Re: Proposed Merger Involving Hewlett-Packard and Compaq

Dear Larry:

As you are no doubt aware, Richard Hackborn was quoted in today's New York Times, asserting that if the Hewlett-Packard stockholders do not approve the proposed merger, then management and the board of directors will resign. Mr. Hackborn's statement follows similar statements previously attributed in the press to confidential sources close to the board. Although you previously discounted these reports in conversations with me, the threats no longer can be ignored. This type of threat by a member of the board or management of any company, and particularly a company like Hewlett-Packard, is shocking. The threats raise serious questions about the directors' compliance with their fiduciary duties and clearly are not in the best interests of shareholders.

If the threats are true, then Hewlett-Packard must immediately provide detailed information to the shareholders and the market about which members of management and which directors will resign. This information is clearly material and the failure to provide such information could result in significant liability to Hewlett-Packard and its officers and directors. If the threats are not true, then Hewlett-Packard must immediately correct the record.

I would appreciate your prompt attention to this very important matter.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Stephen Neal
