trust that is a qualified employee pension or profit sharing trust under the federal income tax laws, and beneficiaries of such a trust will be treated as holding our shares in proportion to their actuarial interests in the trust for purposes of the sixth requirement above. We will be treated as having met the sixth requirement if we comply with certain Treasury Regulations for ascertaining the ownership of our shares for such year and if we did not know (or after the exercise of reasonable diligence would not have known) that the sixth condition was not satisfied for such year. Our Declaration of Trust currently includes restrictions regarding transfer of our shares of beneficial interest that, among other things, assist us in continuing to satisfy the fifth and sixth of these requirements.

If a REIT owns a corporate subsidiary that is a “qualified REIT subsidiary,” the separate existence of that subsidiary from its parent REIT will be disregarded for federal income tax purposes. Generally, a qualified REIT subsidiary is a corporation, other than a taxable REIT subsidiary, all of the capital stock of which is owned by the REIT. All assets, liabilities and items of income, deduction and credit of the qualified REIT subsidiary will be treated as assets, liabilities and items of income, deduction and credit of the REIT itself for purposes of applying the requirements herein. Our qualified REIT subsidiaries will not be subject to federal corporate income taxation, although they may be subject to state and local taxation in some states.

An unincorporated domestic entity, such as a partnership or limited liability company that has a single owner, generally is not treated as an entity separate from its parent for federal income tax purposes. An unincorporated domestic entity with two or more owners is generally treated as a partnership for federal income tax purposes. In the case of a REIT that is a partner in a partnership, the REIT is deemed to own its proportionate share of the assets of the partnership and to earn its proportionate share of the partnership’s gross income for purposes of the applicable REIT qualification tests. The character of the assets and gross income of the partnership retain the same character in the hands of the REIT for purposes of the gross income and asset tests. Thus, our proportionate share of the assets, liabilities and items of income of IRET Properties, our operating partnership (including our operating partnership’s share of the assets, liabilities and items of income with respect to any partnership in which it holds an interest), is treated as our assets, liabilities and items of income for purposes of applying the requirements described herein. For purposes of the 10% value test (see “—Asset Tests”), our proportionate share is based on our proportionate interest in the equity interests and certain debt securities issued by the partnership. For all of the other asset and income tests, our proportionate share is based on our proportionate interest in the capital of the partnership. Our proportionate share of the assets, liabilities, and items of income of any partnership, joint venture, or limited liability company that is treated as a partnership for federal income tax purposes in which we acquire an equity interest, directly or indirectly, will be treated as our assets and gross income for purposes of applying the various REIT qualification requirements.

A REIT may own up to 100% of the shares of one or more taxable REIT subsidiaries. A taxable REIT subsidiary is a fully taxable corporation that may earn income that would not be qualifying income if earned directly by the parent REIT. The subsidiary and the REIT must jointly elect to treat the subsidiary as a taxable REIT subsidiary. A corporation of which a taxable REIT subsidiary directly or indirectly owns more than 35% of the voting power or value of the securities will automatically be treated as a taxable REIT subsidiary. We are not treated as holding the assets of a taxable REIT subsidiary or as receiving any income that the subsidiary earns. Rather, the stock issued by a taxable REIT subsidiary to us is an asset in our hands, and we will treat the distributions paid to us from such taxable subsidiary, if any, as income. This treatment can affect our compliance with the gross income and asset tests. Because we do not include the assets and income of taxable REIT subsidiaries in determining our compliance with the REIT requirements, we may use such entities to undertake indirectly activities that the REIT rules might otherwise preclude us from doing directly or through pass-through subsidiaries. Overall, no more than 25% (or 20% with respect to taxable years beginning after July 30, 2008) of the value of a REIT’s assets may consist of stock or securities of one or more taxable REIT subsidiaries.

A taxable REIT subsidiary will pay income tax at regular corporate rates on any income that it earns. In addition, the taxable REIT subsidiary rules limit the deductibility of interest paid or accrued by a taxable REIT subsidiary to its parent REIT to assure that the taxable REIT subsidiary is subject to an appropriate level of corporate taxation.

