LETTER TO SHAREHOLDERS

Cynthia J. Clemson

Robert B. MacIntosh

Like all fixed-income markets, the municipal bond market responds to many factors, from changes in interest rates and economic trends to fluctuations in municipal bond issuance. Another key variable is the policy of the Federal Reserve, the nation's central bank, known popularly as "The Fed." The Fed's policies are important to the nation's economy and markets.

Founded in the wake of crisis, the Federal Reserve plays a vital role...

The Federal Reserve System was established by the Federal Reserve Act of 1913 in the wake of a series of financial crises, the most recent of which—the Panic of 1907—had caused bank failures, a rash of bankruptcies, a dramatic loss of confidence and a severe economic downturn. Congress was determined to create a central bank that provided a vigilant monetary policy, price stability, a more elastic currency and more careful supervision over the nation's banks.

The Open Market Committee: influencing the money supply and credit conditions...

The Fed has a number of tools at its disposal to adjust monetary policy. Of these, the most commonly used tools are open market operations. The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meets regularly to review inflation, credit conditions and the overall health of the economy. The Fed uses its own research, as well as that of other key economic agencies, to review its various policy options. Treasury, corporate and municipal bond investors alike eagerly await the transcripts of FOMC meetings for a hint of future interest rate trends.

If it deems a change necessary in short-term rates, the Fed will announce an adjustment to its target for the Federal Funds rate its primary market instrument. To effect that change, the FOMC issues a directive to the trading desk of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, whose responsibility it is to implement the policy.

Open market operations: The Fed intervenes...

If the Fed sees weakness in the economy and little threat of inflation, it may make outright purchases of Treasury securities either from the street or privately from foreign central banks thus adding reserves to the banking system. This action tends to lower interest rates, increase loans and stimulate economic activity. In so doing, the Fed is said to be easing monetary policy.

On the other hand, if the Fed sees the economy overheating and inflation looming, it may sell Treasury securities, thus draining reserves from the system. This action tends to raise rates, discourage consumer and business borrowing and dampen economic activity. In this case, the Fed is said to be tightening monetary policy.

While changes in Fed policy primarily affect short-term rates, long-term rates are determined by inflationary expectations. However, the Fed's actions can have a significant effect on market psychology and, over time, impact market rates across the borrowing spectrum for homebuyers seeking mortgages, businesses seeking bank loans and municipal bond issuers.

Fed-watching: A continuing pre-occupation of the market...

Interpreting the Federal Reserve's actions has long been of keen interest to bond market investors. Until the mid-1990s, analysts needed to keep daily tabs on bank reserves and the Fed's daily open market activity to determine a change in monetary policy. Starting in February 1994, however, the Fed began to indicate specifically its target Federal Funds rate. That marked a significant change, as analysts were now free to focus less on current policy and more on future potential changes in policy.

Edgar Filing: EATON VANCE INSURED CALIFORNIA MUNICIPAL BOND FUND II - Form N-CSR

Throughout its history, the Federal Reserve has contributed to a more stable and safer monetary system. As that history unfolds, investors will surely continue to monitor its activities closely.

Sincerely,

Cynthia J. Clemson

MARKET RECAP

The U.S. economy continued to generate moderate growth during the year ended September 30, 2005, although surging energy prices and high interest rates were a continuing concern for investors. Late in the period, the economy was faced with new challenges resulting from Hurricane Katrina and its potential impact on energy and commodity supplies.

The economy has remained on solid footing in 2005...

The nation's Gross Domestic Product grew at a rate of 3.8% in the third quarter of 2005, according to preliminary Commerce Department figures, following gains of 3.3% in the second quarter and 3.8% in the first quarter. Manufacturing reported a mixed picture, with overall factory activity accelerating somewhat, while areas such as durable goods, metals and textiles remained weak. Consumer spending declined, as soaring energy costs took their toll. While the housing sector showed signs of strain in selected markets due to rising interest rates, the overall housing market remained strong.

With consumers tightening their belts, the burden shifted to businesses. However, the outlook for capital spending was clouded, as businesses remained wary of investing in new equipment, facilities and software in a period of rising energy costs and higher interest rates.

