September 2011 Order Comments:

Emerson order trends in the trailing three-month period moderated, as currency exchange rates and prior year comparisons tempered results. Excluding currency, which deducted approximately 3 percentage points from the growth rate, the trailing three-month underlying order growth exceeded 5 percent. Process Management remained the primary source of underlying order growth, as global capital goods end markets continued to reflect strength. As the fiscal year ended, the backlog position remained at record levels amid an environment of mixed macroeconomic indicators.

Process Management order growth slowed due to currency exchange rates and prior year comparisons. Currency rate changes deducted approximately 13 percentage points from order growth, and the Petrobras Comperj project booking in September 2010 negatively affected order trend comparisons by approximately 5 percent. Underlying orders remained strong globally, supported by capital investment in the oil and gas industry. Backlog is at record levels and up approximately $400M from prior year. During the past several weeks, many areas in Thailand sustained massive damage from flooding. Emerson Process Management sources electrical and electronic components from these areas for some products. We are executing contingency plans, and working with suppliers and customers to minimize the impact of supply disruptions.

Industrial Automation order trends continued to reflect moderating growth due to prior year comparisons. Order strength in the power generating alternators, ultrasonic welding, and electrical distribution businesses was partially offset by weakness in the electrical drives business. Currency exchange rates added 3 percentage points.

Network Power order trends reflect modest growth as the Network Power Systems business in Asia and the uninterruptible power supply and precision cooling business in North America remained strong. The embedded computing and power businesses and the energy systems business continued to exhibit weakness. Currency exchange rates deducted approximately 1 percentage point.

Climate Technologies order trends remained unchanged, as weakness in the U.S. and European residential and commercial end markets continued. The temperature controls business remained challenging as well. The global refrigeration business faced difficult comparisons to prior year, while the Asia business showed slight improvement. Currency exchange rates added 3 percentage points.

Tools and Storage orders continued to grow at a moderate pace. The professional tools and commercial storage businesses showed strength, which was partially offset by softness in the wet/dry vacuums and food waste disposers businesses.