Further, the rules impose a 100% excise tax on transactions between a taxable REIT subsidiary and its parent REIT or the REIT's tenants that are not conducted on an arm's-length basis.

A taxable REIT subsidiary may not directly or indirectly operate or manage any health care facilities or lodging facilities or provide rights to any brand name under which any health care facility or lodging facility is operated, unless such rights are provided to an "eligible independent contractor" (as described below) to operate or manage a lodging facility (or, with respect to taxable years beginning after July 30, 2008, a health care facility) if such rights are held by the taxable REIT subsidiary as a franchisee, licensee, or in a similar capacity and such health care facility or lodging facility is either owned by the taxable REIT subsidiary or leased to the taxable REIT subsidiary by its parent REIT. A taxable REIT subsidiary will not be considered to operate or manage a "qualified health care property" or "qualified lodging facility" solely because the taxable REIT subsidiary directly or indirectly possesses a license, permit, or similar instrument enabling it to do so. Additionally, a taxable REIT subsidiary that employs individuals working at a "qualified health care property" or "qualified lodging facility" outside of the United States will not be considered to operate or manage a "qualified health care property" or "qualified lodging facility," as long as an "eligible independent contractor" is responsible for the daily supervision and direction of such individuals on behalf of the taxable REIT subsidiary pursuant to a management agreement or similar service contract.

Rent that we receive from a taxable REIT subsidiary will qualify as "rents from real property" under two scenarios. Under the first scenario, rent we receive from a taxable REIT subsidiary will qualify as "rents from real property" as long as (1) at least 90% of the leased space in the property is leased to persons other than taxable REIT subsidiaries and related-party tenants, and (2) the amount paid by the taxable REIT subsidiary to rent space at the property is substantially comparable to rents paid by other tenants of the property for comparable space, as described in further detail below under "—Income Tests." Under the second scenario, rents that we receive from a taxable REIT subsidiary will qualify as "rents from real property" if the taxable REIT subsidiary leases a property from us that is a "qualified health care property" or "qualified lodging facility" and such property is operated on behalf of the taxable REIT subsidiary by a person who qualifies as an "independent contractor" and who is, or is related to a person who is, actively engaged in the trade or business of operating "qualified health care properties" or "qualified lodging facilities," respectively, for any person unrelated to us and the taxable REIT subsidiary (an "eligible independent contractor"). A "qualified health care property" includes any real property and any personal property that is, or is necessary or incidental to the use of, a hospital, nursing facility, assisted living facility, congregate care facility, qualified continuing care facility, or other licensed facility which extends medical or nursing or ancillary services to patients and which is operated by a provider of such services which is eligible for participation in the Medicare program with respect to such facility. Our assisted living facilities will generally be treated as "qualified health care properties," but our independent living facilities generally will not be. Consequently, we lease our independent living facilities to third party operators. We lease five assisted living facilities to LSREF Golden Ops 14 (WY) LLC, a taxable REIT subsidiary that has engaged an operator which we believe qualifies as an "eligible independent contractor" to manage those facilities on its behalf. We do not currently own any lodging facilities.

Income Tests. In order to maintain our qualification as a REIT, we must satisfy two gross income requirements. First, we must derive, directly or indirectly, at least 75% of our gross income (excluding gross income from prohibited transactions) for each taxable year from investments relating to real property or mortgages on real property, including "rents from real property," gains on disposition of real estate, dividends paid by another REIT and interest on obligations secured by real property or on interests in real property, or from certain types of temporary investments. Second, we must derive at least 95% of our gross income (excluding gross income from prohibited transactions) for each taxable year from any combination of income qualifying under the 75% test and dividends, interest, and gain from the sale or disposition of stock or securities. For taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, income and gain from "hedging transactions," as defined below, that are clearly and timely identified as such will be excluded from both the numerator and the denominator for purposes of the 95% gross income test (but not the 75% gross income test). Income and gain from "hedging transactions" entered into after July 30, 2008 that are clearly and timely identified as such will also be excluded from both the numerator and the denominator for purposes of the 75% gross income test. In addition, as discussed below, certain foreign currency gains recognized after July 30, 2008 will be excluded from gross income for purposes of one or both of the gross income tests. The following paragraphs discuss the specific application of the gross income tests to us.