Gulf Coast state economies were dealt a severe blow by Hurricane Katrina...

In the waning days of the fiscal year, Hurricane Katrina struck states along the Gulf Coast. The storm inflicted a catastrophic blow to Louisiana and less dramatic damage on Mississippi, Alabama and Florida. While the economies of the affected states will no doubt suffer in the short run, the national economy is also likely to feel some impact from damage to key ports and oil refineries. The pace of the region's recovery is unclear at this writing, and will likely remain a concern, especially as heating fuel demand rises in coming months.

The Federal Reserve continued its policy of tightening credit during the fiscal year...

Inflation accelerated somewhat during the period, an increase apparent not only in core energy costs, but also in finished products, a sign that producers are passing their higher energy costs along to consumers. The Federal Reserve hiked short-term interest rates, suggesting it will continue to raise rates in an effort to keep the economy from growing too quickly and keep inflation under control. Beginning in June 2004, the Fed increased its Federal Funds rate—a key short-term interest rate barometer—on twelve consecutive occasions, raising that benchmark from 1.00% to 4.00%, including its most recent rate hike in November 2005.

Against this backdrop, the municipal bond market generated solid gains for the period. For the year ended September 30, 2005, the Lehman Brothers Municipal Bond Index—an unmanaged market index of municipal bonds—had a total return of 4.05%.*

* It is not possible to invest directly in an Index. The Index's total return does not reflect expenses that would have been incurred if an investor individually purchased or sold the securities represented in the Index.

INVESTMENT UPDATE

The Fund

Based on share price (the Fund is a closed-end fund traded on the American Stock Exchange), the Fund had a total return of 16.51% for the year ended September 30, 2005. That return was the result of an increase in share price from $14.82 on September 30, 2004 to $16.17 on September 30, 2005 and the reinvestment of $1.001 in monthly dividends and $0.0029 in capital gain distributions.(1)

Based on net asset value, the Fund had a total return of 8.77% for the year ended September 30, 2005. That return was the result of an increase in net asset value per share from $15.03 on September 30, 2004 to $15.31 on September 30, 2005, and the reinvestment of all distributions.

For comparison, the Lehman Brothers Municipal Bond Index – an unmanaged market index of municipal bonds – had a total return of 4.05% for the year ended September 30, 2005.(2)

Based on the last dividend of the fiscal year and a share price of $16.17, the Fund had a market yield of 6.19% at September 30, 2005.(3) The Fund's market yield is equivalent to a taxable yield of 9.52%.(4)

Management Discussion

The U.S. economy continued to recover, although rising energy costs and a severe hurricane season hurt consumer spending. Manufacturing was uneven, especially the struggling auto industry. Construction remained a bright spot. The U.S. jobless rate was 5.1% in September 2005, down from 5.4% a year ago.

Insured* transportation bonds represented the Fund's largest sector weighting at September 30, 2005. The Fund's investments included highways, turnpikes, a monorail facility, airports and a bridge and tunnel authority. This sector, with its non-discretionary revenues, performed relatively well for the Fund.

Insured* general obligations (GOs) constituted large investments for the Fund. Investments included issues for selected state and local school districts, as well as large urban issuers that management believes have a good local economy and a solid tax base.

Coupons in the 5.00% to 5.25% range were among the Fund's lagging performers, as these current coupon bonds were less attractive to investors. Coupon distribution remained a key to performance during the fiscal year. In addition, with spreads narrowing, the Fund was helped somewhat by its several investments in A-rated and BBB-rated bonds.

At September 30, 2005, the Fund had leverage in the amount of approximately 36% of the Fund's total assets. The Fund uses leverage through the issuance of preferred shares. Use of financial leverage creates an opportunity for increased income but, at the same time, creates special risks (including the likelihood of greater volatility of net asset value and market price of common shares).

