See MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS – FUTURE EARNINGS POTENTIAL – “Integrated Coal Gasification Combined Cycle” of Mississippi Power Company (“Mississippi Power”) in Item 7 and Note 3 to the financial statements of The Southern Company and of Mississippi Power under “Integrated Coal Gasification Combined Cycle” in Item 8 of each company’s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2011 for information regarding the integrated coal gasification combined cycle under construction in Kemper County, Mississippi (“Kemper IGCC”).

In June 2010, the Sierra Club filed an appeal of the Mississippi Public Service Commission’s (“MPSC”) June 2010 decision (“MPSC Order”) to grant the Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity (“CPCN”) for the Kemper IGCC with the Chancery Court of Harrison County, Mississippi (“Chancery Court”). On February 28, 2011, the Chancery Court issued a judgment affirming the MPSC Order and, on March 1, 2011, the Sierra Club appealed the Chancery Court’s decision to the Mississippi Supreme Court. On March 15, 2012, the Mississippi Supreme Court reversed the Chancery Court’s decision and the MPSC Order. The Mississippi Supreme Court concluded that the MPSC Order did not cite in sufficient detail substantial evidence upon which the Mississippi Supreme Court could determine the basis for the findings of the MPSC granting the CPCN. The Mississippi Supreme Court has remanded the matter to the MPSC to correct the MPSC Order. Mississippi Power is continuing construction of the Kemper IGCC. While Mississippi Power believes there is no reason for the MPSC to change its decision to grant the CPCN, the ultimate outcome of this matter cannot be determined at this time.