Rents that we receive from our real property will qualify as “rents from real property” in satisfying the gross income requirements for a REIT described above only if several conditions are met.

First, the amount of rent must not be based in whole or in part on the income or profits of any person but can be based on a fixed percentage of gross receipts or gross sales, provided that such percentage (a) is fixed at the time the lease is entered into, (b) is not renegotiated during the term of the lease in a manner that has the effect of basing percentage rent on income or profits, and (c) conforms with normal business practice.

Second, we must not own, actually or constructively, 10% or more of the shares or the assets or net profits of any lessee (a “related party tenant”), other than a taxable REIT subsidiary. The constructive ownership rules generally provide that, if 10% or more in value of our stock is owned, directly or indirectly, by or for any person, we are considered as owning the shares owned, directly or indirectly, by or for such person.

As described above, we may own up to 100% of the shares of one or more taxable REIT subsidiaries. There are two exceptions to the related-party tenant rule described in the preceding paragraph for taxable REIT subsidiaries. Under the first exception, rent that we receive from a taxable REIT subsidiary will qualify as “rents from real property” as long as (1) at least 90% of the leased space in the property is leased to persons other than taxable REIT subsidiaries and related-party tenants, and (2) the amount paid by the taxable REIT subsidiary to rent space at the property is substantially comparable to rents paid by other tenants of the property for comparable space. The “substantially comparable” requirement must be satisfied when the lease is entered into, when it is extended, and when the lease is modified, if the modification increases the rent paid by the taxable REIT subsidiary. If the requirement that at least 90% of the leased space in the related property is rented to unrelated tenants is met when a lease is entered into, extended, or modified, such requirement will continue to be met as long as there is no increase in the space leased to any taxable REIT subsidiary or related party tenant. Any increased rent attributable to a modification of a lease with a taxable REIT subsidiary in which we own directly or indirectly more than 50% of the voting power or value of the stock will not be treated as “rents from real property.”

Under the second exception, for taxable years beginning after July 30, 2008, a taxable REIT subsidiary is permitted to lease health care properties from the related REIT as long as it does not directly or indirectly operate or manage any health care facilities or lodging facilities or provide rights to any brand name under which any health care or lodging facility is operated. Rent that we receive from a taxable REIT subsidiary will qualify as “rents from real property” as long as the “qualified health care property” is operated on behalf of the taxable REIT subsidiary by an “independent contractor” who is adequately compensated, who does not, directly or through its stockholders, own more than 35% of our shares, taking into account certain ownership attribution rules, and who is, or is related to a person who is, actively engaged in the trade or business of operating “qualified health care properties” for any person unrelated to us and the taxable REIT subsidiary (an “eligible independent contractor”). A “qualified health care property” includes any real property and any personal property that is, or is necessary or incidental to the use of, a hospital, nursing facility, assisted living facility, congregate care facility, qualified continuing care facility, or other licensed facility which extends medical or nursing or ancillary services to patients and which is operated by a provider of such services which is eligible for participation in the Medicare program with respect to such facility. Our assisted living facilities generally will be treated as “qualified health care properties.” We lease five assisted living facilities to LSREF Golden Ops 14 (WY) LLC, a taxable REIT subsidiary that has engaged an operator which we believe qualifies as an “eligible independent contractor” to manage those facilities on its behalf.

Third, “rents from real property” excludes rent attributable to personal property except where such personal property is leased in connection with a lease of real property and the rent attributable to such personal property is less than or equal to 15% of the total rent received under the lease. The rent attributable to personal property under a lease is the amount that bears the same ratio to total rent under the lease for the taxable year as the average of the fair market values of the leased personal property at the beginning and at the end of the taxable year bears to the average of the aggregate fair market values of both the real and personal property covered by the lease at the beginning and at the end of such taxable year.