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Returns are historical and are calculated by determining the percentage change in net asset value or share price (as applicable) with all distributions reinvested. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Fund performance during certain periods reflects the strong bond market performance and/or the strong performance of bonds held during those periods. This performance is not typical and may not be repeated. Performance is for the stated time period only; due to market volatility, the Fund's current performance may be lower or higher than the quoted return.

Management Discussion

California's job growth strengthened in 2005, with employment rising above the pre-2001 recession peak. The construction sector was the primary engine of growth, generating nearly 60% of new jobs. Financial services and retail sectors also generated strong job creation. The state's September 2005 jobless rate was 5.1%, down from 6.1% a year ago.

Insured* general obligations (GOs) remained the Fund's largest sector weighting at September 30, 2005. Investments included local school district bonds, as well as issues of the state, whose credit rating was upgraded in the summer of 2005, reflecting an improved economic and revenue climate.

Insured* lease revenue/certificates of participation (COPs) once again constituted large commitments for the Fund. These bonds provided communities flexible financing alternatives for a variety of municipal projects, including water and civic center projects.

Management continued to look for relative value opportunities in the market. The Fund continued to be very diversified with regard to issuer and coupons. Over the past fiscal year, some 5.00% coupons and zero coupons have lagged.

At September 30, 2005, the Fund had leverage in the amount of approximately 37% of the Fund's total assets. The Fund uses leverage through the issuance of preferred shares. Use of financial leverage creates an opportunity for increased income but, at the same time, creates special risks (including the likelihood of greater volatility of net asset value and market price of common shares).

Management Discussion

Despite having moderated somewhat, Florida's job growth ranked among the highest in the nation in 2005. Tourism reached record levels, while construction was boosted by continuing relocation and retirement trends. Florida alone now accounts for one-fifth of the nation's job gains since the 2001 recession. The state's jobless rate was 3.5% in September 2005, down from 4.8% a year ago.

Insured* special tax revenue bonds were the Fund's largest sector weightings at September 30, 2005. These bonds are used to finance specifically stated improvements. Special taxes are imposed by governments with a portion of the proceeds dedicated to the repayment of bonds.

Insured* transportation bonds represented a large focus for the Fund. Investments included state, county and local bonds for port project improvements, expressways and turnpike projects.

Management continued to emphasize relative value to enhance income potential. Adjustments to the Fund's structure included diversifying its coupon profile and updating call protection to improve the Fund's upside potential. Although the Fund outpaced its benchmark, performance was constrained somewhat because, as an insured* fund, it had fewer lower-rated, investment-grade bonds.

At September 30, 2005, the Fund had leverage in the amount of approximately 37% of the Fund's total assets. The Fund uses leverage through the issuance of preferred shares. Use of financial leverage creates an opportunity for increased income but, at the same time, creates special risks (including the likelihood of greater volatility of net asset value and market price of common shares).

Management Discussion

Massachusetts continued to gain jobs in 2005, although the pace of job creation was slow by historical standards. Health care remained a major generator of new jobs, driven by strong demand from hospitals, medical offices, nursing homes and assisted care facilities. Residential construction also remained strong. The Commonwealth's September 2005 jobless rate was 4.7%, down from 4.9% a year ago.

Insured* private and public education bonds remained among the Fund's largest sector weightings at September 30, 2005. Colleges continued to enjoy steady to strong applicant demand and more pricing flexibility than other sectors, with tuition increases again outpacing the rate of inflation.

Insured* transportation bonds were significant holdings. The Fund had investments in issues for the Commonwealth's turnpike authority and included zero coupon issues, which had a positive effect upon performance during the fiscal year.

Some bonds with coupons in the 5.00 to 5.25% range had a negative impact upon the Fund's performance. These current coupon bonds were less attractive to investors in a falling interest rate environment.

At September 30, 2005, the Fund had leverage in the amount of approximately 37% of the Fund's total assets. The Fund uses leverage through the issuance of preferred shares. Use of financial leverage creates an opportunity for increased income but, at the same time, creates special risks (including the likelihood of greater volatility of net asset value and market price of common shares).