Finally, amounts that are attributable to services furnished or rendered in connection with the rental of real property, whether or not separately stated, will not constitute “rents from real property” unless such services are customarily provided in the geographic area. Customary services that are not considered to be provided to a particular tenant (e.g., furnishing heat and light, the cleaning of public entrances, and the collection of trash) can be provided directly by us. Where, on the other hand, such services are provided primarily for the convenience of the tenants or are provided to such tenants, such services must be provided by an independent contractor from whom we do not receive any income or a taxable REIT subsidiary. Non-customary services that are not performed by an independent contractor or taxable REIT subsidiary in accordance with the applicable requirements will result in impermissible tenant service income to us to the extent of the income earned (or deemed earned) with respect to such services. If the impermissible tenant service income (value at not less than 150% or four direct cost of performing such services) exceeds 1% of our total income from a property, all of the income from that property will fail to qualify as rents from real property. If the total amount of impermissible tenant services does not exceed 1% of our total income from the property, the services will not cause the rent paid by tenants of the property to fail to qualify as rents from real property, but the impermissible tenant services income will not qualify as “rents from real property.”

Our residential rental properties are generally leased under one-year leases providing for fixed rent. Our commercial properties are generally leased for longer terms and generally provide for base rent and, in a number of cases, percentage rent based on gross sales. Additionally, our taxable REIT subsidiary leases five assisted living facilities from our operating partnership under percentage leases in which our taxable REIT subsidiary pays base rent plus a percentage rent based on the gross income of the assisted living facility. In order for the rent paid under our leases, including our percentage leases with our taxable REIT subsidiary, to constitute “rents from real property,” the leases must be respected as true leases for federal income tax purposes and not treated as service contracts, joint ventures or some other type of arrangement. The determination of whether our leases are true leases depends on an analysis of all the surrounding facts and circumstances. In making such a determination, courts have considered a variety of factors, including the following:

- the intent of the parties;
- the form of the agreement;
- the degree of control over the property that is retained by the property owner (for example, whether the lessee has substantial control over the operation of the property or whether the lessee was required simply to use its best efforts to perform its obligations under the agreement); and
- the extent to which the property owner retains the risk of loss with respect to the property (for example, whether the lessee bears the risk of increases in operating expenses or the risk of damage to the property) or the potential for economic gain with respect to the property.

In addition, the federal income tax law provides that a contract that purports to be a service contract or a partnership agreement is treated instead as a lease of property if the contract is properly treated as such, taking into account all relevant factors. Since the determination of whether a service contract should be treated as a lease is inherently factual, the presence or absence of any single factor may not be dispositive in every case.

Investors should be aware that there are no controlling Treasury regulations, published rulings or judicial decisions involving leases with terms substantially the same as our leases that discuss whether such leases constitute true leases for federal income tax purposes. We intend to structure our leases so that they will be treated as true leases. If our leases are characterized as service contracts or partnership agreements, rather than as true leases, part or all of the payments that our operating partnership and its subsidiaries receive from our percentage and other leases may not be considered rent or may not otherwise satisfy the various requirements for qualification as “rents from real property.” In that case, we likely would not be able to satisfy either the 75% or 95% gross income test and, as a result, would lose our REIT status unless we qualify for relief, as described below.

We do not currently charge and do not anticipate charging rent that is based in whole or in part on the income or profits of any person (unless based on a fixed percentage or percentages of receipts or sales, as is permitted). We also do not anticipate either deriving rent attributable to personal property leased in connection with real property that exceeds 15% of the total rents or receiving rent from related party tenants.

Our operating partnership does provide certain services with respect to our properties. We believe that the services with respect to our properties that are and will be provided directly are usually or customarily rendered in connection with the rental of space for occupancy only and are not otherwise considered rendered to particular tenants and, therefore, that the provision of such services will not cause rents received with respect to the properties to fail to qualify as rents from real property. Services with respect to the properties that we believe may not be provided by us or the operating partnership directly without jeopardizing the qualification of rent as “rents from real property” are and will be performed by independent contractors or taxable REIT subsidiaries.

We may, directly or indirectly, receive fees for property management and brokerage and leasing services provided with respect to some properties not owned entirely by the operating partnership. These fees, to the extent paid with respect to the portion of these properties not owned, directly or indirectly, by us, will not qualify under the 75% gross income test or the 95% gross income test. The operating partnership also may receive other types of income with respect to the properties it owns that will not qualify for either of these tests. We believe, however, that the aggregate amount of these fees and other non-qualifying income in any taxable year will not cause us to exceed the limits on non-qualifying income under either the 75% gross income test or the 95% gross income test.