That return was the result of an increase in share price from $15.49 on September 30, 2004 to $16.20 on September 30, 2005 and the reinvestment of $0.948 in monthly dividends. (1)

Management Discussion

Michigan's economy registered the worst employment performance in the nation in 2005. Manufacturing remained the key problem area, reflecting the ailing auto industry. Hiring also slowed in construction, trade and finance. In contrast, leisure, tourism, government, education and health care showed modest gains. The state's September 2005 jobless rate was 6.4%, down from 7.1% a year ago.

Insured* general obligations (GOs) constituted the Fund's largest sector weighting at September 30, 2005. Investments included local and county school districts, as well as joint building authorities from communities with strong underlying local economies.

Hospital bonds remained a large investment for the Fund. Among its hospital investments were some A-rated bonds. These lower-rated investment-grade bonds generally outperformed the insured* segment of the market and boosted the Fund's performance.

Coupons in the 5.00% to 5.25% range were among the Fund's lagging performers, as these current coupon bonds were less attractive to investors. Thus, coupon distribution remained a key to performance during the fiscal year. In addition, with spreads narrowing, the Fund was helped somewhat by its several investments in A-rated and BBB-rated bonds.

At September 30, 2005, the Fund had leverage in the amount of approximately 38% of the Fund's total assets. The Fund uses leverage through the issuance of preferred shares. Use of financial leverage creates an opportunity for increased income but, at the same time, creates special risks (including the likelihood of greater volatility of net asset value and market price of common shares).

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Returns are historical and are calculated by determining the percentage change in net asset value or share price (as applicable) with all distributions reinvested. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Fund performance during certain periods reflects the strong bond market performance and/or the strong performance of bonds held during those periods. This performance is not typical and may not be repeated. Performance is for the stated time period only; due to market volatility, the Fund's current performance may be lower or higher than the quoted return.

Management Discussion

New Jersey's economy slowed in 2005, with the pace of job growth falling below the national rate. Housing, construction and mortgage financing were keys to growth, providing around one-fifth of the new jobs added in the past year. The state's manufacturing and telecommunications industries continued to shed jobs. The state's September 2005 jobless rate was 4.3%, down from 4.6% a year ago.

Insured* transportation bonds were the Fund's largest sector weightings at September 30, 2005. The Fund's investments included issues for a metropolitan New York/New Jersey port authority, a marine transportation facility for Newark, a state turnpike authority and a transportation authority that oversees expressways and aviation projects in southern New Jersey.

Insured* public education bonds constituted a large commitment by the Fund, with investments in state university and local community colleges. Colleges continued to enjoy steady to strong applicant demand and more pricing flexibility than other sectors, with tuition increases again outpacing the rate of inflation.

Some bonds with coupons in the 5.00 to 5.25% range had a negative impact upon the Fund's performance. These current coupon bonds were less attractive to investors in a falling interest rate environment.

At September 30, 2005, the Fund had leverage in the amount of approximately 36% of the Fund's total assets. The Fund uses leverage through the issuance of preferred shares. Use of financial leverage creates an opportunity for increased income but, at the same time, creates special risks (including the likelihood of greater volatility of net asset value and market price of common shares).

Management Discussion

New York's job outlook improved in 2005, although at a pace below that of the nation. The service sector remained the primary source of job creation, with housing and construction also providing a lift. The manufacturing sector continued its slump, although the pace of job loss was less dramatic than in recent years. The state's September 2005 jobless rate was 5.2%, down from 5.6% a year ago.

Insured* private education bonds were the Fund's largest weighting at September 30, 2005. Investments focused on industrial development agency and dormitory authority bonds for some of the state's well-regarded universities. The bonds financed the construction of housing, lab and classroom facilities.

Insured* transportation bonds remained among the Fund's prominent investments. Bonds for New York transportation facilities—largely backed by non-discretionary toll income—performed well in an uncertain economic environment.

Although the Fund outpaced its benchmark, its performance was constrained slightly by an underweighting in lower-rated bonds. Amid narrow spreads, BBB and A-rated bonds underweighted in the Fund generally outperformed their higher-quality counterparts.