If a portion of the rent that we receive from a property does not qualify as “rents from real property” because the rent attributable to personal property exceeds 15% of the total rent for a taxable year, the portion of the rent that is attributable to personal property will not be qualifying income for purposes of either the 75% or 95% gross income test. Thus, if such rent attributable to personal property, plus any other income that is nonqualifying income for purposes of the 95% gross income test, during a taxable year exceeds 5% of our gross income during the year, we would lose our REIT qualification. If, however, the rent from a particular property does not qualify as “rents from real property” because either (1) the rent is considered based on the income or profits of the related lessee, (2) the lessee either is a related party tenant or fails to qualify for the exceptions to the related party tenant rule for qualifying taxable REIT subsidiaries (including as a result of a property leased to a taxable REIT subsidiary failing to qualify as a “qualified healthcare property” or “qualified lodging facility”) or an operator engaged by a taxable REIT subsidiary to operate a “qualified health care property” or “qualified lodging facility” failing to qualify as an eligible independent contractor) or (3) we furnish noncustomary services to the tenants of the property, or manage or operate the property, other than through a qualifying independent contractor or a taxable REIT subsidiary, none of the rent from that property would qualify as “rents from real property.” In that case, we might lose our REIT qualification because we would be unable to satisfy either the 75% or 95% gross income test. In addition to the rent, the lessees are required to pay certain additional charges. To the extent that such additional charges represent reimbursements of amounts that we are obligated to pay to third parties, such as a lessee’s proportionate share of a property’s operational or capital expenses, such charges generally will qualify as “rents from real property.” To the extent such additional charges represent penalties for nonpayment or late payment of such amounts, such charges should qualify as “rents from real property.” However, to the extent that late charges do not qualify as “rents from real property,” they instead will be treated as interest that qualifies for the 95% gross income test.

A REIT will incur a 100% tax on the net income derived from any sale or other disposition of property, other than foreclosure property, that the REIT holds primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of a trade or business. Whether a REIT holds an asset “primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of a trade or business” depends, however, on the facts and circumstances in effect from time to time, including those related to a particular asset. A safe harbor to the characterization of the sale of property by a REIT as a prohibited transaction and the 100% prohibited transaction tax is available if the following requirements are met:

- the REIT has held the property for not less than two years (or, for sales made on or before July 30, 2008, four years); the aggregate expenditures made by the REIT, or any partner of the REIT, during the two-year period (or, for sales made on or before July 30, 2008, four-year period) preceding the date of the sale that are includable in the basis of the property do not exceed 30% of the selling price of the property;

- either (1) during the year in question, the REIT did not make more than seven sales of property, other than foreclosure property or sales to which Section 1033 of the Code applies, (2) the aggregate adjusted bases of all such properties sold by the REIT during the year did not exceed 10% of the aggregate bases of all of the assets of the REIT at the beginning of the year or (3) for sales made after July 30, 2008, the aggregate fair market value of all such properties sold by the REIT during the year did not exceed 10% of the aggregate fair market value of all of the assets of the REIT at the beginning of the year;

- in the case of property not acquired through foreclosure or lease termination, the REIT has held the property for at least two years (or, for sales made on or before July 30, 2008, four years) for the production of rental income; and
- if the REIT has made more than seven sales of non-foreclosure property during the taxable year, substantially all of the marketing and development expenditures with respect to the property were made through an independent contractor from whom the REIT derives no income.

We will attempt to comply with the terms of the safe-harbor provisions in the federal income tax laws prescribing when an asset sale will not be characterized as a prohibited transaction. We cannot assure you, however, that we can comply with the safe-harbor provisions or that we will avoid owning property that may be characterized as property held “primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of a trade or business.” We may, however, form or acquire a taxable REIT subsidiary to hold and dispose of those properties we conclude may not fall within the safe-harbor provisions.