At September 30, 2005, the Fund had leverage in the amount of approximately 35% of the Fund's total assets. The Fund uses leverage through the issuance of preferred shares. Use of financial leverage creates an opportunity for increased income but, at the same time, creates special risks (including the likelihood of greater volatility of net asset value and market price of common shares).

Management Discussion

Ohio generated job growth in 2005, although at an uneven pace. Business services, education and health care were the primary sources of growth, while retailing, government and manufacturing continued to post job losses. Durable goods manufacturing was especially weak. The state's September 2005 jobless rate was 5.8%, down from 6.1% a year ago.

Insured* general obligations (GOs) were the Fund's largest sector weighting at September 30, 2005. Management again focused on local school district bonds from areas with strong local economies and solid property tax revenues.

Insured* public education bonds were a large commitment for the Fund. The education sector generally has more defensive characteristics in an uncertain economy and has enjoyed stable to rising tuition revenues. Investments included a range of universities throughout the state and a community and technical college.

The Fund performance was constrained slightly by a low weighting in lower-rated bonds. Amid narrow spreads, BBB and A-rated bonds underweighted in the Fund generally outperformed their higher-quality counterparts.

At September 30, 2005, the Fund had leverage in the amount of approximately 37% of the Fund's total assets. The Fund uses leverage through the issuance of preferred shares. Use of financial leverage creates an opportunity for increased income but, at the same time, creates special risks (including the likelihood of greater volatility of net asset value and market price of common shares).

Pennsylvania continued its recovery in 2005, posting its strongest job growth since 2000. Business services, health care and tourism provided the strongest job growth, with construction also contributing significantly. Manufacturing remained in decline, although the pace of job loss abated somewhat. Pennsylvania's September 2005 jobless rate was 4.8%, down from 5.6% a year ago.

Insured* general obligations (GOs) were the Fund's largest sector weighting at September 30, 2005. The Fund's investments were primarily city and county school district bonds. Given the apparent economic slowdown, insured* GOs provided an added measure of security.

Insured* transportation bonds remained a significant commitment for the Fund and were a primary reason for the Fund's out performance. Investments emphasized port authority, turnpike and highway issues, which have seen increased vehicle traffic and rising toll revenues.

Insured* escrowed/pre refunded bonds were among the Fund's less robust performers. Backed by Treasury bonds, escrowed bonds underperformed the lower quality segment of the market, as spreads continued to narrow during the fiscal year.

At September 30, 2005, the Fund had leverage in the amount of approximately 37% of the Fund's total assets. The Fund uses leverage through the issuance of preferred shares. Use of financial leverage creates an opportunity for increased income but, at the same time, creates special risks (including the likelihood of greater volatility of net asset value and market price of common shares).

1 Significant Accounting Policies

Eaton Vance Insured Municipal Bond Fund II (Insured Municipal Fund II), Eaton Vance Insured California Municipal Bond Fund II (Insured California Fund II), Eaton Vance Insured Florida Municipal Bond Fund (Insured Florida Fund), Eaton Vance Insured Massachusetts Municipal Bond Fund (Insured Massachusetts Fund), Eaton Vance Insured Michigan Municipal Bond Fund (Insured Michigan Fund), Eaton Vance Insured New Jersey Municipal Bond Fund (Insured New Jersey Fund), Eaton Vance Insured New York Municipal Bond Fund II (Insured New York Fund II), Eaton Vance Insured Ohio Municipal Bond Fund (Insured Ohio Fund), and Eaton Vance Insured Pennsylvania Municipal Bond Fund (Insured Pennsylvania Fund) (individually referred to as the Fund or collectively the Funds) are registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as non-diversified, closed-end management investment companies. Each of the Funds was organized under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts by an Agreement and Declaration of Trust dated October 3, 2002. Each Fund's investment objective is to achieve current income exempt from regular federal income tax, including alternative minimum tax, and taxes in its specified state. Each Fund seeks to achieve its objective by investing primarily in high grade municipal obligations that are insured as to the timely payment of principal and interest.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by each Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The policies are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

A Investment Valuation - Municipal bonds and taxable obligations, if any, are normally valued on the basis of valuations furnished by a pricing service. Futures contracts and options on futures contracts listed on the commodity exchanges are valued at closing settlement prices. Over-the-counter options on futures contracts are normally valued at the mean between the latest bid and asked prices. Interest rate swaps are normally valued on the basis of valuations furnished by a broker. Short-term obligations, maturing in sixty days or less, are valued at amortized cost, which approximates value. Investments for which valuations or market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value using methods determined in good faith by or at the direction of the Trustees.

B Income - Interest income is determined on the basis of interest accrued, adjusted for amortization of premium or discount.

C Federal Taxes - Each Fund's policy is to comply with the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute to shareholders each year all of its taxable, if any, and tax-exempt income, including any net realized gain on investments. Therefore, no provision for federal income or excise tax is necessary. At September 30, 2005, the Funds, for federal income tax purposes, had capital loss carryovers which will reduce taxable income arising from future net realized gain on investments, if any, to the extent permitted by the Internal Revenue Code and thus will reduce the amount of distributions to shareholders which would otherwise be necessary to relieve the Funds of any liability for federal income or excise tax. The amounts and expiration dates of the capital loss carryovers are as follows:

Fund	Amount	Expires
Insured Municipal Fund II	$ 1,552,113	September 30, 2013
Insured California Fund II	1,503,181	September 30, 2013
Insured Florida Fund	1,201,589	September 30, 2013
Insured Massachusetts Fund	934,910	September 30, 2013
Insured Michigan Fund	113,378	September 30, 2012
	754,279	September 30, 2013
Insured New Jersey Fund	1,078,916	September 30, 2013
Insured New York Fund II	106,272	September 30, 2013
Insured Ohio Fund	37,328	September 30, 2012
	1,087,315	September 30, 2013
Insured Pennsylvania Fund	1,210,799	September 30, 2013

Additionally, at September 30, 2005, Insured Municipal Fund II, Insured Massachusetts Fund, Insured Michigan Fund and Insured Ohio Fund had net capital losses of $585,190, $85,301, $185,697, and $423,373 respectively, attributable to security transactions incurred after October 31, 2004. These are treated as arising on the first day of each Fund's taxable year ending September 30, 2006.

In addition, each Fund intends to satisfy conditions which will enable it to designate distributions from the interest income generated by its investments in municipal obligations, which are exempt from regular federal income taxes when received by each Fund, as exempt-interest dividends.

D Organization and Offering Costs - Costs incurred by each Fund in connection with its organization have been expensed. Costs incurred by each Fund in connection with the offerings of the common shares and preferred shares were recorded as a reduction of capital paid in excess of par applicable to common shares.

Eaton Vance Insured Municipal Bond Funds as of September 30, 2005

E Financial Futures Contracts - Upon the entering of a financial futures contract, a Fund is required to deposit (initial margin) either in cash or securities an amount equal to a certain percentage of the purchase price indicated in the financial futures contract. Subsequent payments are made or received by a Fund (margin maintenance) each day, dependent on the daily fluctuations in the value of the underlying security, and are recorded for book purposes as unrealized gains or losses by a Fund. A Fund's investment in financial futures contracts is designed for both hedging against anticipated future changes in interest rates and investment purposes. Should interest rates move unexpectedly, a Fund may not achieve the anticipated benefits of the financial futures contracts and may realize a loss.

F Options on Financial Futures Contracts - Upon the purchase of a put option on a financial futures contract by a Fund, the premium paid is recorded as an investment, the value of which is marked-to-market daily. When a purchased option expires, a Fund will realize a loss in the amount of the cost of the option. When a Fund enters into a closing sale transaction, a Fund will realize a gain or loss depending on whether the sales proceeds from the closing sale transaction are greater or less than the cost of the option. When a Fund exercises a put option, settlement is made in cash. The risk associated with purchasing put options is limited to the premium originally paid.