We will be subject to tax at the maximum corporate rate on any income from foreclosure property, which includes certain foreign currency gains and related deductions recognized subsequent to July 30, 2008, other than income that otherwise would be qualifying income for purposes of the 75% gross income test, less expenses directly connected with the production of that income. However, gross income from foreclosure property will qualify under the 75% and 95% gross income tests. “Foreclosure property” is any real property, including interests in real property, and any personal property incident to such real property (a) that is acquired by a REIT as the result of such REIT having bid on the property at foreclosure, or having otherwise reduced such property to ownership or possession by agreement or process of law after actual or imminent default on a lease of the property or on indebtedness secured by the property, (b) for which the related loan or leased property was acquired by the REIT at a time when the default was not imminent or anticipated, and (c) for which the REIT makes a proper election to treat the property as foreclosure property. Foreclosure property also includes any “qualified health care property” acquired by the REIT as a result of the termination or expiration of a lease of such property, without regard to a default or the imminence of default.

A REIT will not be considered to have foreclosed on a property where the REIT takes control of the property as a mortgagee-in-possession and cannot receive any profit or sustain any loss except as a creditor of the mortgagor. Property generally ceases to be foreclosure property at the end of the third taxable year (or, with respect to a qualified healthcare property, the second taxable year) following the taxable year in which the REIT acquired the property (or longer if an extension is granted by the Secretary of the Treasury). This period (as extended, if applicable) terminates, and foreclosure property ceases to be foreclosure property on the first day:

- on which a lease is entered into for the property that, by its terms, will give rise to income that does not qualify for purposes of the 75% gross income test, or any amount is received or accrued, directly or indirectly, pursuant to a lease entered into on or after such day that will give rise to income that does not qualify for purposes of the 75% gross income test;
- on which any construction takes place on the property, other than completion of a building or, any other improvement, where more than 10% of the construction was completed before default became imminent; or
- which is more than 90 days after the day on which the REIT acquired the property and the property is used in a trade or business which is conducted by the REIT, other than through an independent contractor from whom the REIT itself does not derive or receive any income. In the case of a qualified health care property, income derived or received by the REIT from an independent contractor is disregarded to the extent attributable to (1) any lease of property that was in effect on the date the REIT acquired the qualified healthcare property or (2) the extension or renewal of such a lease if under the terms of the new lease the REIT receives a substantially similar or lesser benefit in comparison to the original lease.

From time to time, we may enter into hedging transactions with respect to our assets or liabilities. Our hedging activities may include entering into interest rate swaps, caps, and floors, options to purchase such items, and futures and forward contracts. For taxable years beginning prior to January 1, 2005, any periodic income or gain from the disposition of any financial instrument for these or similar transactions to hedge indebtedness we incurred to acquire or carry “real estate assets” was qualifying income for purposes of the 95% gross income test, but not the 75% gross income test. To the extent we hedged with other types of financial instruments, or in other situations, it is not entirely clear how the income from those transactions should have been treated for the gross income tests. For taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, income and gain from “hedging transactions” will be excluded from gross income for purposes of the 95% gross income test, but not the 75% gross income test. For hedging transactions entered into after July 30, 2008, income and gain from “hedging transactions” will be excluded from gross income for purposes of both the 75% and 95% gross income tests. For those taxable years, a “hedging transaction” means either (1) any transaction entered into in the normal course of our trade or business primarily to manage the risk of interest rate, price changes, or currency fluctuations with respect to borrowings made or to be made, or ordinary obligations incurred or to be incurred, to acquire or carry real estate assets or (2) for transactions entered into after July 30, 2008, any transaction entered into primarily to manage the risk of currency fluctuations with respect to any item of income or gain that would be qualifying income under the 75% or 95% gross income test (or any property which generates such income or gain). We will be required to clearly identify any such hedging transaction before the close of the day on which it was acquired, originated, or entered into and to satisfy other identification requirements. We intend to structure any hedging or similar transactions so as not to jeopardize our status as a REIT.

The term “interest” generally does not include any amount received or accrued, directly or indirectly, if the determination of the amount depends in whole or in part on the income or profits of any person. However, an amount received or accrued generally will not be excluded from the term “interest” solely because it is based on a fixed percentage or percentages of receipts or sales. Furthermore, to the extent that interest from a loan that is based on the profit or net cash proceeds from the sale of the property securing the loan constitutes a “shared appreciation provision,” income attributable to such participation feature will be treated as gain from the sale of the secured property.

Certain foreign currency gains recognized after June 30, 2008 will be excluded from gross income for purposes of one or both of the gross income tests. “Real estate foreign exchange gain” will be excluded from gross income for purposes of the 75% gross income test. Real estate foreign exchange gain generally includes foreign currency gain attributable to any item of income or gain that is qualifying income for purposes of the 75% gross income test, foreign currency gain attributable to the acquisition or ownership of (or becoming or being the obligor under) obligations secured by mortgages on real property or on interest in real property and certain foreign currency gain attributable to certain “qualified business units” of a REIT. “Passive foreign exchange gain” will be excluded from gross income for purposes of the 95% gross income test. Passive foreign exchange gain generally includes real estate foreign exchange gain as described above, and also includes foreign currency gain attributable to any item of income or gain that is qualifying income for purposes of the 95% gross income test and foreign currency gain attributable to the acquisition or ownership of (or becoming or being the obligor under) obligations. Because passive foreign exchange gain includes real estate foreign exchange gain, real estate foreign exchange gain is excluded from gross income for purposes of both the 75% and 95% gross income test. These exclusions for real estate foreign exchange gain and passive foreign exchange gain do not apply to any certain foreign currency gain derived from dealing, or engaging in substantial and regular trading, in securities. Such gain is treated as nonqualifying income for purposes of both the 75% and 95% gross income tests.

If we fail to satisfy one or both of the 75% gross income test or the 95% gross income test for any taxable year, we may nevertheless qualify as a REIT for that year if we are eligible for relief under the Code. For taxable years beginning prior to January 1, 2005, the relief provisions generally will be available if:

- our failure to meet these tests was due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect;

- we file a disclosure schedule with the IRS after we determine that we have not satisfied one of the gross income tests; and
 - any incorrect information on the schedule is not due to fraud with intent to evade tax.

Commencing with taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, those relief provisions will be available if:

- our failure to meet these tests is due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect; and
- we file a disclosure schedule with the IRS after we determine that we have not satisfied one of the gross income tests in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

We cannot predict whether in all circumstances we would be entitled to the benefit of the relief provisions. For example, if we fail to satisfy the gross income tests because non-qualifying income that we intentionally earn exceeds the limits on such income, the IRS could conclude that our failure to satisfy the tests was not due to reasonable cause. Even if this relief provision applies, the Code imposes a 100% tax with respect to a portion of the non-qualifying income, as described above.

Asset Tests. At the close of each quarter of our taxable year, we also must satisfy the following asset tests to maintain our qualification as a REIT;

- At least 75% of the value of our total assets must be represented by real estate assets (including interests in real property (including leaseholds and options to acquire real property and leaseholds), interests in mortgages on real property, and stock in other REITs), cash and cash items (including receivables), government securities and investments in stock or debt instruments during the one year period following our receipt of new capital that we raise through equity offerings or public offerings of debt with at least a five-year-term.
- No more than 25% of the value of our total assets may be represented by securities of taxable REIT subsidiaries or other assets that are not qualifying for purposes of the 75% asset test.
- Except for equity investments in REITs, partnerships, qualified REIT subsidiaries or taxable REIT subsidiaries or other investments that qualify as “real estate assets” for purposes of the 75% asset test:
 - o the value of any one issuer’s securities that we own may not exceed 5% of the value of our total assets (the “5% asset test”); and
 - o we may not own more than 10% of the voting power or value of any one issuer’s outstanding voting securities (the “10% vote or value test”).
- No more than 25% of the value of our total assets (or, with respect to taxable years beginning on or before July 30, 2008, 20% of the value of our total assets) may be represented by securities of one of more taxable REIT subsidiaries.

Certain types of securities are disregarded as securities for purposes of the 10% value test discussed above, including (i) straight debt securities (including straight debt that provides for certain contingent payments); (ii) any loan to an individual or an estate; (iii) any rental agreement described in Section 467 of the Code, other than with a “related person”; (iv) any obligation to pay rents from real property; (v) certain securities issued by a State or any political subdivision thereof, the District of Columbia, a foreign government, or any political subdivision thereof, or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico; (vi) any security issued by a REIT; and (vii) any other arrangement that, as determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, is excepted from the definition of a security. In addition, (a) a REIT's interest as a partner in a partnership is not considered a "security" for purposes of applying the 10% value test to securities issued by the partnership; (b) any debt instrument issued by a partnership (other than straight debt or another excluded security) will not be considered a security issued by the partnership if at least 75% of the partnership's gross income (excluding income from prohibited transactions) is derived from sources that would qualify for the 75% REIT gross income test, and (c) any debt instrument issued by a partnership (other than straight debt or another excluded security) will not be considered a security issued by the partnership to the extent of the REIT's interest as a partner in the partnership. For taxable years beginning after October 22, 2004, a special look-through rule applies for determining a REIT's share of securities held by a partnership in which the REIT holds an interest for purposes of the 10% value test. Under that look-through rule, our proportionate share of the assets of a partnership is our proportionate interest in any securities issued by the partnership, without regard to securities described in items (a) and (b) above.

We believe that substantially all of our assets consist of (1) real properties, (2) stock or debt investments that earn qualified temporary investment income, (3) other qualified real estate assets, and (4) cash, cash items and government securities. We monitor the status of our assets for purposes of the various asset tests, and manage our portfolio in order to comply with such tests.

After initially meeting the asset tests at the close of any quarter, we will not lose our qualification as a REIT for a failure to satisfy the asset tests at the end of a later quarter solely by reason of changes in asset values. If the failure to satisfy the asset tests results from an acquisition of securities or other property during a quarter, we can cure the failure by disposing of a sufficient amount of non-qualifying assets within 30 days after the close of that quarter. We intend to maintain adequate records of the value of our assets to ensure compliance with the asset tests and to take such other actions within 30 days after the close of any quarter as necessary to cure any noncompliance.

Commencing with taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, if a REIT violates the 5% asset test or the 10% vote or value test described above, a REIT may avoid disqualification as a REIT by disposing of sufficient assets to cure a violation that does not exceed the lesser of 1% of the REIT's assets at the end of the relevant quarter or $10,000,000, provided that the disposition occurs within six months following the last day of the quarter in which the REIT first identified the assets causing the violation. In the event of any other failure of the asset tests for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, a REIT may avoid disqualification as a REIT, if such failure was due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, by taking certain steps, including the disposition of sufficient assets within the six month period described above to meet the applicable asset test, paying a tax equal to the greater of $50,000 or the highest corporate tax rate multiplied by the net income generated by the non-qualifying assets during the period of time that the assets were held as non-qualifying assets, and filing a schedule with the IRS that describes the non-qualifying assets.

Annual Distribution Requirements

To qualify for taxation as a REIT, the Code requires that we make distributions (other than capital gain distributions and deemed distributions of retained capital gain) to our shareholders in an amount at least equal to (a) the sum of: (1) 90% of our "REIT taxable income" (computed without regard to the dividends paid deduction and our net capital gain or loss), and (2) 90% of our net income, if any, from foreclosure property in excess of the special tax on income from foreclosure property, minus (b) the sum of certain items of non-cash income.

Generally, we must pay such distributions in the taxable year to which they relate. Dividends paid in the subsequent calendar year, however, will be treated as if paid in the prior calendar year for purposes of the prior year's distribution requirement if the dividends satisfy one of the following two sets of criteria:

- We declare the dividends in October, November or December, the dividends are payable to shareholders of record on a specified date in such a month, and we actually pay the dividends during January of the subsequent year; or

- We declare the dividends before we timely file our federal income tax return for such year, we pay the dividends in the 12-month period following the close of the prior year and not later than the first regular dividend payment after the declaration, and we elect on our federal income tax return for the prior year to have a specified amount of the subsequent dividend treated as if paid in the prior year.