G When-Issued and Delayed Delivery Transactions - The Funds may engage in when-issued and delayed delivery transactions. The Funds record when-issued securities on trade date and maintain security positions such that sufficient liquid assets will be available to make payments for the securities purchased. Securities purchased on a when-issued or delayed delivery basis are marked-to-market daily and begin earning interest on settlement date.

H Use of Estimates - The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expense during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

I Indemnifications - Under each Fund's organizational documents, its officers and Trustees may be indemnified against certain liabilities and expenses arising out of the performance of their duties to each Fund and shareholders are indemnified against personal liability for the obligations of each Fund. Additionally, in the normal course of business, each Fund enters into agreements with service providers that may contain indemnification clauses. Each Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown as this would involve future claims that may be made against each Fund that have not yet occurred.

J Expense Reduction - Investors Bank & Trust Company (IBT) serves as custodian of the Funds. Pursuant to the respective custodian agreements, IBT receives a fee reduced by credits which are determined based on the average daily cash balances each Fund maintains with IBT. All credit balances used to reduce the Funds' custodian fees are reported as a reduction of total expenses in the Statements of Operations.

K Other - Investment transactions are accounted for on a trade date basis. Realized gains and losses are computed based on the specific identification of the securities sold.

2 Auction Preferred Shares (APS)

Each Fund issued Auction Preferred Shares on January 15, 2003 in a public offering. The underwriting discounts and other offering costs were recorded as a reduction of capital of the common shares of each Fund. Dividends on the APS, which accrue daily, are cumulative at a rate which was established at the offering of each Fund's APS and generally have been reset every seven days thereafter by an auction, unless a special dividend period has been set. Initially, the Insured Municipal Fund II elected an Initial Dividend Period for Series B of 360 days. Effective January 10, 2005, a special dividend period was set on the Series B shares of the Insured Municipal Fund II. The dividend rate, which matures on January 8, 2006, is 2.198%. Series A and Series B are identical in all respects except for the dates of reset for the dividend rates. Auction Preferred Shares issued and outstanding as of

The APS are redeemable at the option of each Fund at a redemption price equal to $25,000 per share, plus accumulated and unpaid dividends on any dividend payment date. The APS are also subject to mandatory redemption at a redemption price equal to $25,000 per share, plus accumulated and unpaid dividends, if any Fund is in default for an extended period on its asset maintenance requirements with respect to the APS. If the dividends on the APS shall remain unpaid in an amount equal to two full years' dividends, the holders of the APS as a class have the right to elect a majority of the Board of Trustees. In general, the holders of the APS and the Common Shares have equal voting rights of one vote per share, except that the holders of the APS, as a separate class, have the right to elect at least two members of the Board of Trustees. The APS have a liquidation preference of $25,000 per share, plus accumulated and unpaid dividends. Each Fund is required to maintain certain asset coverage with respect to the APS as defined in each Trust's By-Laws and the Investment Company Act of 1940. Each Fund pays an annual fee equivalent to 0.25% of the preferred shares liquidation value for the remarketing efforts associated with the preferred auction.

3 Distributions to Shareholders

Each Fund intends to make monthly distributions of net investment income, after payments of any dividends on any outstanding APS. Distributions are recorded on the ex-dividend date. Distributions of realized capital gains, if any, are made at least annually. Distributions to preferred shareholders are recorded daily and are payable at the end of each dividend period. Each dividend payment period for the APS is generally seven days. Effective January 10, 2005, the Series B shares of the Insured Municipal Fund II set a special dividend period of 365 days. The Insured Municipal Fund II Series B pays accumulated dividends on the first business day of each month. Final payment will be made on January 8, 2006. The applicable dividend rates for Auction Preferred Shares on September 30, 2005 are listed below. For the year ended September 30, 2005, the amount of dividends each Fund paid to Auction Preferred shareholders and average APS dividend rates for such period were as follows:

The Funds distinguish between distributions on a tax basis and a financial reporting basis. Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require that only distributions in excess of tax basis earnings and profits be reported in the financial statements as a return of capital. Permanent differences between book and tax accounting relating to distributions are reclassified to paid in capital.

The tax character of distributions paid for the years ended September 30, 2005 and September 30, 2004 was as follows:
